HEARS OF TERRORISM AGAINST UNION

Congressman F. H. LaGuardia, of New York, paid a visit to Bruceton and Curry today and spent a couple of hours listening to the miners' stories of terrorism on the part of coal and iron police and bushwhackers who sprayed both towns with bullets yesterday. Accompanying the Congressman were P. T. Fagan, president of District No. 5, United Mine Workers of America; W. J. Patton, international vice president of the union; Thomas Robertson, union organizer; Chief of Police T. A. Dennick, of Snowden township, and a New York newspaper man. Mrs. Mary Handschen and her son, Richard, 5, are telling the Congressman about yesterday's shooting.

Money Goes to Money
Cosgrave's Good News
All Around the World
Visiting Iniquity

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

RUSSIA is afraid, wisely, that Berlin and London will join to fight Bolshevism, financially and otherwise.

Russians will learn what a child might teach them, that money supports money, internationally, whereas the proletariat of one nation, to use Karl Marx's name for those that work for a living, does not support the proletariat of another country.

"Money goes to money", as the old French peddler said in Nice, leaving his little fortune of ten thousand francs to Baron Rothschild, whom he had never seen. Money goes to money and sympathizes with money.

That's why it's strong.

WILLIAM T. COSGRAVE, President of the Irish Free State, telling this country of extraordinary work that free Ireland has done to establish prosperity and rebuild industry, adds:

"Of all the money we collect in taxes we spend 20 per cent on education."

DEVELOPMENT of water power in the river Shannon, which will take care of the whole Free State and leave a surplus for sale to Belfast, is a remarkable achievement, costing $25,000,000.

But the education of Irish children is more important than water development, factories or anything else.

IN DETROIT yesterday Commander Byrd and Edsel Ford met and the reporters guessed it was "a discussion of Commander Byrd's fight to th South Pole."

It is believed that Byrd will make the flight in one of Henry Ford's three-engine, all-metal planes similar to that in which the Standard Oil of Indiana directors have been flying about the country for a year.

BYRD'S flight to the North Pole, which Edsel Ford helped to finance, was made in a Fokker plane.

By the time Byrd flies back from the South Pole, Henry Ford may have completed his super-airplane with a flock of 1,000-horsepower engines of a new type.

In that machine, Byrd or Lindbergh might fly "non-stop" from

FALL RIVER RUINS GUARDED

By WILLIAM A. CONSODINE,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

FALL RIVER, Mass., Feb. 3.—Khaki uniforms blended with blue today as National Guardsmen, supported by 60 state troopers, co-operated with local police in guarding the half mile of blackened waste, once the humming business center of Fall River.

The city assumed the aspect of military control, although civil authorities were still supreme.

RUINS STILL SMOKING

Smoke still belched from the smoldering ruins, but the city's problem now turned to the care of its citizens, more than 8,000 of them rendered jobless by the sweep of flames, which did damage estimated at $25,000,000.

An official investigation into the cause of the fire was begun. Deputy Fire Marshal George Mansfield, of Taunton, arrived here and immediately began his probe.

Among the many rumors under investigaton was one that carelessness by wreckers demolishing the Pocasset mills was the cause. One theory was given that laborers there kindled a fire with chips to keep them warm and departing from their labors in the evening neglected to quench the embers.

Many of the 75 firms which were wiped out by the flames were not covered by insurance. The fire loss meant financial ruin to quite a few of the smaller businessmen.

STREETS THRONGED

A majority of the population of 102,000 men, women and children were on the streets, hundreds milling about the police lines thrown up in the business district fire area.

Relief agencies were at work caring for the scores of injured and those in need of food and shelter.

Six banks damaged by flames were under heavy guard. In their fireproof vaults rested currency and valuable papers.

Twenty-five of the city's principal buildings were in ruins in an area bounded by High, Bank, Anawan and Durfee streets. These included three hotels, two thea-

Flames Menace, But Newspaper Prints "Extra"

FALL RIVER, Mass., Feb. 3.—(INS.)—Traditions of the "newspaper shop" were upheld today as fire surged about the plant of the Fall River Globe.

Even the lowly office boys stayed on the job along with men and women of the staff.

At one time the building caught fire. There was no apparatus available at the moment. Publisher Edwards Gans, Managing Editor Alan J. Daniels, City Editor Frank Healy and others of the staff manned hoselines along the walls and on the roof. When the fire in the Globe Building was extinguished the work of getting out an "extra" was resumed. A photographer developed fire pictures in a dark room while two reporters kept the closet drenched with water. A curtain of water was thrown outside the composing room and the press room. The "extra" was issued on schedule.

COURTROOM, LOS ANGELES, Feb. 3.—William Edward Hickman kidnaped and murdered Marian Parker to "test" his power of unemotionalism, Dr. R. O. Shelton, defense alienist, testified today at the insanity hearing for the confessed slayer of the 12-year-old school girl.

Dr. Shelton said that Hickman made this declaration in his own handwriting.

"Hickman firmly believed he was under the direction of a special providence," Dr. Shelton testified.

COSGRAVE HISSED IN N. Y.

By International News Service.

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—Gales of hisses that filled the Columbia University gymnasium, greeted President Cosgrave, of Ireland, today when he appeared at the mid-semester quiz with President Nicholas Murray Butler, of Columbia.

As soon as the Irish president appeared the hisses started. The other students started clapping, and the demonstration changed to one of mild applause.

As the visiting head of the Irish Free State government started toward the exit, however, the hissing was renewed, and this time it was unrestrained.

President Butler flushed but smiled. President Cosgrave appeared not to notice. Timothy J. Smiddy, Irish envoy Free State minister to U. S., was visibly annoyed.

Hill Top Wife Tries Suicide

Separated from her husband, who took their 5-year-old daughter from her this morning, Mrs. Labina Schuller, of 122 Virginia avenue, Mt. Washington, attempted suicide by drinking poison this afternoon, police say. She was taken to the South Side Hospital and is expected to recover.

WHY PICK ON ME, SABLE WAILS

"What are they hopping on me for?" asked Charles Sable, of the Sable-Richards garage in Center avenue, one of several garages holding contracts with the city for the towing in of cars found parked in violation of traffic regulations. Motorists have complained that some contract garages have been guilty of irregularity.

"We charge $3.65 for towing and storage and that's less than any other of the contract garages charge. We get 10 or 12 cars a night, we have to keep a crew working with two trucks, we have to pay heavy rent, light and heat, watchman and other help, and where am I getting rich on the job?

"It's a just grudge fight, picking on me, Sable continued. "And it's the fellows who get the most favors with the police and city who raise the biggest squawk when they get caught themselves. We have orders to haul in cars parked in alleys back of theaters, and the fire marshal is on our

Radio Star Sues

Olga L. Mundy, known to thousands as a radio singer and cabaret entertainer, filed suit for divorce against her husband, Frank J. Mundy, in Common Pleas Court today. She charges cruel and barbarous treatment.

The two are separated, Mr. Mundy remaining at the family residence, 312 Kenmont avenue, Dormont, and Mrs. Mundy at present living at the Fort Pitt Hotel. There are two sons, Frank, 13, living with the father, and Jack, 11, with the mother.

Mrs. Mundy, at the hotel, said she did not care to detail her charges. Mr. Mundy, at home, said he did not know the suit had been filed and knew of no incidents to support his wife's allegations.

Waters in Race for Auditor

HARRISBURG, Feb. 3.—Charles A. Waters, Philadelphia, secretary of labor and industry in Gov. Fisher's cabinet, today made formal announcement of his candidacy for Republican nomination for auditor general.

The final decision to give Secretary Waters organized support for the nomination was reached at a conference in New York last Saturday in which Republican State Chairman W. L. Mellon, Gov. Fisher and Senator-elect Vare participated and Vare support for Senator Reed was assured. Waters' name had been mentioned for many weeks as the probable choice for auditor general.

Waters is regarded as satisfactory to Joseph R. Grundy, president of the Pennsylvania Manufacturers' Association, and to Senator-elect Vare.

Announcements of the principals on the state Republican ticket will be completed when Auditor General Edward Martin announces his candidacy for nomination for state treasurer.

Union Head Charges Pgh. Trade Body in Plot With Operators, Railroads.

John L. Lewis, international president of the United Mine Workers of America, today accused the Chamber of Commerce of Pittsburgh of participating in a conspiracy with railroads and banking interests to crush organized labor.

"The Chamber," he asserted, "officially backed the Pittsburgh Coal Company in its repudiation in 1925 of its wage agreement with the United Mine Workers, and even went so far as to employ E. S. McCullough, a renegade trade unionist, to take charge of its strikebreaking activities at a salary of $12,000 a year and expenses."

This, said Lewis, was one of the matters that would be called to the attention of the Interstate Commerce Committee of the United States Senate if favorable action is taken on Senator Hiram Johnson's resolution calling for an investigation of the coal strike and conditions generally in the coal industry.

Lewis said he had the assurance of Senator James A. Watson of Indiana, chairman of the committee, that he would support the Johnson resolution.

Lewis said that so far as he knew the strike was no nearer a settlement now than at any other time.

READY TO CONFER

He was asked to make some concrete suggestion, apart from the demand for the renewal of the Jacksonville wage agreement, which might be used as a basis for an armistice.

"Let negotiations be opened," he said. "We are ready at all times to meet the operators in conference. Nothing can be done until they are ready to meet us."

He was asked what remedy he would propose for overproduction of coal, which, it is agreed by both sides, is at the bottom of the economic distress of the industry.

"That," he said, "is an academic matter that has no direct bearing on the strike. It is fruitless to discuss it. The condition will continue until there is amalgamation of the operating interests. The only sensible way out of the difficulty is for some of the thou-

Gov. Fisher Informed of Riots During Which Bullets are Poured at Union Men; State Police Take Control; Arrests Seen; State Police in Charge Patrolling Highways.

Six coal and iron policemen, believed to be concealing one of their number, charged with having hired two of the bushwhackers who fired volleys of bullets at the schoolhouse and union barracks at Curry, sometimes called Broughton, yesterday, may be arrested today.

They are charged with having stopped Justice of the Peace J. M. O'Rourke and Constable William Snyder who were pursuing the gunmen who sought refuge on coal company property. A warrant was issued charging conspiracy for one policeman who is know by several names, one of which is said to be Wyent. Repeated efforts to serve the warrant have been frustrated by coal and iron police, it is said, and bail offered for the man wanted has been refused three times by Squire O'Rourke because of errors in drawing up the papers.

Both Bruceton and Curry residents are up in arms over yesterday's bombardment from company property. The school at Curry stood closed today by order of the school board, which declared it was no safe place for the children, who cowered in their classrooms with fear while bullets spattered against the walls yesterday.

State police under Sergt. W. L. Davis have taken charge of the situation and are patrolling the highways in and around Bruceton and Curry. After the trouble yesterday they took 50 or more union miners into custody for questioning, but made no arrests. They have the situation well in hand and no further outbreaks are expected.

J. M. O'Rourke, justice of the peace at the nearby village of Bruceton, announced that he had obtained a confession from Hampton Matthews, Negro strike-breaker, that he and John Thomas, another Negro, had been paid $25 each for firing into the strikers' barracks there on Wednesday night. Squire O'Rourke telegraphed Matthews' alleged confession to Gov. Fisher and to Senator Hiram Johnson, of California, who has been urging a Congressional investigation of the alleged usurpation of the police power of the state by the coal and iron police.

NABBED AT R. R. STATION

Matthews was arrested at Bruceton station of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad by Squire O'Rourke and Constable Peter Maracini while awaiting a train for Wheeling, and lodged in the county jail in default of $5,000 bail. State troopers are searching for Thomas and other strike-breakers alleged to have been

JACK DAPPER TURNKEY BECK

Jack Dapper, 8, is out again. He was picked up last night at Preble avenue and Ketchum street by Patrolman Thomas Obronovich. He told police he was Jack Hook, but didn't know exactly where he lived. This morning he still insisted he was Jack Hook and said he had been sent to the store for a couple cans of beans and forgot where he lived. A week or so ago his brother, Henry, 10, was found in a Bellevue drug store at closing time and claimed he was lost. That was his second "loss" in six weeks. Jack's father, Howard Dapper, 2021 California avenue, called for Jack this morning and took him from the care of Turnkey John A. Beck and other friendly policemen at the station. Jack still had the cans of beans his mother had sent him for yesterday.

SAY WOMAN LED MINE SNIPERS

A Negro woman led the shooting at Broughton yesterday, three union committeemen of Scranton, who said they had been in the thick of it, reported at headquarters of the United Mine Workers today.

Dave Cummings, Frank Tomchak and George Remavege, dispatched here from Scranton to investigate relief distribution among the miners, said that no sooner had they stepped from their auto at Broughton yesterday than somebody yelled, "Duck." The three waded through a creek to safety while bullets tore by them, they said, missing human targets because of the poor aim of the offenders.

The shooting forces were entrenched in the rear of a house on a hill owned by the Pittsburgh Terminal Coal Corporation, the men said, and the woman frequently showed herself while her supporters remained hidden.

ands of coal companies to merge into a few units."

Lewis was asked what he thought of the action of the bankers and businessmen of Pittsburgh in arranging to collect a huge fund to relieve distress in the mining camps.

"They remind me," he said, "of Dry Gulch Pete, the Western bad man. Whenever he had to murder a man he always gave a cash donation to the wife and daughter of the victim.

"It is, of course, better to give than to receive. But how much better it would have been if these influential men had used their influence to bring about a settlement of the strike and restore conditions in which charity would not be needed."

HINTS AT SECRETS

"The Senate investigation of the coal industry," said Lewis, "means more than is appreciated by the public. It is expected that the committee will subpena representatives of the coal companies, the railroads and the other interests that are primarily responsible for the strike, and lay bare the facts as to their expenditures and policies. It will be ascertained who are the beneficiaries of their strike-breaking policies and who are the individuals that initiated them. It will be revealed how much of the coal companies' revenues are improperly expended in the employment of coal and iron police, on unscrupulous labor agencies, and in the perversion of justice in the local courts. The relationship between the banks and the coal companies will be exposed.

"The miners, in their turn, will be glad to furnish any information that may be desired concerning the policies and financial affairs of the United Mine Workers of America.

"The sum total of the facts that can be revealed will, without question, astonish the public, and reveal secret intrigue in high places in the financial world.

"The policy of degrading labor in the mining industry has proved a costly failure. It has done serious injury to the community by restricting the volume of business and impairing bank balances.

"Coal is a commodity that returns to the district in which it is produced from 90 to 95 per cent of its value, as contrasted with steel, in the manufacture of which part of the expenditure goes to the ore fields and limestone quarries.

FEUDAL CONDITIONS

"Public sentiment, when informed and aroused, will never permit the practice of beating down labor below the American standard. The great manifestation now occurring in Pittsburgh demonstrates it. The social conditions prevailing in the mining camps here at the present time are an eyesore of which Pittsburgh should be ashamed. Those conditions will never be remedied until your business men decide to treat with the United Mine Workers."

Lewis was asked why the union had not established itself in the coal fields of Southern West Virginia and Eastern Kentucky, said to have taken business from the Pittsburgh operators because the southern operators pay their nonunion employes much lower wages and have lower taxes.

"The southern operators," he answered, "have resisted our right to organize. Their camps are isolated, the towns stand on company property and are not incorporated, and the right to free assembly is denied. Feudal conditions prevail there, and they will prevail here, too, if the operators have their way."

CONNELLSVILLE FIRE NOT TO HALT WORK

By WALTER CHAMBERS,
Staff Correspondent.

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., Feb. 3.—Red-hot coals and smoking debris are all that remain this morning of what yesterday was the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad roundhouse and surrounding buildings here. The gaunt flame-seared frames of 29 locomotives, six of which hauled B. & O. crack trains, rear themselves above the ruins like silent monsters in an age of dinosaurs.

C. A. Peck, superintendent of the Pittsburgh division, arrived here before firemen from Connellsville, South Connellsville, Scottdale, Uniontown and Everson had halted the march of the flames, which swept through the roundhouse, machine shop, storekeeper's warehouse and callers' office.

Though the fire was discovered at 1:45 o'clock Thursday afternoon, it was 6:15 o'clock before it was brought under control.

Of the 33 engine stalls in the roundhouse, 29 were occupied, and these locomotives will have to be rebuilt.

An announcement to this effect by railroad officials corrects reports that the 215 men employed in the shop will be thrown out of work. The announcement also said that a trainload of other machinists has started from Baltimore to begin the work of rehabilitating the engines. This assures continued employment for at least several months.

That announcement said that the fire was believed to have started from a short-circuit in the compressed air compartment at the lower end of the roundhouse. The ventilator fans there, which force hot air through the building, blew the flames into every part of the structure, and by the time the fire was noticed the roundhouse was a mass of flaming walls, and wooden fixtures within.

Company officials unofficially estimated the damage at $4,000,000. E. W. Scherr, general manager, arrived by special train from Baltimore at 4 o'clock this morning, and immediately started an inspection. He promised an official statement later.

While lack of employment will not be noticeable here for several months, the eventual effect appears almost disastrous for Connellsville. For several years, it has been rumored that the railroad company would move the roundhouse to Confluence, and while local officials are silent on this point business men in a meeting here last night openly expressed the fear that the fire may mean the loss of a $5,000,000 annual payroll to them.

Witnesses at the fire recalled today amusing incidents, forgotten last night in the excitement. As the flames swept through the roundhouse and into the storekeeper's office, 12 young women employes there left their coats hanging in lockers and fled, carrying their typewriters. None in Connellsville will forget the terrific din as the whistles on the 29 burning locomotives started blowing, simultaneously, when heat opened the valves.

Throughout the night at intervals of from 30 minutes to an hour the hissing crescendo, crashed out as one by one the engines blew out accumulated steam. There were, however, no explosions.

THEATER BENEFIT PROCEEDS TURNED OVER

A check for $5,224.15, representing the receipts of two midnight shows given by the Theatrical Managers' Association of Pittsburgh for the relief of the striking miners and their families, was officially turned over to the miners today. Joseph H. Duty, president of the Pittsburgh Building Trades Council and president of the Lathers' Union here, accepted the check on behalf of John Hoehn, treasurer of the Miners' Family Relief Fund, to whom the check was made payable. The first benefit performance was given January 19 at the Davis Theater, the second January 26 at the Sheridan Square Theater, East Liberty. There will be a third benefit performance by the Theatrical Managers' Association tonight at the Stahl Theater, Homestead, with complete bills from the Harris and Sheridan Square Theaters presented. Burgess John Cavanaugh is taking an active part in the preliminary arrangements.

fore have I heard or seen anything so atrocious."

The Congressman was speaking of yesterday's outrages in Bruceton and Curry where bushwackers hid in underbrush along the hillside overlooking the towns and pumped bullets into the homes of the union families living in flimsy barracks.

Even the public school at Curry did not escape the fire of men, said to have been hired by coal and iron police. The dirty gray structure on a little rise of ground at the edge of Curry was riddled with bullets while the children cowered with fear in their classrooms.

Congressman La Guardia was accompanied to the mining towns by P. T. Fagan, president of District No. 5, United Mine Workers of America; W. J. Patton, international vice president of the United Mine Workers; Thomas Robertson, organizer in charge of the Bruceton-Curry district, and a New York newspaperman.

"Your authorities cannot escape their responsibility for this disgraceful situation," the Congressman continued. "Every police officer in the community, state, county or township should take a hand in straightening this thing out and bringing order out of the existing chaos."

Congressman LaGuardia arrived in Pittsburgh last night from New York. He immediately went into conference with union officials who offered to escort him through the districts where trouble has arisen. He went directly to Bruceton and Curry this morning and plans to visit other districts later in the day.

"I want to see everything there is to see in this coal strike and I intend making a thorough investigation of the situation before I leave," he said.

FIRE-SWEPT FALL RIVER

ters, a club, a newspaper plant and a dozen business blocks and mills. Among the mills damaged were the Pocasset, the Union mill, and the Troy Chimney Company's mill.

Ice-sheeted and weary firemen from Massachusetts and Rhode Island cities and towns worked in the ruins. The national guardsmen on duty were commanded by Col. Harry A. Skinner. The state police were under personal command of Brig. Gen. Alfred F. Foote, state commissioner of public safety.

RAGED ALL NIGHT

The fire, which raged from 6:30 o'clock last evening until it was placed under control at 3 a. m. today, recalled the million dollar fire here 12 years ago.

Many times during the hectic night the residential district was threatened as sparks and fire brands fell on roofs.

Scores of families fled to the streets in the near-zero temperature, carrying movable belongings. Bethel Synagogue in Banks street was destroyed and a hundred families living in the vicinity of the blazing edifice left their homes.

FRANTIC CALLS FOR HELP

As one building after another was clutched by the flames, the local firemen sent out calls for help. Fire apparatus arrived from Boston, New Bedford, Taunton, Brockton, Newport, R. I., Somerset, Swansea, Westport and other communities. They rushed over snow-covered roads in a freezing temperature and arrived in the nick of time, for sparks were falling on roofs in the residential district.

The Pocasset mills have been closed for two years. The largest stockholder is Louis K. Liggett, of Boston. He is now at Palm Beach, Fla. Workmen had been razing some of the buildings owned by the mills and it was there that the flames began their terrible work.

Within an hour the several hundred gallons of gasoline stored at the motor bus terminal exploded with a roar. Spectators had been warned to keep out of the way and this undoubtedly prevented a loss of life. Then with a mighty sweep the flames spread into the Main street business district. The area bounded by Pleasant and Central streets to the south, Banks street to the north, Durfee street to the west and Troy and Rock streets to the west was leveled as the hours went by and the flames rushed on unchecked.

Dynamite was used, but with little result. Firemen were hampered by frozen hose lines.

HOTEL GUESTS FLEE

One of the first of the big buildings to go was the Mohican Hotel, containing 400 rooms. Guests had been warned of the approach of the fire and all escaped.

Firemen and the apparatus they were obliged to cut from the icy streets moved along with the flames, waging an uphill battle against great odds. Time and again an apparatus was called on to leave the main blaze to extinguish fires on the outskirts, some of them a mile away.

The main fire had just destroyed the Wilbur Hotel when a flaming brand fell on the roof of the Troy mill some distance away, and in a short time the mill was burned out.

Late in the night fire began creeping toward the telephone exchange. The girl telephone operators had stood at their posts as the devastating flames swept on. The crush of business . as tremendous.

CLAIRTON MAN VICTIM OF HIT-RUN MOTORIST

GOVERNOR IS TOLD OF RIOTS

involved in the shooting at Broughton and Bruceton.

Deputy Sheriffs Silver Braun and W. A. Kirchner searched the houses of nonunion miners at Bruceton last night and seized three shotguns, a rifle, three pistols and much ammunition, but made no arrests.

"Conditions are approaching a hell in our town," said Holzhauser, in explaining the action of the school board. "We officials are maintaining a neutral attitude, but we can't stand for gangs of strange strike-breakers running amuck, with the coal company police hanging back in the rear, apparently approving the rioting.

"We held a meeting and decided that we could not assume the responsibility for keeping the school open, with consequent danger to children, if irresponsible nonunionists were allowed to go on rampages and shoot up the town."

One of the bullets struck within a few inches of a child's head, Holzhauser declared, and the only thing that saved others from injury was the action of the teachers in locking the doors and preventing the children from rushing out. The school has 300 pupils and six teachers. Albert Baker is principal.

INFORM GARDNER, BRAUN

Telegrams describing the affair were sent to District Attorney Samuel H. Gardner and Sheriff Robert Braun as well as to the Governor.

Squire O'Rourke said Matthews, an employe of the Pittsburgh Terminal Coal Corporation, confessed that he and Thomas were brought from Powhatan, O., by H. C. Isabel, chief of the company's commissary, and that they received $25 each from a coal and iron policeman for firing into the strikers' barracks in an effort to terrorize them. O'Rourke declined to divulge the accused policeman's name, but said he had given it to Gov. Fisher.

Osler denied emphatically that the company's police had bribed strikebreakers or anyone else to fire at the strikers' barracks.

The nonunion men, he declared, are living in a state of terror, as almost daily they are beaten or shots fired at them.

ISSUES COUNTER CHARGE

Yesterday afternoon as Robert Lane and a man named Moore, both Negroes, were walking the track, Osler stated, someone about a hundred feet distant fired two shots at them with a rifle. One of the shots struck Lane's skull above the ear, but inflicted only a scalp wound.

Another Negro strike-breaker, C. E. Young, was attacked by strikers as he stepped off a train from Pittsburgh at Bruceton, according to Osler, and his skull fractured. He is now in St. Joseph's Hospital, Osler said.

SHRUGS AT CONTEMPT THREAT

By International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—Facing a citation for contempt of the Senate, Robert W. Stewart, chairman of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, today again defied the Senate Public Lands Committee by refusing to reveal what he knew of the Continental Trading Company's $3,080,000 Liberty bond fund.

Stewart's refusal to testify on this important point was placed in the record for the second time in order to form the basis for contempt proceedings.

Stewart got into a clash with Senator Cutting, Republican, of New Mexico, while on the stand, when the latter told him there was a "possible assumption" that he was committing perjury. Stewart flared with anger, characterized the statement as an insult and threatened to leave the committee room.

REMARK WITHDRAWN

Cutting withdrew the remark and peace was restored.

The question that Stewart refused to answer was:

"Do you know anything about the Continental Company's purchase of Liberty bonds?"

His reply was:

"With all deference to you, I have to repeat that I never made a dollar out of it, and that's my answer."

It has already been established that the Continental Company purchased $3,080,000 in Liberty bonds, and $235,000 of them have been traced to Ex-Secretary of the Interior Albert B. Fall. The committee is endeavoring to determine who got the balance. There have been many rumors about these remaining bonds.

"Were you ever consulted about these bonds?" next asked Senator Walsh, Democrat, of Montana.

Stewart did not answer.

"Why do you hesitate?"

"That's my business. I don't think that's a proper question," said Stewart.

Walsh read the Senate resolution ordering the inquiry into the bonds.

"Did you understand when I asked about bonds that I referred to the bonds mentioned in this resolution?"

"I think I did."

"When you declined to answer the same question yesterday, did you understand the bonds referred to were those mentioned in the resolution?"

"I think I did."

Walsh then read Stewart's statement yesterday that he had "never given any bonds to any political party."

"What induced you to specify political party?"

"I heard it from some source—possibly the newspapers, and I wanted to make it clear to you that I had never handled any of those bonds."

"And what you do know, you decline to tell?"

"Yes, I regretfully take that position," Stewart replied.

FOX KILLED TO TEST NERVE

"and easily would have killed his own mother if she stood in the way of his providence."

"He said he was greater than Jesus Christ," Dr. Shelton continued.

"He had greater messages for everybody. He wanted to bring himself to the attention of the world.

"I asked him why he didn't kill his mother instead of Marion Parker," Dr. Shelton said.

"Lots of people had killed their mothers. That was just a common ordinary crime," Dr. Shelton said Hickman explained. "But no one ever had kidnaped and killed a little girl. He boasted that he is the only person that ever lived, is living and ever will live who has absolutely no emotions.

"He killed Marion Parker to test himself," Dr. Shelton continued. "He even played a phonograph record while he slew the girl to prove that he was of this emotionless type."

Dr. Shelton expressed the conclusion that Hickman is the slave of a "delusion of providence." The doctor said Hickman's case is incurable.

Under cross examination by District Attorney Asa Keyes, the alienist, told how he had gained Hickman's confidence.

MILTON LEVEN

The Tremont Club, composed principally of high school students, last night elected Milton Leven, of 143 Cape May avenue, Beechview, as its most valuable member, an award given annually. Leven is president of the club and a freshman at Carnegie Tech.

Today

Detroit around the world and back to Detroit.

"VISITING the iniquity of the fathers upon the children" is still part of human life.

In Brooklyn, a former clergyman afflicted with an incurable disease, fearing it would be transmitted to his two sons, killed them and their mother.

It is the work of science to prevent that horrible visitation and end the relentless cruelty that punishes children, unborn, for their father's sin.

MR. McADOO says "there must never be a wet in the White House," a virtuous expression of opinion from a dry.

But there has already been a wet in the White House. President Harding was not a "dry" although he enforced the law.

A MAN can enforce the law justly and efficiently even though he may think it unwise. And even a President has a right to think as he chooses about prohibition.

The people elect a President to enforce laws, not to believe in all of them.

WHAT is called "a glaring, shameful instance of anti-Semitism" is the sentence imposed upon Ludwig Hatvany, well known Hungarian author, whose only "crime" was criticism of Hungary's government, after the war.

Hatvany's sentence is seven years in prison and a $100,000 fine, which will wipe out the remains of his once large fortune.

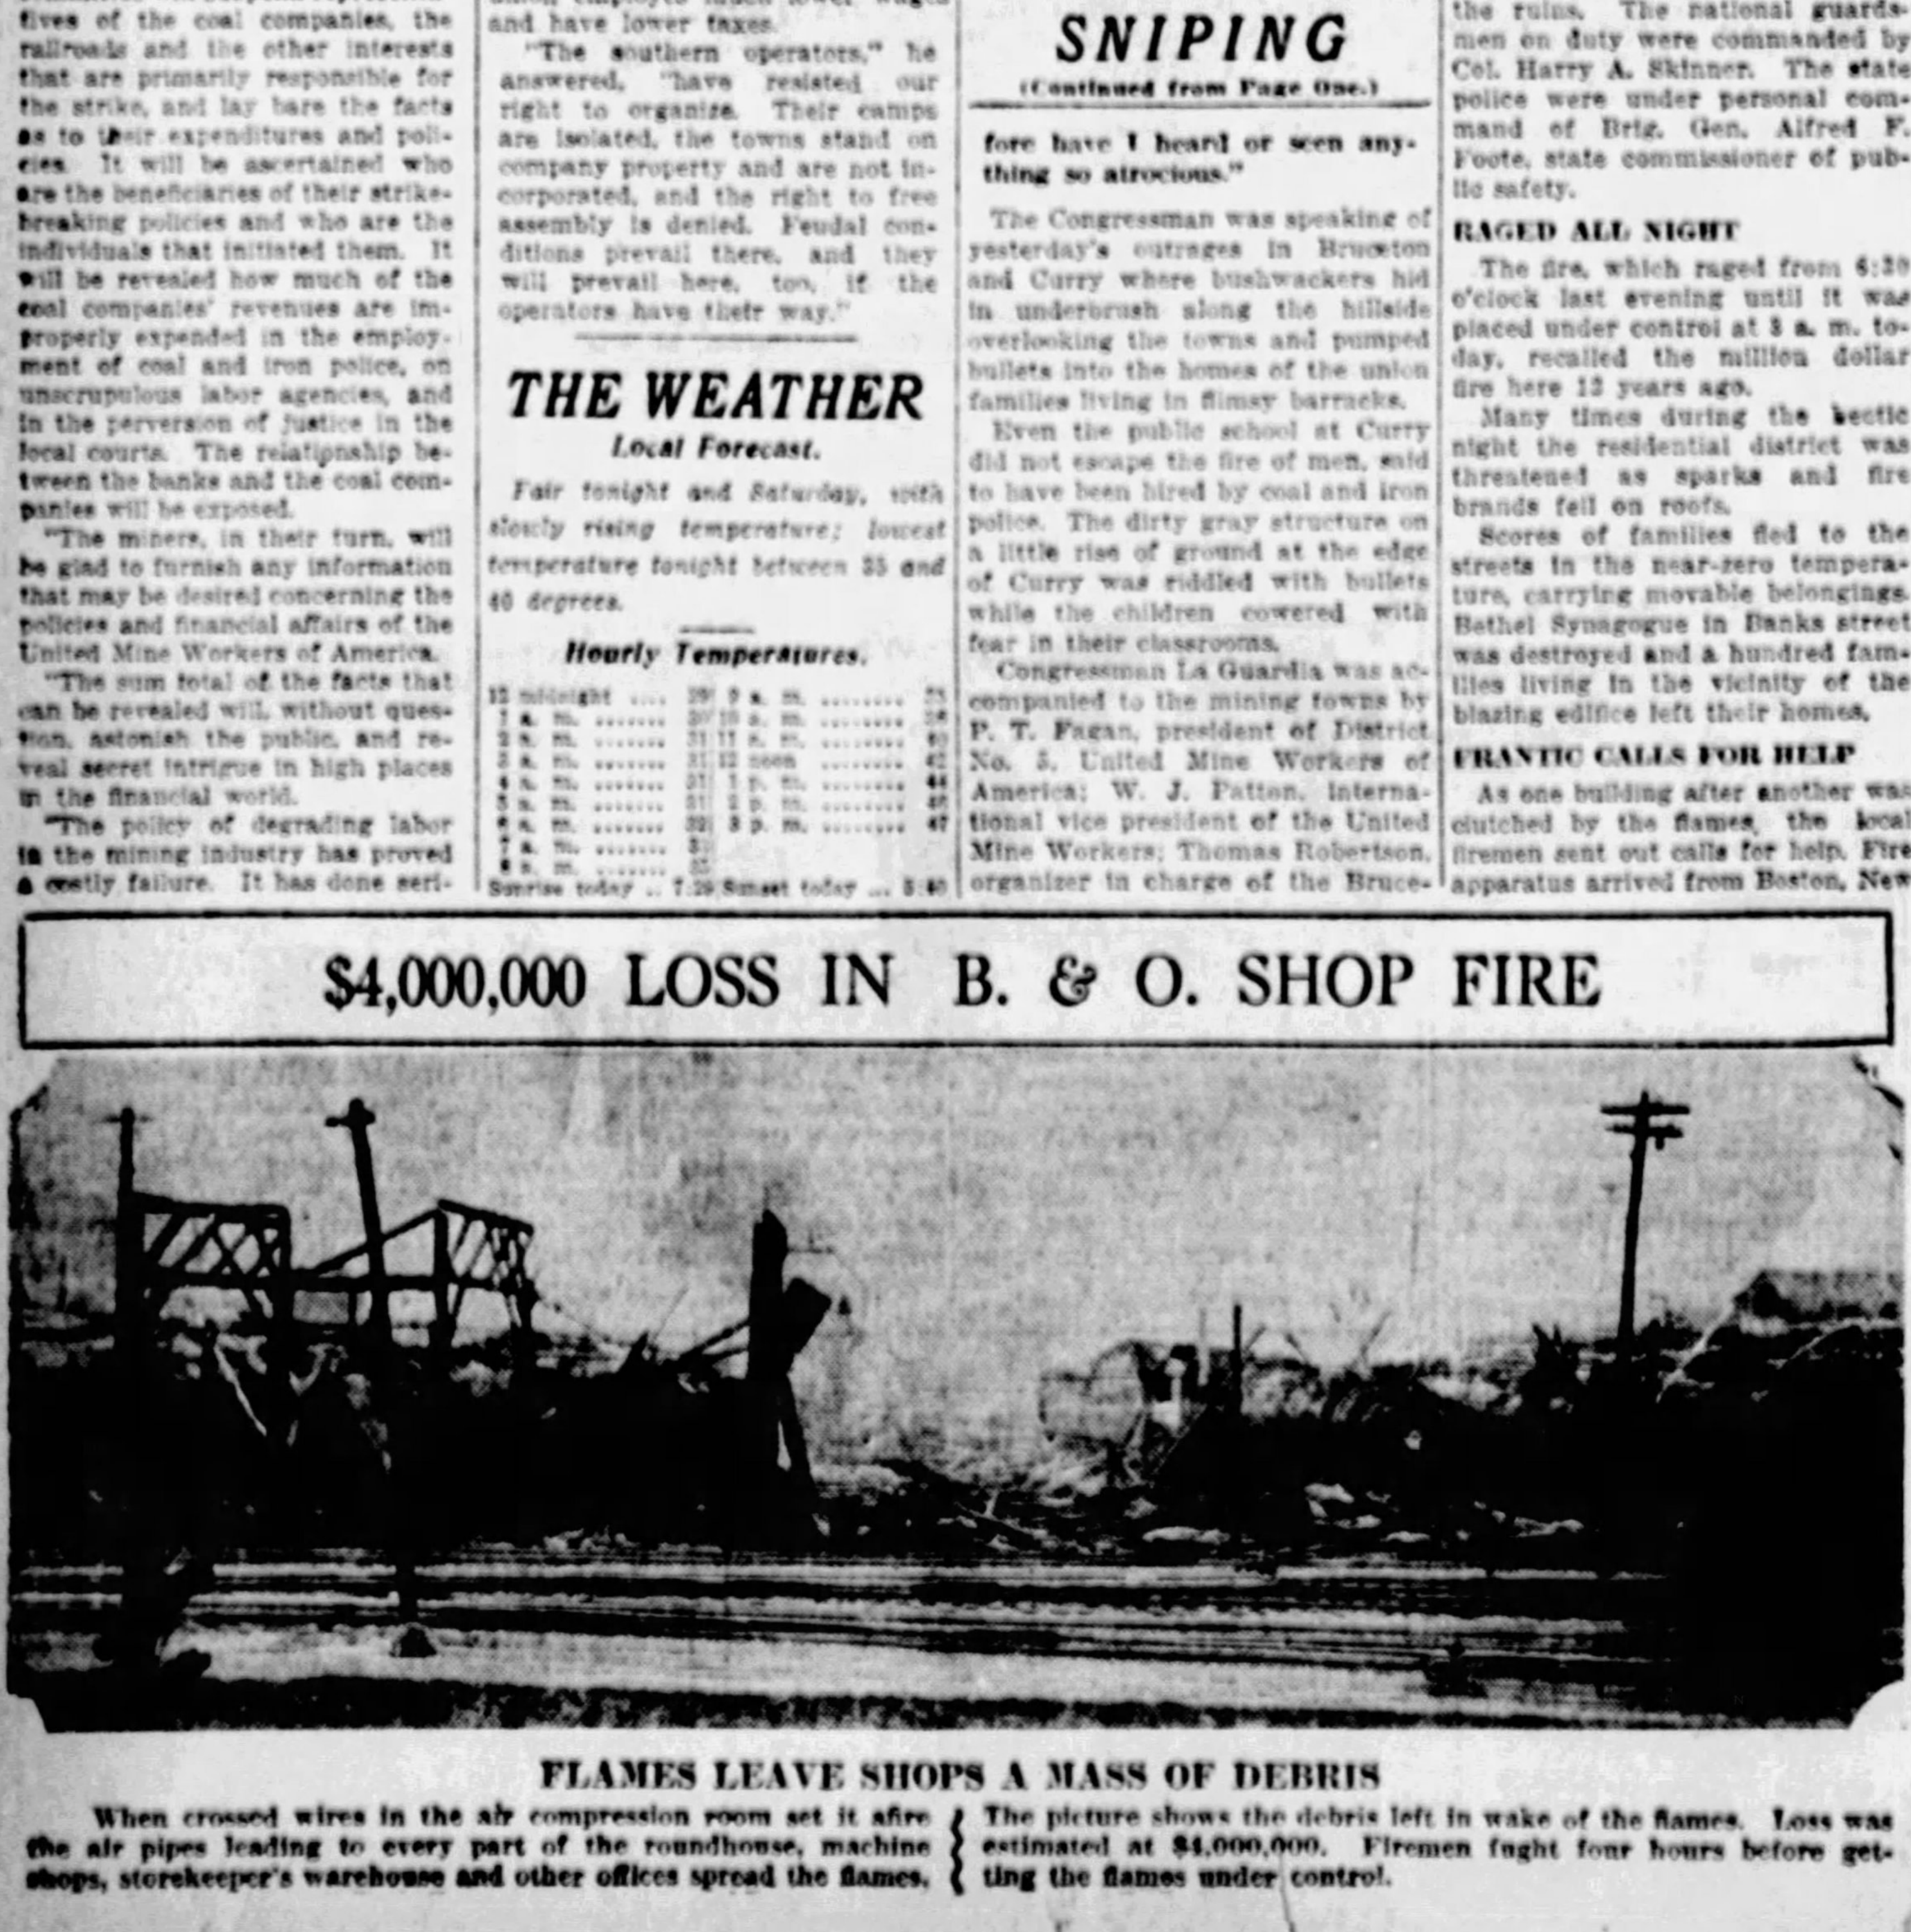
Past middle life, broken in spirit, and impoverished, Hatvany may die in prison. His comfort will be the certainty that such a government cannot last.

A BOOK by William Blake, containing seventeen illustrations, sold yesterday for $11,200. That would interest Blake, who died one hundred years ago in a little roof off the Strand after spending his last money to buy lead pencils.

Let your children learn by heart Blake's verses about building Jerusalem "In England's Green and Pleasant Land," or his "Tiger, Tiger, Burning Bright."

POLITICIANS, well satisfied with things as they are, still hope against hope that they will be able to "draft Coolidge." So says Louis Seibold. "Hoping against hope," 's all very well, but hoping against Coolidge's "I do not choose," is folly. What he does not CHOOSE, he does not DO.

$4,000,000 LOSS IN B. & O. SHOP FIRE



FLAMES LEAVE SHOPS A MASS OF DEBRIS

When crossed wires in the air compression room set it afire the air pipes leading to every part of the roundhouse, machine shops, storekeeper's warehouse and other offices spread the flames. The picture shows the debris left in wake of the flames. Loss was estimated at $4,000,000. Firemen fought four hours before getting the flames under control.

PASSENGER LOCOMOTIVES DESTROYED

Six of the Baltimore and Ohio "6200's," crack passenger engines which haul the Capitol Limited and other fast trains, were among the 29 locomotives virtually destroyed in a fire which swept through the Connellsville roundhouse and machine shop Thursday. These engines were valued at $125,000 each. They will be rebuilt immediately.

Will Frances Smith's Fate Be Like Dorothy Arnold's?

WHAT BECAME OF DOROTHY?

1—Dorothy Arnold, 25, former Bryn Mawr student, disappeared from the home of her father, Francis R. Arnold, No. 108 East Seventy-ninth street, New York, shortly before noon, December 12, 1910. Went on Christmas shopping tour.

2—Dorothy's family engages detectives to conduct secret investigation. All clues proving fruitless, reward for information is posted.

3—Six days after her disappearance letters were found in Dorothy's room which indicated a strong affection for George S. Griscom, 40 years old, then traveling in Italy.

4—Griscom located in Florence by Dorothy's father and brother; denies he knows anything about the girl's disappearance.

5—Father announces he will spend entire fortune, if necessary, to find his daughter. Dies 12 years later, leaving $600,000; said to have spent $1,000,000 in search.

---AND WHERE IS FRANCES---ALIVE OR DEAD?

1—Frances St. John Smith, Smith College student and daughter of St. John Smith, No. 129 East Seventieth street, New York, vanishes after being seen on school campus at noon, January 13.

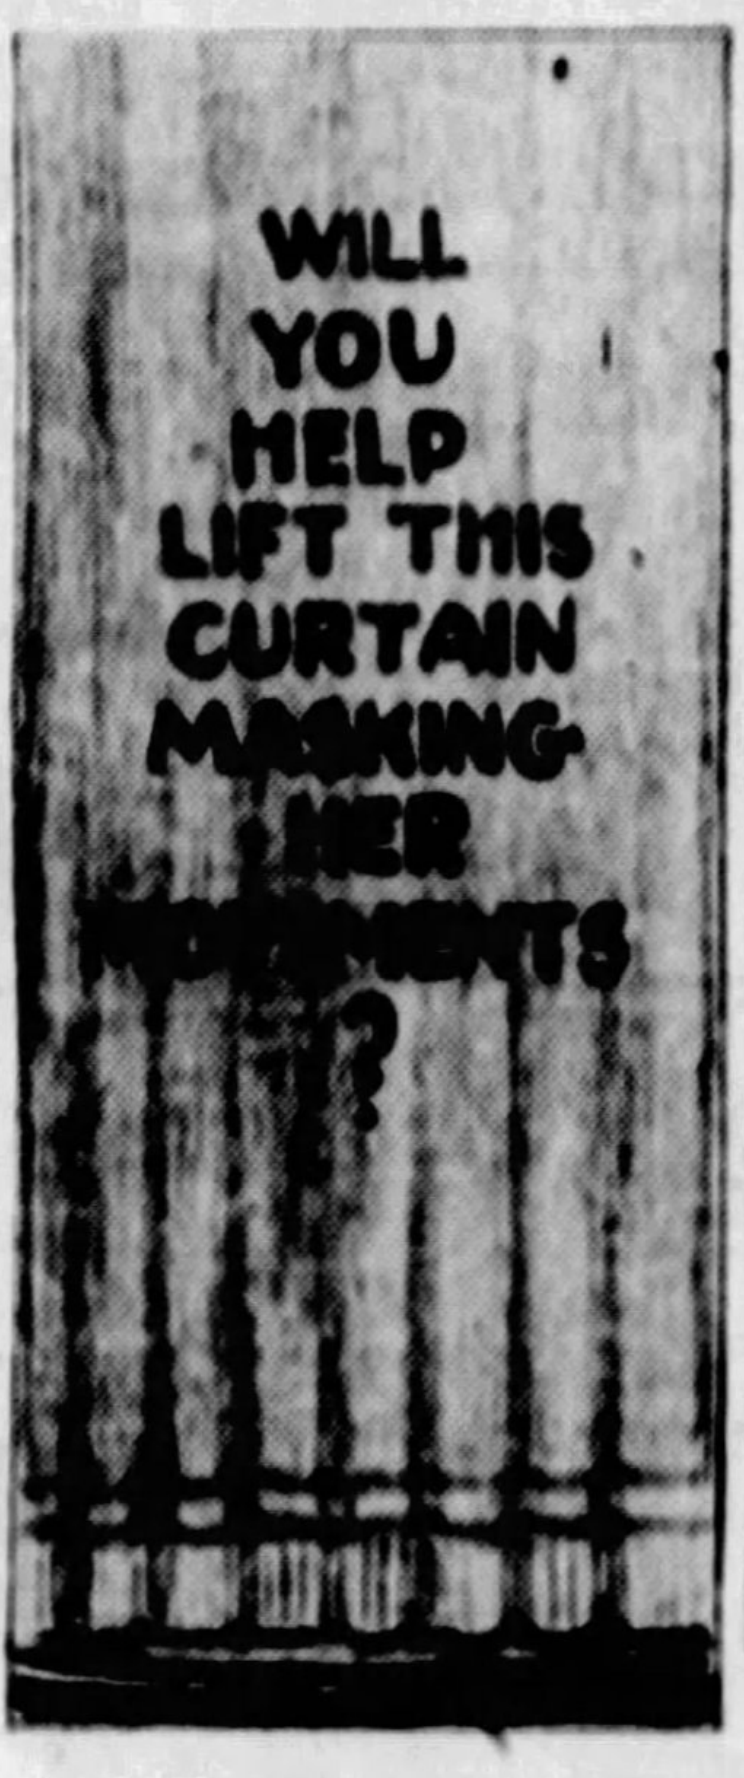
2—College authorities institute private search. Classmates of missing girl assist in scouring vicinity before disappearance is publicly announced.

3—Investigation reveals that a young man had been banished from the vicinity of the college two months before Frances' disappearance, for entertaining girls in his quarters.

4—Police interview John Paul Stack, former employe near Smith College. Police satisfied Stack knew nothing of the case.

5—Reward of $1,000 increased by father to $10,000, providing Frances is returned alive. Mr. Smith dedicates life and wealth to the hunt, which now centers in Detroit.

SHE LEFT HER ROOM AT SMITH COLLEGE



WILL YOU HELP LIFT THIS CURTAIN MASKING HER MOVEMENTS?

DID SHE DROWN HERSELF?

WAS SHE KIDNAPED?

WAS SHE AT A PITTSBURGH HOTEL?

DID SHE GO ABROAD?

Theories! Theories!! They crop up daily but the Grim Unknown still holds the secret of the whereabouts of Miss Frances St. John Smith, pretty 18-year-old New York girl who so mysteriously vanished from the campus of Smith College two weeks ago. One of the earliest suggestions put forward in the case and one which is still engaging the attention of the police, state troopers and private detectives engaged in the widespread search is that the girl was kidnaped and is being held for ransom. One clue, that the missing girl had been seen in a Pittsburgh hotel, was never verified. Another was that she might have drowned herself in a fit of despondency in a lake near the college grounds. The girl was reported seen in New York a few days after she was discovered missing from her room in the college dormitory and a few days later was reported to have sailed for Europe.

ASK 270 COAL POLICE COMMISSIONS LIFTED

By International News Service.

HARRISBURG, Feb. 3.—Following revelation that more than 2,000 coal and iron police, still in possession of their state commissions, are not regularly employed, two of the largest bituminous coal operators in Pennsylvania today asked the governor's office to cancel 270 commissions issued to their men.

The Pittsburgh Coal Company asked that commissions issued to 194 men no longer in its employ be recalled and the Pittsburgh Terminal Coal Corporation made the same request for 76 men.

Maj. Lynn J. Adams, superintendent of state police, today directed his troops in Allegheny county to make a complete investigation of rioting last night at Broughton, Pa. The troops were ordered to get all the facts and to keep in close contact with headquarters here.

Niagara Falls Dry; Turn Wet

BUFFALO, N. Y., Feb. 3.—(AP.)—The American falls of the mighty cataract of Niagara were roaring and booming again today after restriction by ice. For several hours an ice jam in the Niagara River yesterday diverted the water to the Canadian shore and over the Canadian falls, causing less water to go over the American falls in any other time in 30 years.

Ralph Holhauser, president of the Broughton School Board, sent to Gov. Fisher a telegram alleging that shots had been fired into the school building and that he had ordered the public schools closed pending an investigation.

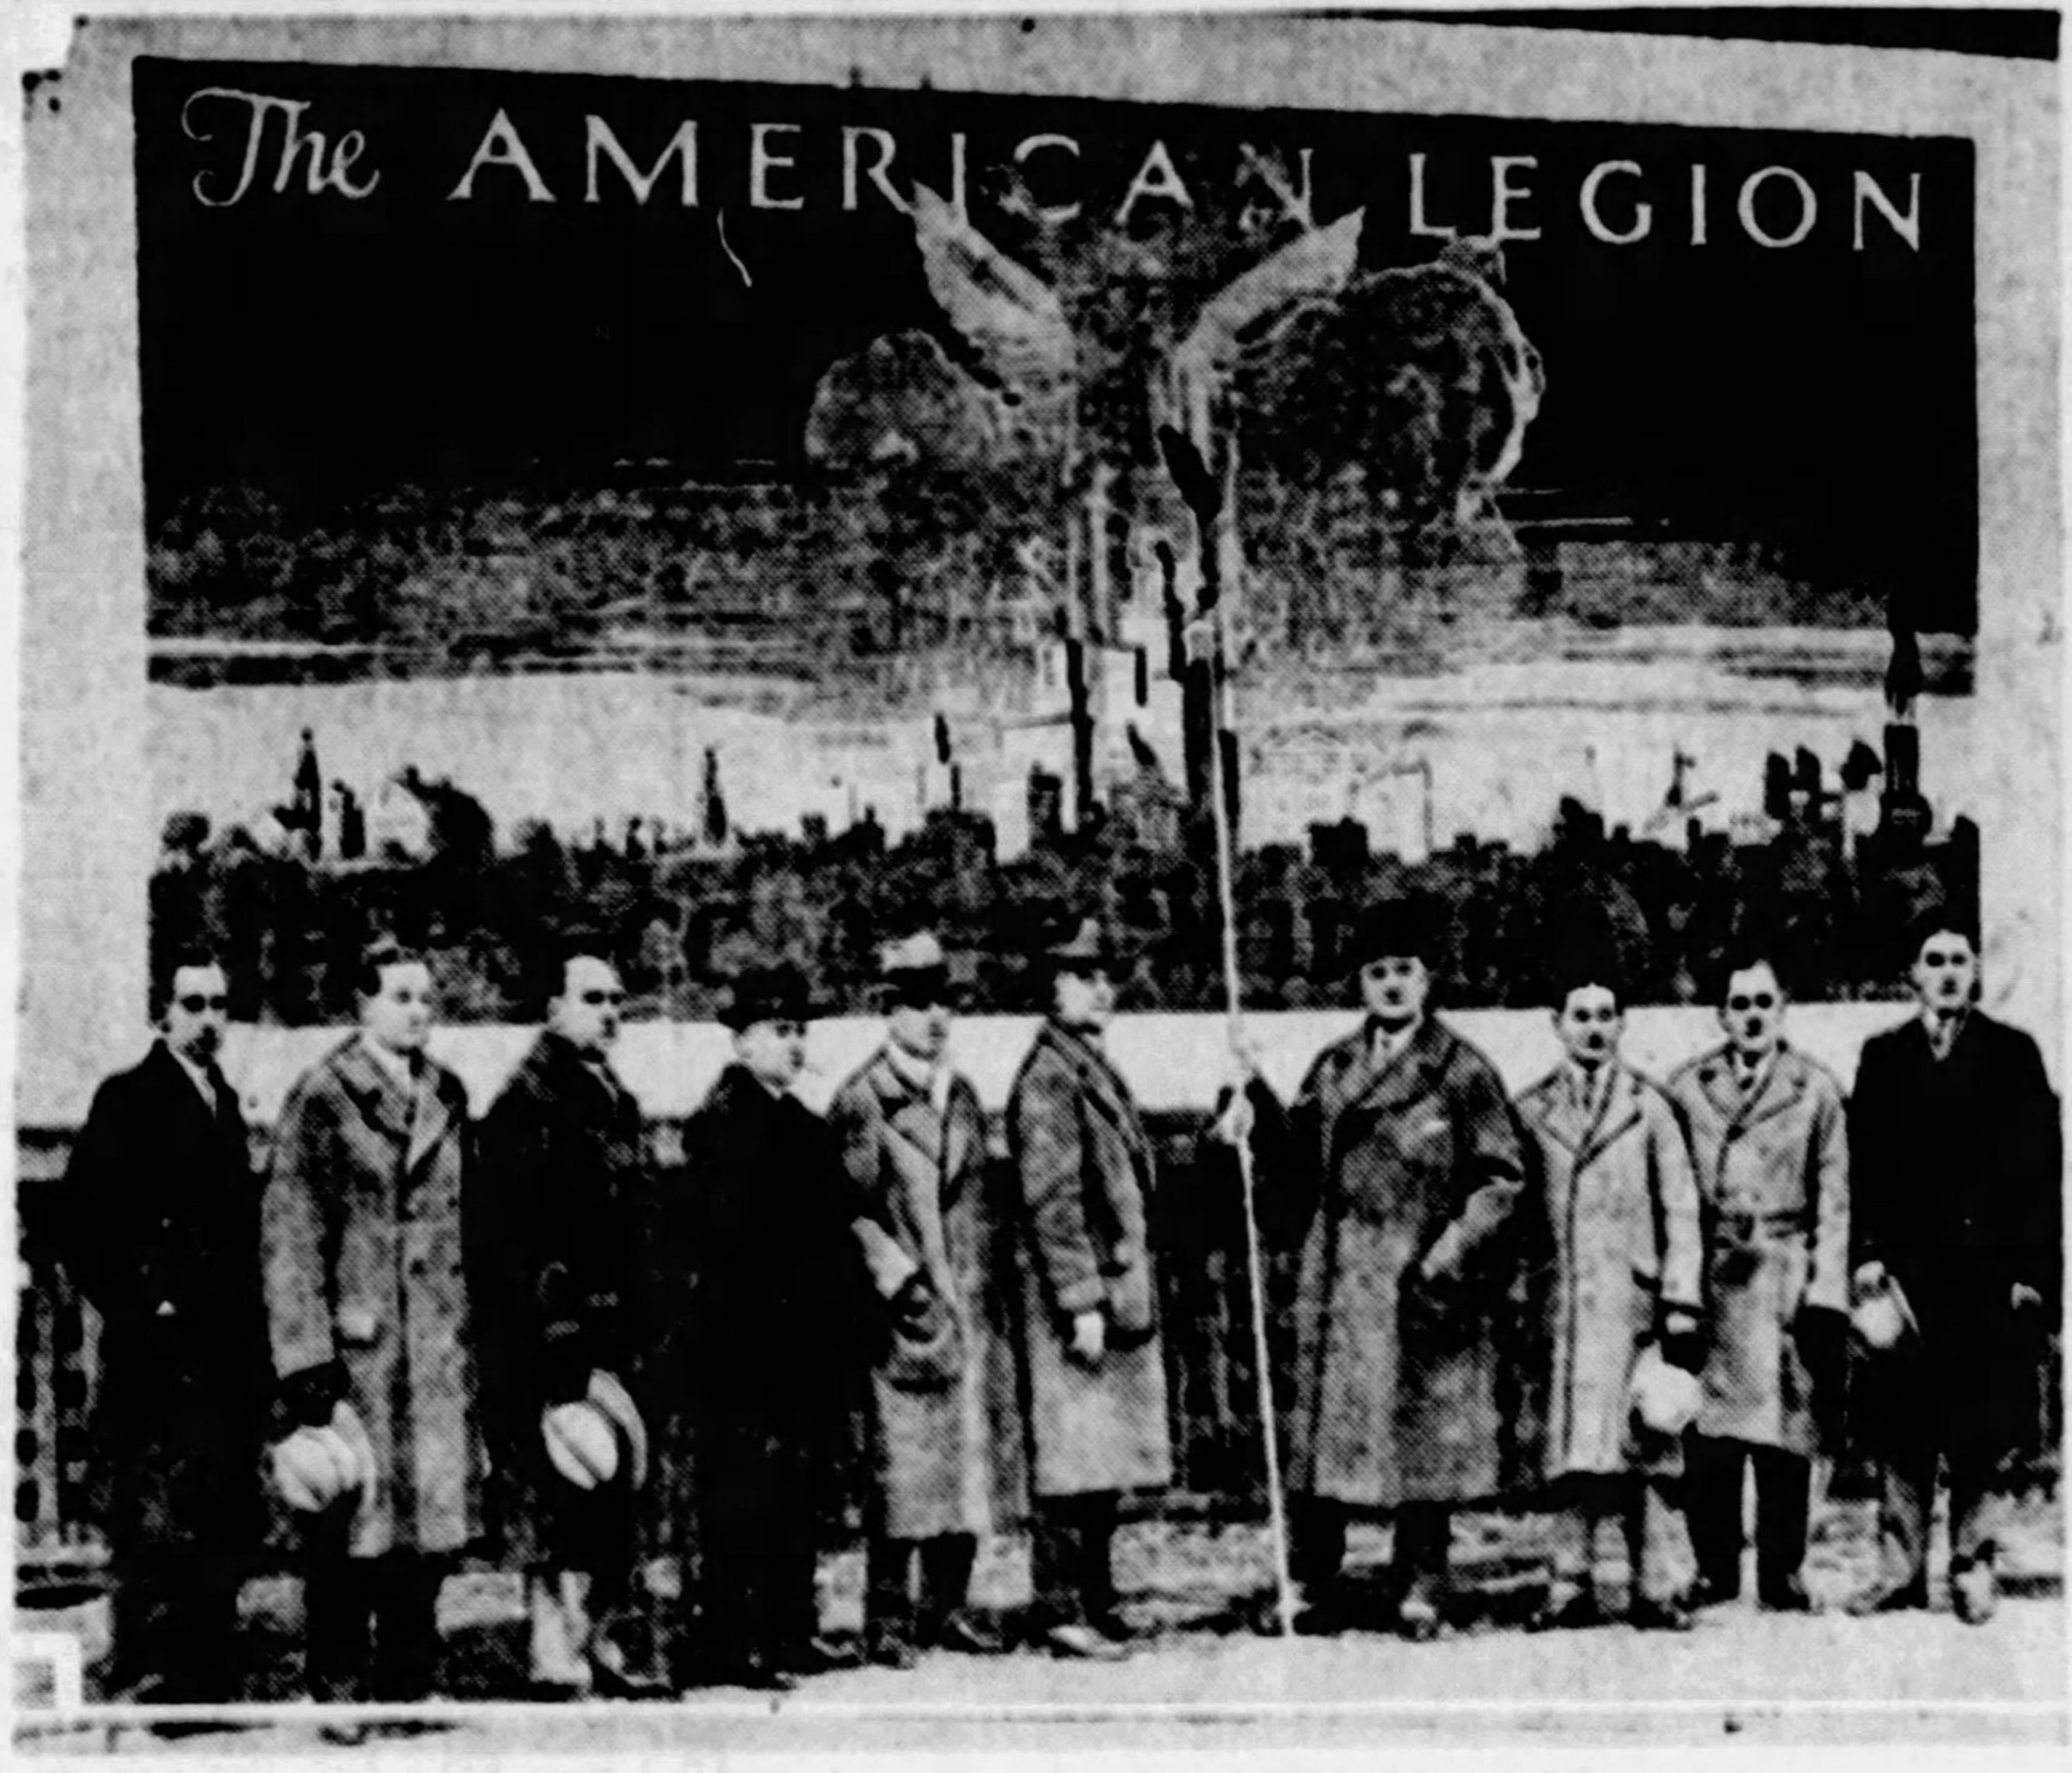
The telegram was turned over to Dr. John A. H. Keith, superintendent of public instruction. Dr. Keith has asked a report from the Allegheny county superintendent of schools.

SLUGS STOP HIM AFTER 3 A. M. 'SHOPPING' TOUR

Toting a bundle containing two top coats, several pairs of shoes, shirts, ties and other wearing apparel, Alva Smith, 40, of 9208 Frankstown road, stopped suddenly when Railroad Detective C. E. Baxter laid down a barrage in Hays street, Wilkinsburg, at 2:30 o'clock this morning. After Smith had been lodged in Wilkinsburg Police Station it was discovered that the goods which he carried had been stolen from the store of Heck Brothers, Wood street and South avenue, Wilkinsburg.

Two companions of Smith escaped.

AMERICAN LEGION DRIVE STARTS



BILLPOSTING BEGUN IN 16,000 TOWNS

Throughout the United States, and particularly in Allegheny County, American Legion members started a campaign for new memebers yesterday. Posters like the one shown here were broadcast in 16,000 towns and several hundred of them have been posted in the local district. In the group, at the first poster put up in Pittsburgh, are R. G. Flynn, member of membership committee; W. M. Stieren, Jr., secretary and adjutant of Allegheny County; William S. Voorsanger, chairman of publicity for drive; Charles G. Lane, Jr., district deputy commander; William H. McNaugher, past county commander; Dr. Carl E. McKee, county chairman; Mayor Charles A. Kline; E. L. Besser, commander of Victory Post, where first poster was erected; Watto Morath, chairman Victory Post membership committee; John Nickolas, membership committee and chairman legal aid committee.

MAYOR WIELDS BRUSH

American Legion members, comprising 25 per cent of the ex-service men, are campaigning for the other 75 per cent on the grounds that they are benefiting from legislation, hospitalization and other benefits obtained by the Legion, and should assume responsibility. The campaign is to last all month. William E. Hoah, of McKeesport Post, is general chairman of the Allegheny County campaign. There are 3,000 legionnaires in the county.

WOMAN SHOOTS DOWN TWO AS 'SLANDERERS'

OPENS FIRE WITHOUT WARNING

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Feb. 3.—(AP.)—Mrs. Nellie Grayson Buda, 38, is in the county jail charged with the shooting of Mrs. Mary Gallow, 33, and Tony Barber, 38, yesterday. Both are in a local hospital in a serious condition.

The shooting occurred while the couple were walking across a bridge in the heart of the city. Mrs. Buda admitted shooting the couple, according to authorities, "because they had been slandering me."

Mrs. Buda came from behind the couple as they were walking across the Walnut street bridge, it is charged, and opened fire without warning. The bullets struck both victims in the back, so near the spines that no attempt has been made to probe for the shots. Barber also suffered a wound over the left eye.

Barber believes the attack is the outcome of his killing two men here four years ago. His defense was that the victims were blackhand gang members.

WINDBER COAL OFFICE FIRE BEING PROBED

WINDBER, Pa., Feb. 3.—Company offices and store of the Windber-Hagevo Coal Company at Hagevo were destroyed by fire of undetermined origin with a loss of $10,000. An investigation has been started. The building was a large two-story frame.

MORTGAGE BURNED BY CARRICK MOTHERS' CLUB

EPOCHAL EVENT

When the Mothers' Club of Carrick, at the celebration of its fifteenth anniversary, lit the candles on the cake, the mortgage on the club was also lit, and burned. Past presidents of the club, shown in the group, with Mrs. J. M. Phillips and Mrs. G. L. Gearing, nearest the cake are, seated, Mrs. M. A. Keffer, present president; Mrs. John M. Phillips, founder and honorary president; Mrs. George L. Gearing, chairman of the original building committee; Mrs. Frank B. Beech, Mrs. Susan B. Kirk, Mrs. W. H. McCombs, Mrs. Sarah R. Pierce, Mrs. Ellsworth C. Trott, Mrs. E. R. Davis, Mrs. William Colteryahn, Mrs. Clyde C. Cain and Mrs. John T. Anderson, all past presidents.

SOME CAKE

Helen Schneider, 7, won first prize in the baby show held in Carrick Park by the club when she was only five months old, was accorded the honor of being the "cake bearer."

MRS. SNEAD BEAVER DIRECTORS' HEAD

ROCHESTER, Pa., Feb. 3.—Mrs. Ira B. Snead, of Freedom, was elected president of the Beaver County School Directors' Association yesterday at the twenty-third annual convention. Nearly 300 directors attended.

TOWING NO FUN—SABLE

backs all the time to keep the alleys clear.

"When an officer tells us to haul in a car, we got to haul it in, that's all. We've hauled in cars that belong to So-and-So and he gives us the devil. And about 30 per cent of the cars we haul in we have to release without any charges — some friend of some friend in high office! I've even got letters from high city officials ordering us to release cars 'without charge' to owners, after the police had ordered us to tow them in. That makes our contract look like a scrap of paper.

"Then they say we park cars in the street and alley out here and run them in on their own power. Say, do you know how many cars we find with ignition keys in them and unlocked? More likely than not it takes about six or eight to push the car into the garage because it is locked up.

"I wish you could tell the public to keep their cars out of alleys behind theaters. There's no money in this business anyhow. You can look at my books and see how profitable it is to tow and store at $3.65 and then take all the abuse when the owner comes in. And then in addition get some nice sweet publicity because you happen to step on somebody's toe who thinks he's got so much influence around town that he can break traffic regulations.

"They make me laugh!"

Public Safety Director Clark proposes that the city take over the task of towing in and storing cars ordered off the streets by the police.

STORE SALESMAN DIES WHILE AT HIS WORK

CUPID BLAMED AS 4 CARS HIT

By Universal Service.

CHICAGO, Feb. 3.—Because John MacDonald and his sweetheart were having one of those arguments, four cars were smashed up on the outer drive of Lincoln Park yesterday. MacDonald crashed into the first car, which swung into the path of a third, and the third then got in the way of the fourth. No one was injured.

RICHMAN'S CLOTHES

Style and quality in automobiles, or clothes, can be sold at a low price only when produced in huge volume. In Richman's Clothes, you get style models created by master designers, woolens ordinarily sold only at top prices and tailoring guaranteed to hold shape and give unusually long wear Without the economies of efficient large scale production, and sales direct from our factories to you through our own stores, at one small margin of profit, it would be impossible to give so much value at our low price.

Coughs Stopped Almost Instantly

A New, Safe Prescription

A famous physician's prescription called Thoxine relieves the most stubborn coughs that otherwise might hang on for weeks. Acts on new theory, relieves the inflammation and irritation which is almost always the cause of the cough—stops it like magic. Thoxine is equally good for sore throat, for which purpose it is far superior to gargles. Contains no dope, chloroform or other harmful drugs. Once used, you will never be without it. Pleasant tasting, easy to take and safe for the whole family. Remember one swallow stops night coughs or sore throat within 15 minutes or money back. 35c, 60c and $1.00. At all druggists.

DREYFUSS GIVES $200 TO WETS

By Universal Service.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—Expenditures of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment in 1927 totaled $291,280, while receipts for the year were $301,583, G. C. Hinckley, treasurer of the organization, reported to the clerk of the House yesterday pursuant to the corrupt practices act. Donors of funds included Barney Dreyfuss, part owner of the Pittsburgh baseball club, who gave $200.

His report covered all voluntary committees, the Washington, D. C., headquarters and Baltimore, Md., Philadelphia and New Jersey offices.

Capt. W. H. Stayton of Baltimore, head of the association, was paid $20,087 during the year. The report listed this as travel expense. Contributors to the association's anti-prohibition coffers include the following in New York City:

Edward E. Harkness, $10,000; Mrs. W. L. Harkness, $1,000; Commodore Arthur Curtiss James, $2,500; Lewis H. Lapham, $500; Manufacturers' and Dealers' League, $500; G. H. Walker, care of W. A. Harriman & Co., $5,000; Percy Chubb, $1,000; F. Ambrose Clark, $100; Hotel Astor, $400; Louis C. Tiffany, $500; Hoffman Nickerson, Oyster Bay, $450.

Other contributors were:

Elks Club, Elizabeth Lodge, Elizabeth, N. J., $475; Rahway (N. J.) Elks Club, $20; Clarence H. Geist, Philadelphia, $5,000; Henry Challant, Pittsburgh, Pa., $500, and Larz Anderson, White Springs, Va., $250.

The Missouri Association Against the Prohibition Amendment reported receipts of $15,066 and expenditures of $11,759 for the year 1927.

AUTO COLLISION KILLS WOMAN

Injuries suffered on December 21, while on a Christmas shopping trip, today caused the death of Mrs. Mary Johnston, 65, of 192 Brady street, Butler, in Mercy Hospital.

C. E. Johnston, who was driving his aunt, Mrs. Johnston, Mrs. E. T. Lowrie and Mrs. Sarah Roberts, all of Butler, to Pittsburgh, told the coroner that a truck taking the middle of the road was encountered on the Butler pike, near Allison Park, and when he pulled to one side, his car skidded on the ice and struck the truck.

LOCK OAKLAND BUILDING

Federal Judge F. P. Schoonmaker signed a decree yesterday directing the United States marshal to "padlock" the first floor of a three-story building at 2814 Forbes street for a year, because the prohibition law had been violated there at the saloon of F. T. McKnight.

The occupant is permitted to use the rest of the building upon filing $500 as surety against further violations.

EAST PITTSBURGH AID SENT MINERS

Purchased with the proceeds of the campaign conducted by the East Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce last week for the relief of destitute miners' families, four large truckloads of provisions and clothing were taken to neighboring mining camps today for distribution. The relief committee, composed of C. E. Stoner, R. L. Gale, Sam W. Wolfe, Jr., Jerome Sedler and Morris Gordon, accompanied the caravan, which assembled at the East Pittsburgh Postoffice.

The committee raised $600 and collected about 50 bushels of potatoes, a half truckload of miscellaneous groceries and 1,500 bundles of clothing. A large part of the money was collected at a midnight benefit show at the Rivoli Theater Sunday night. Nine acts of vaudeville, some from the Keith circuit, and motion pictures were presented to a packed house.

The sale of admission tickets brought $300, and $147 was collected by passing the hat among the audience. School teachers, fraternal organizations, business organizations and individuals also made cash contributions.

The actors who contributed their services to the Rivoli entertainment, which was given under the direction of Peter Antonopolos, the proprietor, included Monke, the magician; Bonnie Preston, Sam Rose, Gallagher and Tom, "The Florida Sports," Eleanor Savage, Moxie and Brother, and Brent, Temple and Brent. Ed Masten was master of ceremonies.

INTIMIDATED, ASKS DIVORCE

Her husband kept three revolvers and a pearl-handled stiletto in their home to intimidate her, Mrs. Alice Hawley, of 906 West North avenue, testified in Common Pleas Court in her divorce action against Starr A. Hawley. In the 18 months they lived together their quarrels were regular weekly affairs, the wife averred.

M'TIGUE GIRL'S SLAYER HELD FOR MURDER

WASHINGTON, Pa., Feb. 3.—John Popp, 40, Hungarian, of Vestaburg, was held to await the action of the Washington county grand jury for the killing of Emma McTigue, 22, at Van Voorhis, Sunday afternoon, at an inquest conducted at Monongahela yesterday by Coroner William B. Baker.

Popp, in a confession to authorities, is said to have admitted that he killed the young woman because she was receiving attentions from other men. The Austrian said he became infatuated with her while she worked for him in a store which he conducted at Dunlap, Fayette county.

Knowing that she could not marry him, because she had been previously married and had not been divorced, Popp, in his alleged confession, stated he was endeavoring to force her to promise not to receive attentions of other men.

When she refused, Popp said, he became so infuriated that he shot and killed her.

McKEESPORT MAN SUES FOR INJURIES

William Wild, of McKeesport, a plumber, has entered suit in Common Pleas Court against Charles Weissert, asking $15,000 damages for injuries suffered February 9, 1927. Weissert was sub-contractor on a building in Market street, near Ninth avenue, McKeesport, when part of a floor fell, injuring Wild.

SHARON PLANE CRASH VICTIM NEAR DEATH

SHARON, Pa., Feb. 3.—Victims of an airplane crash at the Sharon Country Club grounds yesterday, Walter Piper, 42, of Oak Park, a suburb of Chicago, has only a slight chance for recovery in the Buhl Hospital here, and Elmer Beardsley, 40, his business partner, of Chicago, is less seriously hurt. Piper has a fracture of the skull, fracture of both legs and internal injuries, and Beardsley has lacerations of the face and head.

The men, officials of the Beardsley-Piper Construction Company of Chicago, came here Wednesday for a business conference. Starting their return flight from a farm at Sharpsville yesterday, with Beardsley at the controls, they were forced to make a sudden landing because of motor trouble. The plane was wrecked.

ARREST DRIVER IN ACCIDENT

Struck by an automobile while he was placing a lantern at a manhole at Smithfield street and Oliver avenue late last night, T. G. Hershberger, 30, 24 Sims street, Mt. Washington, was badly bruised. He was taken to the Mercy Hospital. Thomas Lowman, 27, 3317 Waltham street, Dormont, driver of the automobile, was arrested by police for violating the state automobile law.

HOME BURNS AS FAMILY VISITS

While John Hillard, of Harwick, and his family were visiting at the home of neighbors last night their own home took fire from an overheated furnace and was destroyed at a loss of $5,000. Hillard rushed to the scene too late to save his household goods. Springdale and Cheswick firemen saved two dwellings nearby.

THREE NABBED FOR ATTACK ON OFFICER

A brawl following an automobile and street car collision at Sixth avenue and Bigelow boulevard in which a policeman was kicked in the face resulted in three men being arrested last night. Policeman Fred Smith, who was bruised when the tip of a shoe was thrust against his face, made the arrests.

Those taken into custody were D. J. Lingenri, 26, 1329 Bluff street, owner of the automobile; Joseph Chieppa, 37, motorman, and William Brown, 27, a Negro, of 72 Fullerton street, driver of the motor car. The fight followed an argument over the placing the blame for the collision. The policeman was kicked when he attempted to stop the scuffle. Those arrested were lodged in Central Police Station, charged with disorderly conduct.

ORDERED OUT; ASKS DIVORCE

Alice Mayr, McKees Rocks, testifying in Common Pleas Court in her divorce action against Joseph Mayr, Glenshaw carpenter, declared her husband had "invited" her to return to her mother at Conneaut Lake less than a year after their marriage.

When she did not comply, she said, hubby packed her suitcase, loaded her into the sidecar of his motorcycle and drove her to the trolley line at Undercliff, where he escorted her into a Conneaut car.

WOODVILLE FALL KILLS PATIENT

Augustine Dourdien, 73, inmate of the County Home at Woodville, stumbled while ascending steps in the home yesterday and fell, fracturing his skull. He died last night.

DANGEROUS STOMACH ACIDS UPSET DIGESTION

Few people, other than physicians, realize the importance of keeping the food contents of the stomach free from fermentation. Healthy, normal digestion cannot take place while the delicate lining of the stomach is being inflamed and distended by excessive acid and gas—which causes fermentation of food in the stomach. To secure perfect digestion, fermentation must be stopped or prevented and the acid neutralized. For this purpose there is nothing better than a little pure Bisurated Magnesia—either powder or tablets—which can be obtained at May Drug Co. or any drug store. Take a teaspoonful or two tablets in a little water immediately after eating. Bisurated Magnesia is very widely used for this purpose because it is pleasant to take, has no disagreeable aftereffects and instantly stops fermentation, neutralizes the acid and makes the sour stomach contents bland, sweet and easily digested. As there are several forms of magnesia be sure to specify Bisurated Magnesia, the regular use of which is the best possible guarantee of healthy, normal digestion.

Aim To Live 100

An Easy System To Follow For People Half Dead Around the Age of 40.

We only begin to think of our health when the human machine staggers and falters under a load of disease.

Millions of people who suffer needlessly from constipation, sour stomach, indigestion, liver, kidney and impure blood ailments should follow this proven advice: Go to your druggist, ask him for a box of the famous Bulgarian Herb (Blood) Tea. Here is what the tea is guaranteed to do for you. It will remove the toxic poisons from the bowels, stimulate and tone the liver, flush and cleanse the kidneys, kill off stomach gases, improve and enrich the blood—thereby putting your entire system in a first class healthy condition.

Begin right now to purify your system. Put back power and health into your blood. Take a cupful of the rich vitalizing juices of these precious herbs at least once each week. No cheating. Remember, once a week regular, that's the system. In a very short time you will begin to feel like a new person.

Further, just to break up a cold quickly and avoid "Flu" or pneumonia, Bulgarian Herb (Blood) Tea is worth ten times its small cost. Remember, see your druggist at once. Don't put it off.

TAXICAB BANDIT GIVEN YEAR IN WORKHOUSE

Charles O'Neill, Negro, of 1115 Beaver avenue, North Side, married to a 16-year-old girl with a two-weeks'-old child, was sentenced to the workhouse for one to two years by Judge James R. Macfarlane yesterday in Criminal Court, after pleading guilty to robbing two taxicab drivers January 22. He obtained $12 at the point of a revolver.

He explained he was out of work and needed the money, because of the birth of the child. Assistant Federal District Attorney Ralph Smith sought leniency because of the former good record of the boy.

SLAYER GIVEN 10-YEAR TERM

Alfred Russo, 38, Turtle Creek Italian, was sentenced to the penitentiary for 10 to 20 years yesterday in Criminal Court by Judge James B. Drew, who denied a motion for a new trial upon a conviction December 8, of murder in the second degree. Russo was found guilty of killing Frank Mastandrea of Frankstown avenue, near his home, August 7.

Assistant District Attorney John F. Haggerty accused Russo of being an agent of the Black Hand. The defendant alleged that he shot in self-defense when Mastandrea, with two companions, attacked him after a quarrel when he bumped into them while walking in Frankstown avenue.

DEATH AWARD DENIED

The $4 weekly compensation due parents of Vittorio Bucciarelli, killed in the Hazelwood plant of Jones & Laughlin Steel Company in 1920, was set aside yesterday in an opinion handed down by Common Pleas Court.

Maria and Antonio Bucciarelli were to receive compensation for 300 weeks, but the court agreed, in leaving Pennsylvania and the United States for Italy, they forfeited that sum.

About $65—compensation for three and one-half months—was paid, in addition to funeral expenses.

THE PITTSBURGH SUN-TELEGRAPH

Menjou and Kathryn Carver Plan Early Spring Wedding With Honeymoon to Europe

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS,

Motion Picture Editor of Universal Service.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 3,

THE checker board activities of the directors these days are diverting to say the least. Now you see them at one studio and now you don't. Charles (Chuck) Reisner who, everybody including the town gossips said would direct Buster Keaton's first Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer comedy, has given the film colony a surprise by moving his megaphone to Paramount.

Buster Keaton has been sick in bed for the last few weeks and his illness has caused a necessary postponement in his picture. This may or may not have decided Chuck to sign on the dotted line with Paramount.

At any rate, he will try his hand on a W. F. Fields and Chester Conklin comedy, with the title of "Quick Lunch."

Thomas Meighan will not fondle the little children and play a good man woefully misunderstood in his first Caddo Production. On the contrary, he will play a rum-runner who is about as rough and ready as the character created by Jack Gilbert in "Twelve Miles Out." The Meighan story is being prepared by Lewis Milestone, who will direct Tommy and by Howard Rogers, a writer. It is an original. The Meighans are in Florida enjoying a little of Palm Beach and other resorts, but they are due to return to Hollywood March 1. That is when the rum-runner tale begins its career as a movie. So far no leading lady has been chosen.

The merry month of May has been chosen by Adolphe Menjou and Kathryn Carver for their wedding. Miss Carver's divorce becomes final May 4 and May 5 she and Adolphe Menjou will be married in the presence of a few friends. The home of Mrs. Fitzgerald, a close friend of the bride and groom, will be the scene of the marriage ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Menjou will sail for Europe, on the Isle De France, May 19, and a honeymoon of several months. The lure of Europe is certainly getting into the blood of all these Hollywood people. Never has there been such a continuous stream of film folk to the other side. Meanwhile, Mr. Menjou is working hard to get enough pictures in reserve so that he can take his trip abroad. He would like to make one picture in Europe, but that, so to speak, is on the knees of the gods, the gods, I suppose, representing Famous Players-Lasky.

Any time the old check book and pen is taken out at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer to pay for a play, I find myself inquiring if Lon Chaney is the reason for the purchase. He seems to fit more roles than any living human being. My guess about "Four Walls" was right. M. G. M. bought this play by Dana Burnet and George Abbott only this past week. It is the story of East Side gang life and is intended, I believe, for Mr. Chaney. It had its New York premier September, 1927.

The shock of her mother's death and the nervous reaction following it has sent Marion Davies away to rest before she even thinks of returning to work. She had expected to begin work on "Polly Preferred" this week, but it has been postponed for another two weeks. "Polly" is being adapted to the screen by Laurence Stallings and Agnes Christine Johnstone. With the promised success of "The Patsy," everyone is delighted that Miss Johnstone has a hand in the scenario and that King Vidor will direct.

Back from a trip abroad and a pleasant holiday in England and France is Julia Faye.

"ABIE'S IRISH ROSE" IN COMING BILLS

Patricia Quinn plays the role of Rosemary Murphy in the Anne Nichols comedy, "Abie's Irish Rose," which will be seen in the Pitt next week.

The farewell of "The Jazz Singer," the comedy drama in which George Jessel is starring, in Pittsburgh will be played in the Alvin, where it will begin a week's engagement next Monday night, playing the usual Wednesday and Saturday matinees.

"Tommy," a comedy of love-making in a modern American home, produced by George C. Tyler, comes to the Nixon next week.

SPECIAL MATINEE BY ROSE MIDGETS

Because of the large attendance at Sheridan Square Theater yesterday and the large number of children who were turned away unable to see Rose's midgets, there is a special extra matinee in Sheridan Square at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon.

Favorite Returns

RICHARD BARTHELMESS will be on the screen of the Grand next week in one of his new successes, "The Patent Leather Kid."

Recital by Two Pianists to Be Given

James A. Bortz of the Bortz De Luxe Concerts will present as the fourth number of his series, Ossip Gabrilowitsch, pianist and conductor of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, and Harold Bauer, pianist, in a recital for two pianos in Carnegie Music Hall this evening. The program follows:

Concerto in C Minor................Bach

ACHING JOINTS, RHEUMATIC PAIN

"Heet" Relieves Instantly

With applicator attached to cork, just brush "Heet" over the pain area, whether in knees, feet, legs, hands, shoulders, back, neck or body. Instantly, you feel this harmless, glorious, penetrating heat draw the pain, soreness and stiffness right out of any aching or swollen joint, muscle or neuritis-ridden nerve. Besides, "Heet" scatters the congestion and establishes a cure.

"Heet" contains two soothing, penetrating ingredients, too expensive to use in ordinary liniments or analgesics. "Heet" is a clean, pleasant liquid; doesn't stain, blister or irritate the skin and costs only 60 cents at any drug store.

Judge Us By Him

If you want an idea as to the quality of our developing and printing and the kind of service we render—ask one of our customers.

We are more than willing that you judge us by his remarks. For we know that he can't help but tell you we've always given him the very best pictures his negatives could produce—and at the time we promised, too.

All our prints are on Velox, the paper made specially for amateur negatives and identifiable on the back.

"BROKE" SPENDER AMUCK

GOES ON 'BUYING' RAMPAGE HERE

Bellevue merchants today are recovering from the whirlwind visit, of a well-dressed young man who showered the borough's stores with purchase upon purchase and announced with delight that on the morrow he was to marry an Avalon girl. He had neither money nor bride.

He came, he saw and he went. His first stop was the Bellevue Savings and Trust Company where, as Ralph Hazlett, he opened an account with a $300 check drawn on a Tarentum bank. And from there his afternoon was a busy one. At the Superior Realty Company he rented a flat for himself and his prospective bride. He sent for the interior decorator of a downtown department store and ordered $2,000 in furniture. At Frisheorn's Floral Shop he ordered a table center and a corsage. At the Bellevue Floral Shop he varied his order to a corsage and a table center.

WANTS CAR TOO

At the Buick Motor Company offices he announced he was in the market for a good car and he received a thorough demonstration.

He approached his downfall when he entered the P. Thomas Jewelry shop. He wanted a wedding ring, he said, for the most beautiful girl in the world. Would they take a check? No, they would not take a check from a more or less perfect stranger.

Mr. Hazlett said good-by. He hasn't been in Bellevue since.

His check, the Bellevue bank learned, was worthless because he had forgotten to deposit $300 in the Tarentum bank. None of his purchases was delivered.

MORRIS GOLDMAN

In response to an advertisement of Morris Goldman, "Morry the Clothier," Fifth avenue and Market street, offering to pay $10 for every old suit, overcoat or topcoat brought in by a customer during a three-day period, more than a hundred men delivered garments. Goldman will turn them over to the destitute miners. Here he is with a few of the bundles.

WOMAN FELLED BY THUG

Beaten by a robber who struck her in the face and knocked her to the street in North Lincoln avenue last midnight, Mrs. L. Schlachter, of 2562 Magnet street, was robbed of $3. The robber fled, leaving the woman dazed on the pavement. Mrs. Schlachter is confined to her home suffering from shock.

The woman told police that the robber, armed with a revolver, stepped onto the pavement in front of her from an alleyway where he had been hiding. She said that when she turned to run, the man struck her in the face and while she was on the ground he took her purse containing $3. The purse was found on the pavement nearby.

BATTER DOWN DOORS IN RAID

Battering their way through bolted doors of an alleged disorderly house in Colwell street early today, police from the Center Avenue Police Station arrested six men and six women.

Miss Betty Romano, alleged keeper, was charged with operating a disorderly house, and others with visiting a disorderly house. They were lodged in the Center avenue station. The raid was conducted under the direction of Capt. James Hoey.

Rather Be Funny Than President, Will Declares

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Feb. 3.—There was a piece in the paper this morning where somebody back home was seriously proposing me for president. Now when that was done as a joke it was alright, but when it's done seriously it's just pathetic.

WILL ROGERS

We are used to having everything named as presidential candidates, but the country hasn't quite got to the professional comedian stage. There is no inducement that would make me foolish enough to ever run for any political office. I want to be on the outside where I can be friends and joke about all of them, even the President. As long as its alright with him, why my conscience is clear.

So, I hereby issue my statement, which is as follows: I don't contemplate becoming involved in a political conflict of any nature during the autumn of 1928.

YOURS,

WILL ROGERS.

P. S.—Should the Democrats, however, become successful, I would accept the postoffices in Beverly Hills and Claremore, Okla. I can take care of both letters.

FOOD FERMENTED AND FORMED GAS

Salesman, of Near Homestead, Uses Ten Herbs With Amazing Results

"I am a traveling salesman, and eating at irregular hours and different places finally got the best of my stomach," was the statement of Mr. Henry S. Figdor, R. F. D. 1, Box 137, Homestead, Pa., (near Pittsburgh), to the Ten Herbs Man, who is at the May Drug Store, 529 Liberty avenue, Pittsburgh, where he is daily demonstrating the great natural medicine, Ten Herbs. "Food would lie in my stomach and ferment, and gas would form until I would be in misery," continued Mr. Figdor. "My whole system seemed to be out of order.

MR. HENRY S. FIGDOR

"I was constipated, and my liver was sluggish. At times, I had such severe bilious attacks and dizzy spells that I had to hold to something to keep from falling. My kidneys were not working properly and I had to arise several times at night. There were pains across my back and I would be so stiff I could hardly get out of bed in the morning.

"I noticed Ten Herbs being advertised and I stopped at this store and heard you explain the merits of your medicine. I started to use this preparation, and I was soon convinced that Ten Herbs was just what my system needed. It seemed to cleanse and stimulate my whole digestive tract. All signs of indigestion disappeared, and my appetite improved. My bowels are now regular, and my liver and kidneys working fine. Bilious attacks and dizzy spells are gone, and pains and stiffness have left my back. I feel good upon arising in the morning, and have more energy and ambition. I gladly recommend Ten Herbs to the public."

Ten Herbs, the new natural compound, is meeting with splendid success in this city, where it has given relief to many people who had suffered with disordered stomach, liver and bowels.

The Ten Herbs Man is at the May Drug Store, 529 Liberty Avenue, Pittsburgh, where he is daily meeting the public and explaining the merits of this medicine. Free sample given.

LONDON PAYS HAIG LAST TRIBUTE

LONDON, Feb. 3.—(AP.)—While all England mourned and three sons of his king led the three-mile procession from St. Columba's to Westminster Abbey, the body of Field Marshal Earl Haig today was borne through the streets of London in one of the greatest military pageants in the history of the historic British capital.

It was a pageant of poignant memories. The casket was wrapped in a weather-worn Union Jack which had served a similar function on the cenotaph—Britain's memorial to her hero dead. The body also was borne on the gun carriage on which had been mounted the gun which fired Britain's first shot in the World War. It was the same gun carriage, too, on which the body of Britain's unknown soldier was taken tenderly to his last resting place.

Today seven mounted men drew it slowly and men's heads everywhere were bared as the casket came into sight and passed along the thoroughfares.

To the muffled music of a military band, whose strains the field marshal had loved, the procession moved through silent streets crowded with tens of thousands of men, women and children. There were many weeping women, and most of them wore black and carried little bunches of red paper Flanders poppies, symbolical of heroic sacrifice and devotion.

There were numerous medaled men along the line of march and other veterans who had fought in France and Flanders fields under Britain's great soldier. Many of them, carrying sad scars from the battlefields, made no effort to hide their emotion.

YOUTH KILLED WHEN SHOTGUN IS DISCHARGED

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Feb. 3.—When he stumbled against a rock Giles Casto, 18, son of Edward Casto, Baltimore and Ohio Railroad foreman, was killed on a hunting trip yesterday by the discharge of his own shotgun.

FEDERAL COURT TO TRY AGENT IN CRASH

A writ of habeas corpus has been issued by Federal Judge F. P. Schoonmaker for removal to Federal Court of Indiana County Quarter Sessions' Court in the arrest of Robert Young, a government prohibition agent, charged with violating the state traffic laws.

The petition for the writ, filed by Attorney Horton Smith of the legal staff of the prohibition department, declared that Young, when arrested, had been performing his duties in enforcement of the national prohibition act, and therefore the case should be removed to the Federal Court.

Young, on January 21, was held for court by Justice of the Peace Walter H. Jackson of Indiana after a collision with a machine of Vogel Electric Company.

ALCOHOL KILLS 31 IN JANUARY

High tide of the alcoholic flood hit Pittsburgh in January. Thirty-one deaths from alcoholism formed almost 10 per cent of total number of coroner's cases investigated during the month. Included in the 274 cases reported were 112 accidents, 31 auto deaths, 20 burned, 21 killed in falls, 14 poisoned, three drowned, three scalded, three asphyxiated and five killed in mines were included in the list of accidental deaths. There were 10 murders.

Always Thin: This Happy Woman Must Tell How She Quickly Gained 11 Pounds

Underweight Men and Women the World Over Ought to Profit by the Experience of This Well Known Tennessee Woman,

Read It Twice

To McCoy's Laboratory:

This is from Mrs. W. E. Looney—I just must tell you that McCoy's Tablets are the finest things I have ever tried. I have always been thin and never found anything to do me so much good. I was disappointed in the beginning.

I weighed 104 when I began—now I weigh 115½. I praise them. I can't be without them. My limbs are picking up fine. I am singing their praises to everyone I see. I didn't have any faith in them to start.

Signed (Mrs. W. E. Looney), Tennessee.
Oct. 16th, 1927.

How can any woman or man either for that matter look superbly attractive with deep hollows in chest and neck and with limbs scantily covered with flesh?

In every drug store in America you can find McCoy's Tablets, sugar coated and as easy to take as candy. They are recommended not only to put on weight but to improve the general health.

One sickly man in New Jersey regained his health and energy and added 28 pounds of much needed flesh.

But read McCoy's generous offer—it tells the whole story to every fair minded person.

McCoy takes all the risk—Read this ironclad guarantee. If after taking 4 sixty cent boxes of McCoy's Tablets or 2 One Dollar boxes any thin, underweight man or woman doesn't gain at least 5 pounds and feel completely satisfied with the marked improvement in health—your druggist is authorized to return the purchase price.

The name McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets has been shortened—just ask for McCoy's Tablets at May's Drug Stores or any drug store in America.

MEDITATIONS of a MARRIED WOMAN

THE GREAT AMERICAN PASTIME

ONCE again, a popular physician arises to warn us that we "must not quarrel at meal times."

"MUST not"—indeed? Somebody is always taking the joy out of life! Somebody is always trying to rob the American People of their favorite pastimes!

Dinner is the Great American FIGHTING Hour! We take our domestic squabbles with our meals, just as we take our jazz and our pepsin, and our synthetic cocktails. We could not work up an appetite without them!

HELEN ROWLAND

The dinner table is the only place where a woman can hold her husband's ear long enough to put anything into it, and keep his eyes off his newspaper long enough to get him to look at her when he answers.

Half the divorces in America have been planned and arranged between the soup and the demi-tasse, in the popular restaurants. And it is perfectly safe to bet that, if any man you you see dining in a cosy little rose-colored grill isn't making love to the woman opposite him, he is promising to give her a divorce.

As for the home-dinner, it offers so many things to quarrel about that only a moron could fail to find a good biting topic. By the time a man reaches the house evenings, a woman usually has a list of things a mile long that she's simply GOT to tell him, ask him, reproach him for, or accuse him of.

After a woman has been holding in a secret grievance all day, the sight of a man cheerfully consuming a large slice of rare roast beef makes him seem so much more "brutal," that she can no longer restrain her pent-up emotions.

Besides, haven't we been told for years that the psychological moment to strike for a new fur coat or a trip to Paris is just after you have served a man a perfect meal? And, isn't that always good for a hearty, rousing row?

A man, of course, prefers to do his quarreling at breakfast. The average man would be like an escaped menagerie around the office all day, if he did not have the right and opportunity to work off his moods and grouches, before leaving the house mornings. What's a wife FOR, anyway?

Look how surly and grumpy most old bachelors are! They have nobody to blame things on at breakfast, or to battle it out with at dinner. Their grouches go into the system and make them chronic cynics.

MUST not quarrel at meal-times? Suffering soulmates! Quarreling at meal-times is the great American safety-valve!

No theorist, no law, and no mere doctor can STOP us! We shall go right on quarreling at meal-times, just as Adam and Eve did, when they begun it, under the old apple tree!

TOMORROW'S HOROSCOPE

Saturday, February 4

When the heart is won the understanding is easily convinced.
C. SIMMONS.

THE astral activities for this day point to change, possibly involving travel and new affiliations. This may be related to domestic, social or romantic affairs, which carry a degree of opposition or harmony. Wise counsel should be brought to bear in this latter connection, although sudden decisions are foreseen.

Those whose birthday it is are likely to have an interesting and lively year, with sudden change and probable travel. It may help business contacts, but personal, especially romantic, affiliations have an adverse ray, which calls for caution as to sudden decisions.

A child born on this day may be original and inventive and may attain to prominence; but its personal affairs may not be wanting in opposition and may suffer through hypocrisy.

Discovered that Little Green Capsule Stops Rheumatic Pains and Agony

Go After the Swelling and Torture in the Right Way, the Knockout Way—One Little Green Capsule Every Hour for Ten Hours—Relief Almost Certain.

The fame of the little green capsule, because if its canny power to speedily stop the terrible rheumatic pains that make life almost unbearable, is rapidly spreading all over America.

You go about conquering your merciless rheumatic enemy in a different way—a knock-out way. Every hour the first day you take one little green capsule for just ten hours—then relief comes.

The second day, take one every two hours for 14 hours—Then take 6 little green capsules every day until every last little twinge and every bit of tenderness is gone and your rheumatic troubles have ceased.

The little green capsule now so much in demand from coast to coast must have a name so it is known in every worthwhile drug store in America as Allenrhu Number 2.

As is usual with successful remedies, there will probably be imitations so for your own protection insist on Allenrhu Number 2.

And please remember this—the little green Capsule must give you prompt relief—must give you abundant satisfaction—must free you from rheumatic distress or the price you pay for the first full bottle will be promptly refunded by McCulloch's 10 Convenient Drug Stores or any reputable druggist in America.

Fay King Scores the Sordid in Literature

THE BEAUTIFUL PRINCESS ALWAYS LONGED TO BE RESCUED FROM THE WICKED GIANT!
FAY KING

By FAY KING

SOME modern parents will withhold from their children the joy of reading Hans Christian Andersen's beautiful fairy stories, but approve of them reading any of the sordid fiction current.

Now, I do not believe in censorship, but I do believe in good sense in selection.

Why waste good time and eyesight reading stories that leave a dark brown mood in your mind, when on the next shelf is a book that will be like a beautiful flower?

When we take a walk we do not go out of our way to pick a dark, damp, muddy, slimy alley to wade in. We walk in the sun, and it's lovelier shadows.

Reading is taking a mental walk. Why choose as a companion a morbid author who deliberately exaggerates the sordid things of life and refuses to acknowledge the sunshine?

They are serving you the spoiled fruit of their imagination. You would not buy it from your grocery store—so why pay ten times as much for it at your book store?

Things don't have to be rotten to be real.

Remember an author's greatest stock in trade is IMAGINATION.

But in real life BEAUTY is the greatest influence. It is that which glitters but is not gold that deceives those who sink. It is the good that we see in the worst of us that blinds us to their faults.

So it is not the sordid that counts the most in life—or in books.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

by Royal S. Copeland M.D.
U.S. Senator From New York

Avoid Unripe or Overripe Fruits and Vegetables

IT is said that the human body is in reality a glorified chemical laboratory.

My son is in college and greatly interested in chemistry. Not long ago he visited a neighboring university and wrote home most enthusiastically about the chemical laboratory he saw there. Nothing else appeared to attract him as did that feature of the great institution.

But as compared with the laboratory of the body, all man-made establishments fade into obscurity. Without technicians and other experts, this laboratory of ours runs on without friction or disturbance. There are no explosions, no mixtures of incompatibles. Everything goes smoothly and successfully.

One of the chemical processes which must be carried on in order that digestion may be perfect, relates to the treatment of sugar. Cane sugar and beet sugar are examples of what we call "sucrose." Before the body can handle sugar the sucrose must be changed into "dextrose," or fruit sugar. That is one of the necessary demands upon the chemistry of the body.

The thing that set me off on this subject is a letter I just received from Nebraska. A lady wants to know about the wholesomeness of fruit not wholly ripe.

Of course, green fruit, for instance, the green apple, is not good for you. Did you ever have the colic after eating green apples? An apple is not "ripe" and ready for digestion until its sucrose has been converted into dextrose. Until that stage has arrived, the fruit is irritating and indigestible.

Of course, if you can keep the apple down, it will be acted upon by the chemical processes of the body and be changed into material which can be used. But it is far better, safer and more desirable in every way, to permit the sunlight and other natural agencies to prepare the fruit for easy digestion.

When the fruit is too ripe, there is created a material favorable to the growth of germs. In their turn they develop poisons, "toxins" as they are called. Some of these are capable of producing serious disturbances of health.

Decay of all sorts is the result of germ action. Since many such germs are unfriendly to the human body, it is unwise to eat overripe fruit and vegetables.

The fresher the fruits and vegetables, or the sooner they are consumed after the cans are opened, the better for health. Take no chances on unripe or overripe substances from the vegetable world.

SCAN ALLEGHENY VOTE FIRST IN VARE RECOUNT

BALLOT TALLY TO START MONDAY

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS,
Sun-Telegraph Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—The Vare-Wilson ballots cast in Allegheny county in the senatorial election in Pennsylvania on November 2, 1926, will be gone over first by the sub-committee of the Privileges and Elections Committee appointed to investigate the charges of fraud registered against Senator-Elect William S. Vare by William B. Wilson, his Democratic opponent.

The decision was reached during a two hours' executive committee meeting lasting from 11 a. m. to 1 p. m., yesterday.

It came as a surprise, as the subcommittee had planned originally to tackle the Philadelphia ballots first. It was Senator George H. Moses, Republican, of New Hampshire, a member of the sub-committee, who suggested that Allegheny instead be taken up at the outset of the recount.

START COUNT MONDAY

While machinery for the recount, which is to include the counties of Philadelphia, Allegheny, Delaware, Schuylkill, Lackawanna and Luzerne, in which Wilson specifically charges fraud against Vare and his political associates, was perfected at today's meeting, the inspection of the first Allegheny ballots is not expected to start until Monday.

At least six weeks will probably be consumed by the recount of the ballots cast in the six counties named by Wilson.

On Monday, Vare is to file an answer to the last amended complaint of election irregularities filed against him by Wilson with the committee. It was stated by those close to Vare, who is now in Florida, that his next reply to Wilson would be "both comprehensive and hot."

The recount is expected to proceed slowly, because members of the Jim Reed "slush fund" committee have evinced a desire to examine not only ballots, but all of the election records relating to them, in a search for fraud.

It was explained that a force of 30 divided into teams of two each would be set to work upon the ballots at the beginning and would be increased, if found necessary.

The "counters" will be established in a basement room of the Senate Office Building, from beyond the grilled iron doors of which everybody else but those officially identified with the recount will be excluded.

Vare will be represented by Harry Kuenzel, a Philadelphia county commissioner, and Wilson by Robert Carson, a former Philadelphia magistrate. Both Kuenzel and Carson have been through many a political contest.

Leon Ripley, a former state senator of New Hampshire and a personal friend of Senator Moses, will be chief supervisor of the recount, with Philip Turner, a clerk in the United States Census Bureau, acting as chief tabulator.

The "counters" will be employed from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. daily at a wage of $6 a day.

DELAYS LIKELY

Tally sheets and other printed forms for the use of the clerical and supervising force are now being rushed through the government printing office so they may be available first thing Monday morning.

Neither Wilson or Vare will be represented by counsel at the recount, but when a dispute may arise between Kuenzel, as Vare's counsel, and Carson, as Wilson's counsel, over any phase of the recount, counsel on either side are to be so informed, an exception taken by the disputant, and the matter carried to the sub-committee for final decision. As such disputes are deemed certain to arise they may serve to further delay the final result.

Newspaper reporters will not be permitted to be present at the recount, but will be dependent upon statements from committee members and officials as to what is transpiring behind the locked doors of the room in which the ballots and other election material will be inspected.

The ballots of Allegheny, as well as those of Philadelphia, are now in sealed pouches in the Senate Office Building basement. Those in Delaware, Schuylkill, Lackawanna and Luzerne are to be brought here as soon as possible, in the custody of representatives of the sergeant-at-arms of the Senate, who will serve subpenas upon Federal Court officers now holding them in Pennsylvania.

Several ballot boxes are known to be missing from Allegheny county, a greater number from Lackawanna, Luzerne and Schuylkill, but Senator Caraway, a member of the sub-committee, expressed the opinion that this would not affect the final result. He added that the subcommittee would probably accept the certified returns in those precincts where ballots were found to be missing.

Edward W. Wells, former state referee, and Edward W. Kelly, Philadelphia attorneys representing Vare, were on hand today, but were forced to wait outside the committee room with the newspaper men. Wells, Kelly and Kuenzel have established themselves in a suite at the Willard Hotel for the length of the recount.

Wilson is residing here at present with his daughter, Miss Agnes Hart Wilson. Carson will keep them and Wilson's counsel, David Wallerstein of Philadelphia, and Rowland B. Mahany of Washington, informed as to the progress of the recount.

EVICTED, SHE GETS $1,750

A consent verdict of $1,750 in favor of Mrs. Mary E. Oliver in her suit against Attorney Jacob I. Simon and the Liberty Law Building, Inc., was returned by a jury in Common Pleas Court today on instructions from Judge Richard W. Martin. Mrs. Oliver, continuing the business of her husband, J. D. Oliver, following his death, alleged that she was evicted from premises at 507 Fifth avenue after three months had expired on a two-year lease. She sued for $50,000.

Houston Judge Opens Fire On Police

WASHINGTON, Pa., Feb. 3.—Judge Erwin Cummins opened fire verbally against the police of his own community, Houston, yesterday during the hearing of an appeal filed by Joseph Dugan, pool room proprietor, who had been fined by a justice of the peace for permitting gambling games in his place.

"I have been tempted to make prosecutions myself," the judge said. "I have called the attention of police to open gambling in Houston, but nothing is done. In the basement of one of the Main street business houses, a gambling game is conducted regularly, and I know of one business man who lost several hundred dollars at one sitting."

Judge Cummins placed Dugan on probation for three months.

CHANGE NAMES OF 21 STREETS

The names of 21 streets in old Union township, now part of the Twentieth Ward, are to be changed so that there will be no duplication in names of streets in other parts of the city, according to the provisions of an ordinance to be acted upon Monday by City Countl. The township recently was made a part of the city. The recommendations for the changes were made by the City Planning Commission.

The proposed changes follow: Bank street, to be changed to Tole street, Beverly place to La Salle avenue, Center street to Compton street, Church way and Revine way changed to Echo way, Coal street to Belham street, Curran avenue to Dwight avenue, Denlin street to Dalemount street, Front street to Fore street, John street to Bexley street, Jones street to Wrenson street, Lewis street to Bowmore street, Linden avenue to Dalemount street, Mary street to Midhurst street, Pitt street to Oxley street, Robert street to Roseberry street, Stanley avenue to Ordinance avenue, Union avenue to Younger avenue, Union way to Henwood way, Water way to Stone way.

VICOMTE DE LECHE

Vicomte Alain De Leche, French poet, has his own opinion of flappers. "My!" he opined, "they read too much." The vicomte, in New York taking it easy preparatory to starting for the West on a lecture tour, has a new technique of love. Not only does he believe the woman should choose the man, but he holds that from earliest girlhood she should be trained in the idea that she should select and secure the man she wants.

The St. Olaf Lutheran Choir, with F. Melius Christiansen, director, paid its annual visit in Syria Mosque last night. I could speak with assurance of the work of this body of singers without even attending the concert, but their singing is so unusually pleasant and musical I am more anxious than ever not to miss a note.

In appraising the singing of these students, one must consider that the personnel of the choir changes to the extent of at least twenty-five new members when the university year opens, that these new voices must be blended into the ensemble before the next tour begins. There is where one realizes the genius of Christiansen as director. To prepare such a choir to sing without accompaniment, by memory, and with such musical feeling and reverence is no mean task, yet no other group of singers has ever been so utterly satisfying in a program of both secular and church songs.

If sometimes the intonation skimmed along on very thin ice, new effects in humming, in staccato, in rapid passage singing more than compensated for that deficiency. An occasional solo voice was extremely fine. The audience was large and enthusiastic and listened eagerly to the encores, two delightful Tyrolean folk songs, Heiligste Nacht, and Auf dem Berge.

UNIONTOWN STRANGER'S IDENTITY IS SOUGHT

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Feb. 2.—His mind a blank, a man, about 25, believed to be from Peoria, Ill., found wandering on the streets, is being detained by police until his identity can be established. He was unable to give his name or any information concerning himself. A prescription blank in his pocket bore the name of "Dr. Milo T. Easton, 823 Peoria Life Building, Peoria, Ill.," and the name of the "Dekroyft Pharmacy," Peoria. He has dark hair, brown eyes, is 5 feet 8 inches tall and weighs 130 pounds.

AVOID UGLY PIMPLES

A pimply face will not embarrass you much longer if you get a package of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The skin should begin to clear after you have taken the tablets a few nights.

Cleanse the blood, bowels and liver with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the successful substitute for calomel; there's no sickness or pain after taking them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do that which calomel does, and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating.

No one who takes Olive Tablets is ever cursed with a "dark brown taste," a bad breath, a dull, listless, "no good" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition or pimply face.

Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; know them by their olive color.

Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result. Take nightly for a week. See how much better you feel and look. 15c, 30c, 60c.

RUTH'S ESTATE LEFT TO HER MOTHER

(Copyright, 1928, by The New York Daily Mirror and Universal Service. Reproduction in whole or in part expressly prohibited.)

By Universal Service.

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—Ruth Snyder, who met death in the electric chair with Judd Gray in Sing Sing, left the bulk of her estate to her mother. The last will of Mrs. Snyder, a facsimile of which is printed in the New York Daily Mirror, follows:

"LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT.

"Dated January 4, 1928

"In the name of God, Amen. I, Ruth Brown Snyder, now confined under judicial sentence, being or considering myself to be of sound and disposing mind and memory, and considering the uncertainties of life, do hereby make this my last will and testament, as follows:

"First: All of my jewelry, I give and bequeath to my beloved mother, Josephine Brown, in trust for my dear child, Lorraine Snyder, to have and to hold for and on behalf of my said child until she shall become 16 years of age, if, in the discretion of my mother, she is then competent to have and possess said jewelry, at which time all of said jewelry shall be delivered to my said daughter; or in case my mother shall, in her discretion, believe that my child should not have possession of the same until she becomes older, then, in that case, the possession of said jewelry shall go to my child whenever she shall become 18 years old, or sooner, in the discretion of my mother, or whenever she shall marry if before 18 years of age.

"Second: All the rest, residue and remainder of my estate, real, personal and mixed, I hereby devise, give and bequeath unto my dear mother, Josephine Brown, to [illegible] spose of as she may [illegible] because I know that [illegible] rovide for and educate [illegible] o the best of her ability; my two-thousand dollar life policy shall be paid to my mother, and I hereby make her the sole beneficiary thereof."

Ruth wrote at the bottom of the first pages "(See Page 2)", and signed the first page on its left-hand margin "Ruth B. Snyder." The second sheet, marked in her handwriting "(Second: Continued)" and "(Page 2)" follows:

"Also my $1,000 policy shall be [illegible] my mother, and I hereby [illegible] er the sole beneficiary

[illegible] R EXECUTRIX

[illegible] I hereby appoint my mother, Josephine Brown, the executrix and trustee of my last will, and I direct that she shall not be required to give any bond in either capacity to any court"—(Here Mrs. Snyder wrote "of official" when it is believed she intended to write "or official."—Editor.)—"or official to act as such.

"Fourth: A description of the jewelry mentioned above is as follows:

"1—One platinum setting, 2-karat diamond ladies' solitaire ring, with small diamonds surrounding.

"2—One platinum setting, seven diamonds, ¼-karat each, cluster ring.

"3—Diamond flexible bracelet, 3 stones, set in platinum.

"4—One bar pin with pearls and sapphires.

"5—Several other trinkets my mother knows.

"In witness whereof, I have executed this, my last will, this 4th day of January, 1928, at Ossining, N. Y.

"RUTH B. SNYDER (L. S.)

"Subscribed, sealed and published and declared by Ruth Snyder to be her last will and testament in the presence of the undersigned witnesses, who at her request and in her presence and the presence of each other con[illegible]uously, subscribe their names hereto.

(Witness)
"FRANK BAMBARA,
"78 Ray street, Jamaica, N. Y.
(Witness)
"JOHN J SHEEHY,
[illegible] Agate avenue, Ossining, N. Y.
(Witness)
"JOSEPH LONARDO,
[illegible] Court square, Long Island City, N. Y."

Sheehy is principal keeper at Sing Sing; the other witnesses are Ruth's lawyers.

The will does not mention the [illegible] in insurance under a policy on Albert Snyder's life, which is being contested as fraudulently obtained by the Prudential Insurance Company of North America, but if that suit is won by Mrs. Brown and the payment is ordered, it will be included in Ruth Snyder's residuary estate.

The murder bungalow in Queens Village should be worth from $11,-[illegible] to $15,000, real estate men say, but the stigma of murder has hurt its value, so that the highest price thus far offered for it has been [illegible].

The will is to be filed for probate Monday or Tuesday with the surrogate of Queens county, in Jamaica, by Attorney Joseph Lonardo.

RULE GRANTED AGAINST BANK

A few hours before she died the wife of George Patanyi, Grant street restaurateur, advised him to change a bank account of $5,100 from her name to a joint account. He complied, but failed to record the transaction officially. He checked out some of the cash, which resulted in complications. Then he restored the amount checked and the mixup reached Common Pleas Court yesterday when his counsel asked the court to determine the status of the account.

A rule was granted on the First National Bank to show cause why it should not enter the deposit in the joint names.

Coast-to-Coast Flight Beginning the Great Adventure

Final Tests of the Plane Satisfy; Weather Is Suitable; Off To New York

What Lindbergh carried on his trans-Atlantic flight has been variously reported. In his chapter of "We" in the Sun-Telegraph yesterday he gave an inventory of his supplies and equipment. No avoidable risks were taken. His story of the testing and outfitting of the ship made an interesting story.

His Arrival at Curtiss Field

By COL. CHARLES A. LINDBERGH.

CHAPTER XXVII.

THERE was a small clearing about 200 yards from the bush in which it was possible to land a slow ship. I landed at Camp Kearny and sent for one of the cabin Hisso Standards used by the Ryan Airlines for their passenger service between San Diego and Los Angeles.

When the Standard arrived I flew over and landed in the clearing near the lost board which was clearly visible from the air; but, after a 15-minute search, I was unable to locate it from the ground in the thick mesquite. So I took off my coat and spread it over the top of another bush, then took the air again with the Standard to locate the board in relation to the coat.

I had no difficulty in locating them both and found them to be about fifty yards apart. I landed again, but could not locate the board, so moved my coat to the spot where I thought it should be and took off again. This time I had placed the coat within twenty feet of the data board, but it required several minutes' search in the thick mesquite to finally locate it.

After I returned to Camp Kearny with the Standard, we made preparations for the weight tests of the Spirit of St. Louis.

All Tests Satisfactory

The tests were to be made starting with a light load and increasing the weight carried by about fifty gallons of fuel for each test up to 300 gallons, which was to be the maximum load tested. The plane passed its tests easily and took off with 300 gallons in 20 seconds or 1,023 feet, and made a maximum speed of 126 miles per hour. The tests were made in a quartering wind, varying from two to nine miles per hour, and at an elevation of about six hundred feet above sea level.

The final flight ended at dusk, and the plane was left under guard on the field over night. The next morning, after most of the gasoline had been drained, I flew it back to Dutch Flats, where final preparations were made for the flight to St. Louis.

I was delayed four days at San Diego by a general storm area over the United States that would greatly jeopardize the success of an over-night non-stop flight to St. Louis. From this flight I expected to obtain some very important data for use on the final hop from New York.

Off for St. Louis

On the afternoon of May 9, Dean Blake, chief of the San Diego Weather Bureau, predicted favorable flying conditions for the succeeding day. The next morning I took the plane to Rockwell Field, and at 2:55 p. m. (Pacific time) I took off from North Island with 250 gallons of gasoline for the flight to St. Louis, escorted by two Army observation planes and one of the Ryan monoplanes. We circled North Island and San Diego, then headed on a compass course for St. Louis.

The ship passed over the first ridge of mountains, about four thousand feet, very easily with reduced throttle. The escorting planes turned back at the mountains, and I passed on over the desert and the Salton Sea alone. And at sunset I was over the deserts and mountains of Western Arizona.

The moon was well above the horizon, and, with the exception of a short period before dawn, I was able to distinguish the contour of the country the entire night. I flew a compass course, passing alternately over snow-capped ridges, deserts and fertile valleys. One of the mountain ranges was over 12,000 feet high and completely snow-covered. I cleared this range by about five hundred feet and went on over the plains beyond.

On to New York

The mountains passed quickly and long before daybreak I was flying over the prairies of Western Kansas. At dawn I located my position about 20 miles south of the course, just east of Wichita, Kan. At 8 a. m., central standard time, I passed over Lambert Field and landed at 8:20 a. m., May 11, 14 hours and 25 minutes after leaving the Pacific coast.

The weather during the entire distance had been exactly as Dean Blake had predicted.

An 8:13 the next morning (May 12) I took off from Lambert Field for New York. The wind was west and the weather clear for the greater part of the distance. Over the Alleghanys, however, the sky was overcast and some of the mountain tops were in low hanging clouds and I followed the passes.

At 5:33 p. m., New York daylight saving time, I landed at Curtiss Field, Long Island.

NABBED TWICE AS RUMMER

Isaac Stein's supply of moonshine whisky and automobiles to carry it in apparently is unlimited, prohibition agents say. Last Friday, Stein, 31, of 3515 Frazier street, was arrested. His machine and its cargo of liquor were confiscated, agents say, and he posted $1,000 bond for a hearing before the United States commissioner. Last night he was arrested again when, it is alleged, he was found in a car with 18 five-gallon cans of moonshine, and he posted another $1,000.

Hostesses for Army Draw Ridicule

By Universal Service.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—Provisions in the War Department appropriation bill for employment of 13 hostesses in the Regular Army were ridiculed in the House yesterday by Representative Bulwinkle (Dem.) of North Carolina.

"Think of it, gentlemen, 13 hostesses for 118,000 men. What a busy crowd that must be," said Bulwinkle.

"They even have hostesses for the boys at training camps. If moral conditions are such that they need these hostesses, the youth of 17 years of age ought to stay home."

COL. THOMPSON IS BURIED AMID ARMY POMP AT BEAVER FALLS

GOVERNOR ATTENDS SERVICE

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., Feb. 3.—A flag-draped casket carried Col. Joseph H. Thompson, World War hero and sportsman extraordinary, to his grave in Beaver Falls Cemetery this afternoon. Hundreds, from the Governor of the Commonwealth to the youngest school child, stood with heads bared as taps were sounded for the one-time athlete whose health was smashed on the battlefields of France.

To Drape Legion Colors for Thompson

James J. Deighan, department adjutant of the American Legion, today advised all Legion posts of Pennsylvania to drape their colors for 30 days in memory of a departed comrade, Col. Joseph H. Thompson, whose funeral was held today at his late home in Beaver Falls.

Full military honors were arranged for Beaver Valley's distinguished citizen, whose death Wednesday ended a nine-year battle of overwhelming odds against a tool of war—gas. From the capital at Harrisburg came Gov. Fisher and a detail of state troopers. From Monessen, Monongahela City and New Brighton marched companies of the Pennsylvania National Guard. And the counties of Allegheny, Beaver, Lawrence and Butler sent former doughboys from the American Legion posts to join in the honorary escort.

"BUDDIES" PALLBEARERS

The pallbearers, comrades of "Col. Joe" in France, were Gen. Edward Martin, of Washington, Pa.; Capt. William Truxall, of Somerset; Capt. Walter Scott, of Monongahela City; Col. John Aiken, of Washington, Pa.; Lieut. Peck Lee, of Ellwood City, and Maj. J. Edward Boyle, of Beaver Falls.

The schools were closed and business was suspended out of respect for the warrior whose fighting spirit first won him renown as a football star at Western University of Pennsylvania and later as a coach on the same campus, University of Pittsburgh, its title changed.

The Rev. John Ray Ewers, pastor of East End Christian Church of Pittsburgh, an intimate friend of Col. Thompson, spoke of the peace program which the soldier-sportsman had fostered since Armistice Day.

Reminiscent of the days before November 11, 1918, James Bova, of East Monongahela, who was a sergeant in Company A, One Hundred and Tenth Infantry, and bugler and interpreter for Col. Thompson in France, sounded taps.

TITLED WOMAN BAGS MONSTER SAIL FISH

PALM BEACH, Fla., Feb. 3.—Lady Maude Warrender caught a monster sail fish on the edge of the Gulf Stream while fishing for shark. Her catch measured within an inch of seven feet and weighed close to 50 pounds. It was landed by her without assistance after a 45-minute fight.

HUNT LOST GIRL IN OLD HAUNTS

By International News Service

BOSTON, Feb. 3.—Search for Miss Frances St. John Smith, 18-year-old Smith College freshman, who disappeared three weeks ago, again centered in Milton today, where for three years prior to entering the Northampton institution the wealthy New York girl had been a student at Milton Academy.

Capt. Thomas E. Bligh, of the state detective force, assigned two of his aides to investigate a report that a girl answering the description of Miss Smith had obtained work in a Milton business house on January 20. The detectives interviewed W. F. Cribbs, of Jamaica Plain, who telephoned Capt. Bligh the information.

Cribbs told the officer over the telephone that the girl in question applied to a friend of his for work, saying she must obtain it. She obtained a position a short time afterwards and her actions led her employers to believe she was the missing Smith girl, Cribbs stated. Cribbs said he would take officials with him today and show them the girl.

Meanwhile state officers were investigating similar clues, indicating belief of Miss Smith being at work at one office or another throughout New England and the entire East.

Gets Her Man, Has Him Held As Thief

By Universal Service.

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—Catherine Burken got her man today. The 19-year-old girl has visited a different dance hall every night to find the man who stole her purse while dancing with her.

She caused the arrest of William Apel yesterday and the police are questioning him about a series of such thefts.

THE relationship between the physicians and the restaurant keepers is closer than one might suspect. At the present time they are working together on the prosaic subject of liver. For a long time the doctors looked upon liver as something hardly to be mentioned in polite society. In that period the restaurant men had liver in dark exile.

In recent years the medical men, seeking a cure for anemia, discovered that liver is one of the best things imaginable.

Since this latest decree restaurant men who used to pay something like five cents a pound for liver, when it was tolerated at all, now pay more for liver than they pay for turkey.

At one table in a downtown restaurant recently no less than five men at one table ordered liver. One of them was a doctor.

EATING in Pittsburgh as in many other places has been reduced to a lesser point of ecstacy than in the old days when there was more leisure. Who remembers the original Atlantic Garden in Diamond street, operated by two German artists, Gus and Joe Bihlman, later taken over by George Kramer, father of the Harry Kramer who conducts the present Atlantic Garden in Graeme street?

THE old Atlantic Garden was a bit of Germany transplanted in these states. It was a saloon and eating place, but the fellow who would ask for such horribles as liquor or gin would be gently told that here one might partake of the best products turned out by the most learned brewers of the world, but as for those plebeian commonplaces, whisky and gin: "Well, my friend, you had better try some other place."

DIAMOND street in those days was so narrow that two wagons had a difficult time moving abreast of each other. The original Atlantic Garden, on the site of the Olympic Theater, was paved with bricks; there was no roof, and at various points were natural trees. There also was a fountain in which somber frogs disported, when they were not meditating, and in which, too, restless fish pursued their fancy.

A GUTTURAL "Hoch," often would be heard as a stout Teuton lifted foaming glass to lips, and here affairs of the old world and their relation to the new were discussed.

PATRONIZING Bihlman's and later George Kramer were the famous men of the day. One in particular is remembered by some of the patriarchs. The one in question used to come around the vaudeville houses of the city, with a horse, a lady and a lariat as his props.

He showed great dexterity as a handler of the lariat and most amazing stunts would he perform.

But he discovered that audiences were more interested in what he said than in what he did. Later the horse disappeared, still later the woman of the act, and now he almost has given up stage performances to write his witticisms for the newspaper syndicates and the magazines. His name was and is Will Rogers.

ROGERS and many another who have grown famous patronized Bihlman's and later Kramer's. One of the customers, for instance, was a man named Ferris. That name doesn't mean anything to you until you learn that Ferris was the man, after whom that aerial vehicle, peculiar to circuses and carnivals known as the Ferris Wheel, was called.

SOME day when you get time ask Harry Kramer, the connecting link with the dead past and the interesting present, about Ferris, Rogers, and the old Atlantic Garden in narrow Diamond street.

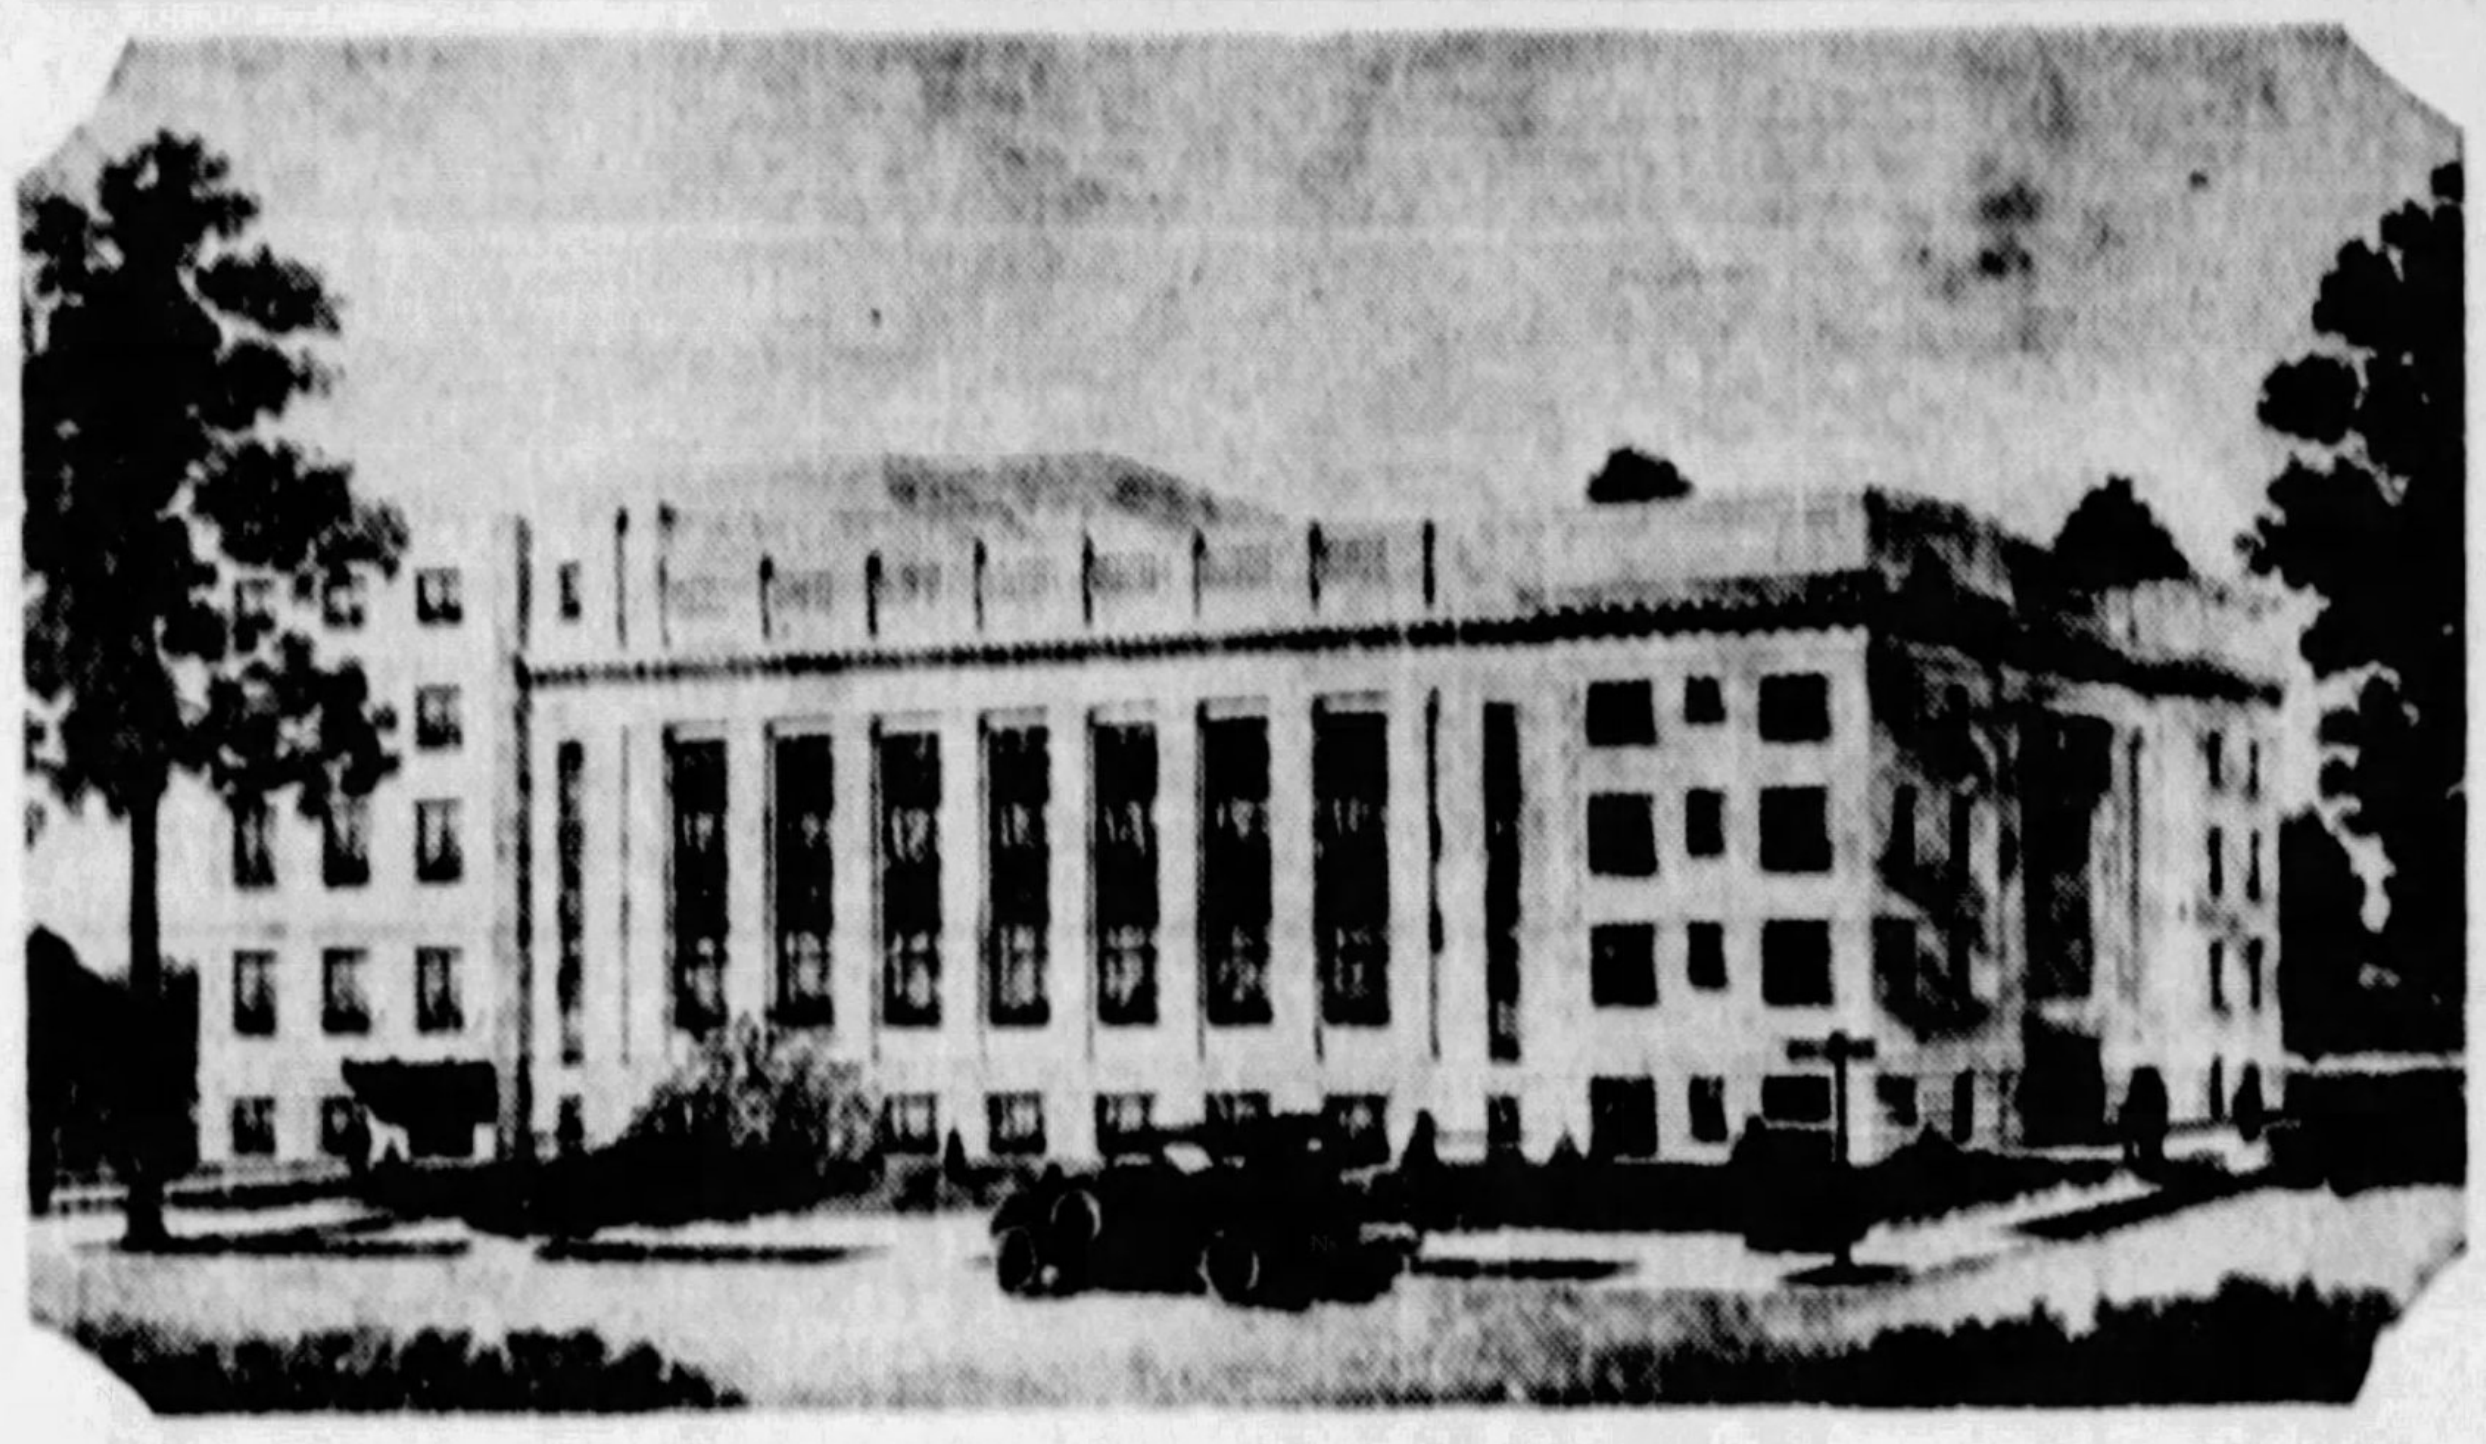
PITTSBURGHERS WANT TOWN HALL



WASHINGTON, D. C., AUDITORIUM

The building pictured is the city auditorium at New York avenue and Nineteenth street, Washington, D. C. It was built with private capital in January, 1925, and since that time has been used for the presentation of concerts and other entertainment, as well as meetings and conventions. At a Town Hall dinner to be held in the William Penn Hotel, February 6, Allegheny County Commissioners will be asked to support a bond issue for funds to erect a similar building in Pittsburgh.

WURTEMBERG RESIDENTS WILL DISCUSS BOROUGH

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 2.—Lacking even ordinary necessities, despite high taxes, residents of Wurtemburg, will meet Saturday night to urge the creation of a borough out of that section of Wayne township. They have no sewers, no electric light or power, no gas lines, no telephone service and no police protection, the proponents of a borough say. While they do not expect gas, light and telephone service out of their taxes, they say if the town was improved the public service companies would extend their lines.

Pat Breaks His Arm and Lily Decides Not To Leave Him

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

LILLY LEXINGTON, spoiled daughter of the CYRUS LEXINGTONS, is engaged to marry STALEY DRUMMOND, a rich bachelor much older than herself. She is fond of him, but realizes she does not really love him the day after she accepts him, when she becomes instantly and violently infatuated with a taxicab driver whom she sees down town when she goes to meet her chum, SUE CAIN. Forgetting all about Sue, she jumps into his cab and he drives her home. She learns that his name is PAT FRANCE and that he owns his own cab in a company headed by his friend, ROY JETTERSON. She marries Pat. Lily tried, and their domestic ship sailed smoother for a few months. One day Lily met SUE CAIN, an old friend, on the street. Sue invited her to a card party. Lily, without funds, went to a store and tried to charge some clothes to her father. She was informed her mother had left word that "Mrs. Patrick France could not charge things to Mr. Lexington." Staley Drummond has been buying her clothes and furs and tries to persuade her to divorce Pat and marry him.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

THEN they took the furs back to Hyde and Hyde's store. "We'll exchange them for something you can wear, but that nobody can see," Staley said.

Lily shook her head. "No," she said. "You bought me the furs to keep me warm, and I'm not going to take any other present. I needed the furs—just as I needed the clothes for Sue's party. But I don't need anything else right now."

She was afraid to take anything else of value back to the house. . . Pat's eyes, grown suspicious suddenly, would be sure to find it out. And he would ask questions, and there would be another rumpus—and she did not want to have any more trouble. If she left, she was going to leave in peace. There had been enough quarreling.

"I'm going to leave my husband, Staley, I think," she told him when she left him at dusk. "If I do, I'll leave tomorrow or the next day—and then you can buy me anything you wan to buy me."

Her plans were not perfectly clear to her, but one thing was, at last. She was not going to stay with Pat any longer and be a human broom and dish mop. She was through. . . . Last night had decided her. The only thing to do was to leave Pat and divorce him. Their life together had become a nightmare.

But divorce! What a terrible thing it was, thought Lily on her way home through the cold blue dusk of the November day.

She wondered how she was going to go through with it. . . . the first days of separation from Pat, particularly. They would be terrible.

"For I do love him," she thought, "even if I can't live with him."

And so, arguing it all out with herself, she made up her mind.

CHAPTER XLIII.

LILY came home to the little flat that November night with her mind fully made up to leave it—and Pat—within the next day or two.

She made a little face as she sniffed the odor of frying cabbage and pork chops that filled the hall as she went up the steps. She fitted her key into the lock and stepped into the living room.

It was in darkness, and the second she put her foot over the threshold she knew that someone was there with her. . . . There was no sound, no movement, nothing but darkness, and yet she knew it beyond a doubt.

She went cold all over, and her flesh began to creep.

And then, as she reached for the electric light switch, Pat's voice came to her from out of the darkness—"Lily?"

She knew it was his voice, and yet it was not like his voice. It frightened her.

"What's the matter, Lover?" she found herself asking anxiously, as the lights flashed up . . . and while she was saying it she told herself that that was no way to talk to a man whom she was about to give up for another man.

He was sitting in his easy chair, and his right arm was bandaged from shoulder to wrist with folds and folds of cotton gauze. His face was white and drawn. Looking at him, Lily knew how much she loved him—as she had not known it for a long time.

Instantly she was across the room and down on her knees beside him. "Why, darling, what's happened?"

He tried to smile as if whatever had happened did not matter. "Oh, I was trying to crank that car of Roy's and the thing flew back and gave me a nasty knock," he explained. "Broke my arm, the Doc says."

"And here you were, sitting all alone in the dark, while I was out gallivanting!" Lily told him, all pity and tenderness now, where a moment before she had been as hard and cold as steel. "Oh, Pat, I'm so sorry! What can I do for you?"

There were a dozen things that she might have done for him, if she had known what they were and how to do them. She might have tucked a pillow under the bandaged arm, in its splints and sling. She might have made him go to bed and she might have given him a glass of hot milk to make him sleep.

But Lily had none of the instincts of a nurse or a comforter. And so all she did was to put her arms around Pat and tell him how sorry she was, again and again, punctuating her words with quick little kisses.

That was just what Pat wanted, however. He lay back in his chair with closed eyes and smiled peacefully.

"Can't do much work for a couple of weeks, I guess, dearest," he said to her presently, his free hand running over her soft, bright hair as she sat on the floor with her head on his knees. "I've done all I could do on the piston ring, anyway, for a while, and we're going to try to start selling them right after the first of the year. So there wasn't much for me to do right now except help Roy in the garage."

"Will he pay you your salary?" Lily asked, all thought of separation from Pat swept from her mind in this new surge of love for him. She would never leave him now, she told herself.

"Oh, he'll give me something," Pat answered easily. "Of course, he'll have to hire someone to take my place, and he hasn't any too much money right now—

Why, how can you say that when he just bought Sadye a new little car?" Lily broke in. "He'll just have to pay it. He's going to make plenty of money out of your invention after a while. That is, if it's a success."

Pat smiled. "Yes, but you don't believe it's going to be a success," he reminded her. "You think I waste my time down in the shop all day, you know—"

Lily stopped him by laying her hand over his lips.

"Will you please be still, and not throw up to me all the beastly things I said last night?" she asked him. "I was just angry because you wouldn't let me keep those furs—I didn't really mean half the things I said to you.

Pat's face became grave for an instant. "Did you take the furs back to the store?" he asked.

"I did," Lily nodded, telling a half-truth. "Let's not talk about them, Pat. Let's forget them or we'll quarrel again. Darling, do you know I love you after all? Even when we're fussing and quarreling, and even when I'm discontented—even then I love you!"

Pat put his left arm around her, holding her tight, and both of them forgot the weeks of unhappiness they had just come through . . . just as people forget bodily pain as soon as it leaves them.

That night when Pat was asleep in bed, Lily wrote to Staley Drummond.

"Today after I left you I made up my mind that I would go home and pack up my things," she told him in the little note that she scribbled, sitting at the kitchen table. "But when I got home I found Pat with a broken arm, and I am taking care of him. So, of course, I have changed all of my plans."

She signed her name to it, and read it over.

She took it down to the post box at the corner of the Boyle street and dropped it in, sure, as she did it, that she was all through with Staley.

"If I love Pat so much that the sight of his arm in splints can make me feel like this, I'm certainly better off married to him, even if we are wretchedly poor, than I would be divorced from him," she decided.

Before a week had gone by she began to regret mailing that letter.

For after a day or two it began to be very tiresome to have Pat hanging around the house from morning until night.

It was tiresome to have to help him shave and dress in the mornings. It was a bore and a bother to have to cut up his food for him and to help him eat.

It got on her nerves to bend down a hundred times a day—it seemed a hundred times, at any rate—to pick up the ashes, the newspapers and the magazines that he dropped.

Worst of all, Roy and Sadye Jetterson took to dropping in to see him every day. Usually they came at supper time, when Lily was at her busiest, and the house was looking very untidy.

"You ought to get some cedar oil for this woodwork," Sadye said one night, her eyes going over the blue glaze on the near-mahogany door and window frames. "It's wonderful for polishing, Lil."

She handed Lily a large glass jar of jellied chicken broth that she had brought for Pat. She was always bringing him something. Sometimes it was a little sponge cake, golden and light as it could be. Sometimes it was a bowl of baked custard or tapioca.

"Just as if I wasn't cooking for you!" Lily said to Pat when she and Roy had gone. "I hate the way she always brings you something to eat—as if she thought I wasn't giving you the proper things! Doggone her eyes!"

Pat laughed. "She's just trying to be neighborly, Honey," he explained soothingly. "And besides, she is an awfully good cook—I could stand some of that broth right now."

Lily set her jaw. "I'm cooking chops for you," she said. "Lamb chops."

There they were in the pan—four of them—hard and dry and burned. Lily never had learned to cook chops well.

Pat shot a quick glance at them. "I believe I'd like the broth tonight. It's nice and light," he said quietly.

Unfortunately Lily saw the glance. She picked up the half-gallon glass jar of broth from the sink and began to unscrew the top.

"All right," she said evenly. But her breath began to come thick and fast as her anger rose.

Then suddenly she threw the top down into the sink, took the heavy jar in both hands and hurled it in the direction of the open window.

Her aim was poor, and it might have broken against the window sill or on the floor, but at that second Pat started across the kitchen and it caught him squarely upon the right arm, just above the elbow.

He never made a sound. But his lips tightened back across his teeth and he fell back against the wall with his left hand clutching the bandages and the splints.

"Pat—Pat! I've hurt you! I've broken your arm again! O-oh, my rotten temper!" Lily wailed, seeing what she had done instantly. She rushed to him and tried to put her arms around him, but he shook her off.

Mary Harrison Gets a Rise Out of Noel Veritzen by Praising a Potential Rival amusement as I watched Mary Harrison's tactics when she thought she saw in Noel Veritzen an undue alacrity to accept my suggestion that we go to The Larches and invite Eleanor Lincoln to dinner upon the coming Saturday night.

I knew that she was jealous of the young chatelaine of The Larches and Miss Lincoln's open attempts to win Noel's attentions. She had expressed herself so freely upon that point in both Mother Graham's presence and mien that her Victorian grandmother had been shocked, and had half-heartedly reproved the girl for her frankness. But Mary's course of action at Noel's quick acceptance of my invitation would have done credit to the most indirect of her feminine forbears.

She banished the frown from her face before Noel had a chance to see it and sprang up from her seat, her face apparently filled with delight.

"Oh! Auntie Madge!" she caroled, "how perfectly scrumptious! I've been dying to go over to The Larches ever since that day at the station when you came home. Funny, isn't it, she has'nt been here since. I wonder if Mr. George Logan Jackson ever let her have that wonderful dog. Who knows? Maybe we'll see him over there. I thought the understudy for the Prince of Wales was quite impressed with her, didn't you?"

Her face was turned fully toward me, but obliquely toward Noel. He could not possibly see the impudent wink with which she favored me as she finished her little speech, and which almost twisted my laughter muscles into open merriment. But he received squarely the implication she wished him to get, of her reception to another sight of the young man whose frank though unspoken admiration of her loveliness had so enraged Noel at the railroad station.

The young violinist had no such control of his features as had Mary. I knew that this was partly a result of his temperament, and partly because his feeling for her was a genuine passion, while hers was as yet a careless affectionate liking, untouched by any deeper feeling. I found myself wishing, not for the first time, that Noel would respond, if only in pretense, to the advances of Eleanor Lincoln, and give Mary a sample of the provoking, careless treatment which she was according him.

Just now, however, he was frowning blackly, chiefly, I guessed, because Mary's barbed little speech gave him no chance for any particular grievance which he could voice. He knew he had felt the tiny jabs of a stilletto, but he was not certain what was meant by the attack.

"Surely, Mrs. Graham," he turned to me, "there will be no chance of our meeting that awful bounder of The Larches. Miss Lincoln does not appear to be a girl who would pick up an acquaintance like that."

"Oh, Noel, darling," Mary chirped, "pull the earmuffs and blinders off and realize you belong in this century, not the last one. You don't appear to know your carrots at all. In the first place, I'll wager the run in my new pair of stockings that Mr. George Logan Jackson isn't a bounder at all. In the second place, if Miss Lincoln wouldn't manage an acquaintance with a nifty lad like that, I would in a minute. Now go ahead, throw the guillotine as soon as you're ready."

ARE YOU a "TOXIC"

Those Dizzy Spells

They're something to take seriously—those dizzy spells and floating specks. They usually indicate a serious poisoned condition of the system which may end in kidney or heart trouble and high blood pressure. It all starts with our abnormal living habits, which put too great a strain upon the vital organs, especially the liver. The liver becoming "limp" or sluggish fails to cleanse the blood of toxic poisons formed in food waste. Then a toxic condition of the system which results in serious diseases of the blood, heart and blood vessels.

It is agreed that occasionally the liver needs a little help. Nothing better for this, as medical men have found, than a little ox gall. Ox gall is a remarkable natural stimulant for the human liver, renewing and restoring it so that it can properly perform its function of purifying the blood and keeping the system clean and wholesome. But you want to be certain of getting the genuine ox gall. This is assured by asking for Dioxol tablets, each of which represents 10 drops of pure ox gall in dainty and tasteless form. Dioxol tablets come in a plainly marked package and cost less than 2c each—at good druggists.

ISLAND GIVES LINDY WILD OVATION

By HERSCHELL FOX,

Universal Service Staff Correspondent.

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, Feb. 2—"We" arrived safely at the aviation Field at Puerta de Fierra at 1:55 o'clock yesterday, flying from St. Thomas, Virgin Islands, 70 miles away.

With a tremendous crowd going wild with enthusiasm, Col. Lindbergh was greeted by Gov. Towner, whose speech of welcome was nearly drowned by the ringing of church bells and the booming of a salute from old Fort San Cristobal.

Col. Lindbergh was met on the landing field by Gov. Towner. He was taken at once through San Juan's flag-bedecked streets resounding with martial music to a special stand erected on the front portico of the government house, where he reviewed the grand parade.

Col. Lindbergh tonight was the guest of honor at a reception at the governor's palace, visited the Rotary Club and the Chamber of Commerce, and attended the Porto Rican carnival, where he was introduced to Edna Coll, queen of the carnival, one of the most beautiful young women in Porto Rico.

At the carnival ball the "queen" was garbed as an aviatrix as a special tribute to the famous visitor.

PLAN HAVANA FETE

HAVANA, Feb. 2—Final plans for the monster reception to be accorded Col. Lindbergh upon his arrival here next Wednesday, were complete today.

The program, in brief, is as follows:

Wednesday — Due at Columbia Field at about 4 o'clock.

Thursday—Luncheon at the Officers' Club as guest of the Cuban army; reception at American Embassy for the American colony; ball at the Yacht Club in honor of the conference delegates.

Friday—Reception in open air by Mayor Gomez and officials of Havana.

Saturday—Ball at the Havana Country Club.

14 ARE FINED IN 4 RAIDS

The city's coffers were enriched $775 in Morals Court today when Magistrate A. D. Brandon collected salty fines from 14 men and women arrested as keepers or inmates of four disorderly houses in the Hill district.

A fifth place raided was the Galtzman store at 2216 Forbes street, which has been raided 39 times, Inspector John P. Clancey testified. Alfred Galtzman was fined $100 and 60 gallons of moonshine were seized.

At a Colwell street house Capt. James Hoey and his raiding squad battered down the bolted doors and arrested six women and six men, taking Betty Romano as the proprietor.

THANKS COURT FOR SENTENCE

With a broad grin and a hearty "Thank you, Judge," Lorenzo Smith, 30, Negro, of 43½ Logan street, received a penitentiary sentence of one to two years yesterday from Judge James R. MacFarlane, exciting much amusement in Criminal Court.

He was on parole from a previous sentence in the penitentiary and must now complete it. He pleaded guilty to snatching a purse containing $21 from Mrs. Estella Cochran, of 2439 Wadsworth street, January 18. He was captured when Mrs. Cochran chased him into the arms of a policeman.

MAJOR WM. O. M'NARY SUCCUMBS IN DENVER

Word has been received in this city of the death of Maj. William O. McNary, at his home in Denver, Colo., where he has made his home for the last five years. Maj. McNary was born in Bloomington, Ind. He was admitted to the Allegheny County Bar in 1898 and practiced law in Pittsburgh for about 15 years. He was, for several years, judge-advocate on Gen. John A. Wiley's staff, with the rank as major. He leaves his widow, Martha Chalfant McNary, one son and three daughters.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Aero Club Ball Tonight Brings Visions to Society Set of Migration Like Birds to Sunny South

ENLIVEN AERO CLUB'S :-: ANNUAL BALL TONIGHT

MISS NICOLA MISS JOHNSON MISS SCOTT

Josephine Nicola, Mary Louise Johnson and Betty Scott are seen wearing the gay costumes of crimson velvet and cloth of gold in which they will appear tonight as they sell cigarets at the Aero Club ball in the William Penn Hotel.

MISS OLIVER MISS GOLDSBURY

Mary Oliver and Virginia Goldsbury also are included in the group of nine girls, all recent debutantes, who will be aides at tonight's ball.

MANY a member of the Pittsburgh society set has postponed southern travel plans because of the sixth annual ball of the Aero Club, the leading event of tonight, to be held in the William Penn Hotel as usual. Perhaps society folk are not entirely altruistic in their support of the Aero Club benefit. Who knows but what many hope, by their encouragement, to hasten the day when they can jump into a plane and almost by magic be in the South without a long, tedious trip. When this quick traveling becomes the mode, the financiers of the city can join their families for the week-ends.

Several prominent matrons have already been announced as assisting the ball committee, and a few more have been added to their number. Among them are Mrs. G. Greer Coolidge, Mrs. Christian I. Shannon, Mrs. B. B. E. Dickson, Mrs. Leonard G. Woods, Mrs. George S. Ebberts, Mrs. Harmar D. Denny, Jr., Mrs. Edward Hussey Binns, Mrs. George B. Berger and Mrs. W. W. Lermann.

Those of the socially elect who have already left town do not seem to be suffering from a famine of social diversion.

I hear that Mrs. Robert Carson, Jr., was the guest on Wednesday night at a dinner given by Congressman Harry A. Estep and Mrs. Estep. Needless to say, the dinner was given in the nation's capital. Later Mrs. Carson attended the reception of the Pennsylvania State Society. She is the house guest of the Esteps.

Recently Mrs. Carson has spent the greater part of the time in New York. She manages, however, to come home to Pittsburgh occasionally. Like that brilliant member of the social set, Mrs. W. Harry Brown, she spends much time in other cities in Europe as well as this country where she is always much entertained.

Although Ormond Beach, Florida, seems to be the most popular winter resort, with Pittsburgh society folk, a goodly number of the set look with favor upon Augusta, Georgia. Among these is Mrs. William Ward Frick, of Sewickley, who has gone there with the W. E. Fricks. The Fricks stopped in New York several days en route, I am told. Mrs. Richard T. Frick went to New York with them, returning to Sewickley this morning.

Mrs. Thomas H. Bakewell, of Fifth avenue, will return shortly from Gotham, after a brief sojourn. Mrs. Richard M. Jennings, of Fifth avenue, and the junior H. S. A. Stewarts, of the Hotel Schenley, have also been in this London of the United States recently.

After Frances Schoen and Katherine Clapp are married tomorrow and Ellen Stone on Wednesday, there is little prospect of any notable weddings until June ushers in the season of brides.

Virginia Clifford, daughter of John McElroy Clifford, whose engagement to John Dalzell II, son of the William Sage Dalzells, was announced last June, expects to name a late spring date for her wedding.

Mrs. William Thaw, Jr., after spending a few days in New York, has returned to the city.

Miss Elizabeth Sheridan Maxwell, daughter of Mrs. William McNair Maxwell of Squirrel Hill, has chosen February 16 as the date for her marriage to Robert G. Eckhardt of Morewood avenue. Mrs. Jacob Black Grahame entertained with a bridge tea last Saturday for her sister.

Mrs. Gertrude Darragh, of Shady avenue, has made known the marriage of her daughter, Mrs. Alice D. Lincoln, to Thomas Eastman, of Baltimore. Mr. and Mrs. Eastman will spend the remainder of the winter in California.

The marriage of Miss Mary Elizabeth Johnston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Johnston, of Aylesboro avenue, and John W. Lewis, son of Mrs. Harriet M. Lewis, of New York, was solemnized yesterday at 5:30 o'clock in the Johnston home by the Rev. Dr. William Woodfin, pastor of the Third United Presbyterian Church. The bride wore pale beige crepe and carried yellow roses and lilies of the valley. After a trip, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis will be at home in New York.

A short talk on ancestry, the genealogist's hobby, was given yesterday before the Epoch Club, which is studying its members' hobbies this year. The talk was given by Mrs. Henry Burrell, mother of Mrs. Philip N. Harrison, who discussed sources of information and how to trace them and also spoke on the desirable chart form. Mrs. Norman W. Storer, of Reynolds street, was hostess. Music was furnished by Mrs. E. E. Baker, who sang.

David J. Terry, executive secretary of the Children's Service Bureau, will address the Parent-Teacher Association of the Liberty Public School Monday evening. Mrs. Norman Dicking is chairman of the hostess committee. Mrs. Herbert Graham and the social committee members will form the reception committee.

* * *

Mrs. Charles R. Knapp, of the Congress of Clubs scholarship committee, is to speak Saturday, February 11, at a meeting of the Dormont Young Woman's College Club. Mrs. Elery Rudert, of Cochran road, Mt. Lebanon, will be hostess.

A dinner meeting of the Authors' Club will be held Monday in the Garden tea room, with Prof. Albert Feuillerat, distinguished French critic, as the guest of honor. Prof. Feuillerat is professor of English at the University of Rennes and visiting professor of Columbia University.

The February meeting of the Thomas Wightman Parent-Teacher Association, which will be held Tuesday evening, will be in the nature of a reception to the teachers of the school. The speaker will be Mrs. Fredecik B. Chalfant, recently elected member of the Board of Education. She will speak on "Better Magazines," the movement for which she started in Pittsburgh.

* * *

Mrs. Samuel Black Linhart is general chairman for the annual international luncheon of the American Association of University Women, which will be held at the Hotel Schenley tomorrow. Rennie Smith, a member of the English House of Commons and author of the book, "General Disarmament or War?" will be the speaker and Arthur Davis will sing.

Margaret Story, lecturer and author, will begin a class in conversational English at the East Liberty Young Women's Christian Association Tuesday evening. This class is an outgrowth of the former class in etiquette.

RESIDENTIAL PERFECTION—

SCHENLEY APARTMENTS

ELEGANCE of surroundings, with a residential apartment group; is one thing—completeness of service is quite another!

At Schenley Apartments both are assured—here is an environment of luxury and a service unexcelled anywhere.

While 125 service employees are constantly engaged in providing for the comfort and convenience of tenants, there is also available the dining and entertaining service of the Hotel Schenley as adapted to apartment requirements.

Consider also the indispensable convenience of the coffee shoppe, restaurant, delicatessen, and many diversified fine shops on the premises and answerable early and late to the house phone.

Here is an exclusive community within itself, splendidly located in the heart of Pittsburgh's Civic Center, to which modern living conveniences are attached as spokes to a hub.

Scour the pans!
but they won't come clean

WHY? The water is hard. Hard water right out of the faucet. But instead of nice, sudsy water, there's a greasy ring around the basin. The soap has mixed with the hard water to form scum. And the scum goes on the wash cloth, and smears the pans.

Soft water is different. It will clean. Hard water can be made soft by adding Melo. Melo will give the cleanser a chance to work. Scour the pots! Scour the pans! But do it with soft water. Get a can of Melo today at your grocer's.

"The Lovelorn"

A Great Screen Play of the Jazz Era

Though they were sisters, they were as different as two girls could be. One loved jazz and excitement; the other cared only for the old-fashioned virtues—

But—

Both loved the same man.

It is a thrilling story, from the pen of Beatrice Fairfax, world-famous adviser to the lovelorn.

MACFARLANE RAPS POLICE JUDGES

Judge James R. Macfarlane, who has frequently assailed illegal sentences and releases by police magistrates and justices of the peace during his five months as presiding judge of Criminal Court, paid further compliment to peace officers.

"You are lucky I'm not a police magistrate," he remarked, imposing a 30-day workhouse sentence on Edward Manning, 30, riverman, for attacking Catherine Byrne, after she left their Sandusky street house for an Oakland rival, according to his story.

"I'm not a squire or police magistrate, thank heaven, and cannot do the things they do," Judge Macfarlane observed in remanding to jail Jim Dawson and Willis Hill, of Lawrenceville. He refused to accept pleas of guilty when they denied charges of entering freight cars in the Twenty-first street yards and taking bags of produce.

His attacks on the practices in the summary courts are regarded as having a leading part in the release yesterday of 56 prisoners from the jail and workhouse on writs of habeas corpus.

Punishment of peace officers for these practices has been considered by the courts and District Attorney Samuel H. Gardner, it is reported.

SEEK SUSPECT IN SLAYING

Sought in connection with the fatal attack upon Charles B. Johnston, 49, Tabor street, who died in the Ohio Valley Hospital yesterday, John Fagan, of 414 Tabor street, was still at liberty this morning, although a search has been extended for him throughout the city and to Cleveland, O.

Johnston, who was employed as a watchman for the Pruett-Schaffer Company, was beaten by Fagan Wednesday night, police say. According to police Fagan attacked Johnston because the latter had made insulting remarks to Fagan's wife.

SHOTS and PASSES

by Julius Levin

STANDING up for a principle rather than accede to the demands of outside interests, the McKeesport Cyclers, deprived of their franchise in the Allegheny County League because they steadfastly refused to break up their club to strengthen other teams in the loop, are proving to their supporters that they do not need league competition to make their season a success.

Composed entirely of last year's members of the Pittsburgh Morrys, winners of the Central Professional League championship, the McKeesport Cyclers are meeting with unusual success against some of the strongest teams operating in the east and middle west.

The Cyclers bore out the contention of close followers of the game that they rank as the second best professional quintet in the country when they defeated the Cleveland Rosenblums of the American League by 11 points at McKeesport last Wednesday night.

UNAPPRECIATED by local fans when they swept through the Central Professional League last year to win the championship with points to spare, the former Pittsburgh Morrys have contributed three star performers to the American League, the leading basketball circuit in the country.

The announcement that the Cleveland Rosenblums had signed Whitey Littell to a contract marked the third member of the former Pittsburgh Morrys to advance to the premier basketball loop. Carl (Moon) Klinzing made good with the Cleveland team last year, but refused to return this year when the Ohioans failed to give him a suitable contract. As a result he is continuing his brilliant playing as a member of the Cyclers.

Horace (Pip) Koehler was the second Morry star to get a chance in fast company and he is more than making good with the Fort Wayne Knights of Columbus.

Littell has been a conspicuous factor in local professional basketball since finishing his prep school career, his work with the Morrys and Cyclers stamping him as one of the best forwards in this section of the country.

His work against the Rosenblums in a game at McKeesport last Wednesday night enabled the Cyclers to overcome a nine-point lead in the last half to defeat the pro leaguers by an 11-point margin.

Those who have seen Littell play consistently good basketball for local quintets are firm in their contention that he will make the grade in the Carr circuit.

BASKETBALL in Duquesne and McKeesport, two of the leading sport centers in the Mon-Yough district, is enjoying a successful season this winter. Represented on the floor by such crack quintets as the Duquesne Lafayettes, Allegheny County League champions, and the McKeesport Cyclers, the fans in that vicinity are not lacking in first-class attractions.

Rivals for a long span of years, supporters of basketball in McKeesport and Duquesne are eagerly awaiting the time when the two teams clash this year. The Lafayettes, with a few exceptions, are the only club in this locality capable of giving the Cyclers a stiff argument on the floor. Composed of youngsters who grew up together and have played together for a number of years, the Lafayettes have developed a system of play that makes them well nigh unbeatable.

A series between the Lafayettes and Cyclers this year should prove a real magnet for the basketball enthusiasts in this vicinity. Duquesne fans, despite the great record being made by the Cyclers, are certain the Scarlet Hurricane can take the measure of the Tubers in a series for the independent championship.

NATIONAL LOOP OWNERS MEET

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—(INS.)—Ratification of the playing schedule for 1928, announcement of the new staff of umpires and discussion of the draft controversy with the minors were scheduled for the annual meeting of National League club owners here this afternoon.

One of the new umpires is Dolly Stark of Dartmouth College. It is rumored that one of the veteran arbiters will be replaced by a man who formerly starred in the National League as a player.

SOCCER NEWS

by TOM BIRKS

SOCCERITES in Western Pennsylvania will look with plenty of interest on the special meeting of the local football association scheduled for the Hotel Henry tonight at 8 p. m. When soccerdom put out the S. O. S. for this confab the sport was not getting anywhere worth while, and interested followers of the sport felt that nothing could be hurt if the powers that be were asked to talk over the policies of the body.

Of course there is considerable chance that nothing will come from the session, but with many interesting talkers in soccer present something worth-while for the good of the sport may be debated.

At the present time there is an outstanding plea for a little more harmony in the camps. If this is sincere, then some of that vitriolic talk will have to be eliminated and common sense prevail. If this is not forthcoming then there is not going to be any harmony. There seems to be quite a mistaken conception of the word harmony. Some people think that it means every one must agree with their own sentiments. But all of us can be wrong, and being good sports are willing to admit the fact and go along.

Up until the present time nothing has been stated along what lines the discussion will take. If some of the local officials are wise, with this Olympic trouble brewing, they will hold out the olive branch and try to go along with anything sensible in the interest of the sport. The lack of harmony put a damper on the all-star game New Year's Day. This condition should not exist now that the district is assessed a thousand berries for the Olympic fund, and seeing that the 1924 committee raised $500 we could hardly raise any less without a reflection on Western Pennsylvania.

It is reported that a return game between Ohio and Western Pennsylvania is going to be played here in the near future. If this is true it should be broadcast so that the right kind of publicity can be arranged. Presumably the game will be held on a Saturday so that an admission could be charged.

Too much publicity cannot be given the game in order to make it a paying proposition. But given the right venue and a good day there is every reason to feel that it can be put over big.

In that meeting tonight will be some of the best soccer orators in the district. Instead of trying to buck something, let us hope they spend their share of the evening trying to patch up further troubles, and everyone will leave the session feeling that the sport has gained by its calling.

Quite a number of fans in the district have the impression that cleaning house is being attempted. Nothing is further from the truth. Fans that have soccer's interest in mind know it is almost fatal to change policies at this stage of the game when the season is nearly over. The present officials know just how everything is going along. They must co-operate with those that do not know.

Second-hand information comes along to the effect that a meeting of the cup committee of the senior and junior competitions will take place Monday. We do not guarantee this news as it was not given officially. We were accused of awaiting the official sanction of giving news, but it does not always pay to wait. There is always a chance of getting left.

SPORT COMMENT

by JAMES J. LONG

the billiard authorities and Harry continues in the belief that he can take the measure of the best of them.

While Oswald did not do so well in his challenge match with Erwin Rudolph after the last tournament, his failure can in a measure be ascribed to being "off" his game, for even Rudolph told Marty Welk, who accompanied Oswald to New York for the match, that Harry plainly was not himself, being in the throes of one of those poor periods of play which occasionally afflict all cueists.

OSWALD, the first Pittsburgher to play in a national pocket billiard tournament for many years, defeated such men as Frank Taberski, Thomas Hueston and Ralph Greenleaf to finish third. Up to a couple of weeks ago when he became slightly ill, Harry had been practicing diligently, awaiting word of the tournament date and conditions, and he is said to have shown fine form.

Harry Oswald.

It is not at all unlikely that Welk also may be invited to enter. The authorities sent Marty a blank last year on the strength of his having beaten Rudolph and some other topnotchers in exhibitions.

Marty, however, has virtually given up pocket billiards, having turned to three-cushions, at which he has become highly proficient.

THOUGH the high spots of the athletic career of the late Col. Joe Thompson are generally known, it remained for Dean H. E. Friesell of the University of Pittsburgh to tell of the war hero's earliest activities in this city.

"I knew Col. Thompson since 1895," said the dean. "He first worked as a carpenter in the East End, and his earliest athletic connection was with the East Liberty Y. M. C. A. He took a liking to basketball and became one of the best players in this district.

Joe Thompson.

"Then he went in for track sports for the old Duquesne Country and Athletic Club. I was representing the Pittsburgh Athletic Club in the sprints, jumps and hurdles at the time, and in Col. Thompson's first meet he and I came together in the 100-yard dash. He gave me the hardest race I had ever experienced up to that time and it was by only a single stride that I won.

"When I next heard of Joe he was playing football for Geneva College, and working his way through school as a carpenter by doing odd jobs around the college. From Geneva he went to Pitt in 1904 and his career after that is well known.

"I attribute Col. Thompson's success to the fact that he made a thorough study of everything that he went into."

PITT'S unbeaten basketball team, with nine straight victories to its credit, is facing another hard trip and more tough tests.

Reed, Hyatt, Wrobleski and company will appear in West Point, N. Y., tomorrow night to meet the crack Army team, and after spending Sunday in New York City they will proceed to Hamilton, N. Y., to oppose the Colgate quintet on Monday night. Colgate recently beat West Point, 23 to 19, on the Army's own floor.

There are two other games on the Panthers' schedule for next week, as they are to meet Carnegie Tech on the Plaid's floor Tuesday night and Penn State in the Pitt Stadium Friday night.

MIKE McTIGUE, who twice came into possession of the world light heavyweight fistic title and was dethroned the same number of times, will make an attempt to start a climb back to the throne when he meets Leo Lomski in a 10-round bout at New York tonight.

Mike McTigue.

However, the chances are largely against success for McTigue in tonight's endeavor. Instead of marking the beginning of a new championship match by him it is likely to be the retiring point in his ring career.

Mike has passed the 35-year mark, and in his last bout he showed nothing to indicate that he will be able to escape a decisive defeat at the hands of the rough, tough Lomski.

JOHNSON LOSES ON FOUL BLOW

Garfield Johnson, Negro heavyweight, at present making his home in Pittsburgh, lost on a foul in the fourth round of a scheduled 10-round bout at McKeesport last night to Frankie Monohan of Butte, Mont.

Johnson had all the better of the fighting until the foul blow was struck. He was punching away at the Westerner savagely in the third round when he loaded up at his heels and brought one up—but low. Monohan sank to the floor and when he failed to come out for the fourth round, Referee Eddie Kennedy, who had seen the foul, awarded him the bout on a foul.

Two of the three preliminary bouts failed to go the limit. In the semi-final, Allen Beatty, Uniontown welterweight, again proved his superiority over George Peck of Pittsburgh, winning on a technical knockout when Peck's seconds tossed a towel into the ring in the seventh round.

Chuck Zelnack of Clairton punched Tommy Geyer of Pittsburgh all about the ring at the start of the opening bout, Referee Kennedy stopping the bout after two minutes of fighting.

DUKES

only by a single point, but it might just as well have been a hundred.

The Dukes led last night by a single marker late in the game, but Emerick, Geneva guard, flipped the ball into the basket with only 10 seconds to play and the game was over.

Geneva played good basketball last night in winning, for they held a 23-14 lead at one time over the Dukes.

Tonight, Pitt will entrain for its annual Eastern invasion, and will meet the Army at West Point tomorrow afternoon. Tomorrow morning early, Carnegie Tech's varsity five will pull out of Pittsburgh en route for State College, where the Skibos and Lions will tangle in the evening.

Tech, after a layoff of over two weeks' duration, faces a hard foe in State. The Tartans, weaker this year than they have been for years, have not won a game, have been defeated in all five starts and now face the prospect of trying to annex their first victory against an opponent of the caliber of Penn State. 'S'tough.

After meeting the Army tomorrow, the Panthers will rest in New York over Sunday and will then travel up to Hamilton and engage old Colgate Monday night.

Another Panther party is scheduled to leave town this evening. Chancellor Bowman, Capt. Gibby Welch, Coach Sutherland, Manager McKee, Capt.-elect Fox and Frank Williams, assistant athletic director are to go to Philadiphia, where tomorrow night they will be guests of honor at the annual Veteran Athletes' Association banquet at the Penn A. C., and will be awarded the Herbert H. Jolley trophy, emblematic of the Eastern inter-collegiate football championship for 1927.

PITT LEADERS FETED

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., Feb. 2.—The Connellsville Pitt Club last night entertained Dr. John Sutherland, grid mentor at the University of Pittsburgh, R. A. Gougler, assistant coach, and Drs. P. V. McPartland and Leslie Waddill. At the business meeting the club elected Dr. R. S. McKee president; Dr. A. R. Kidd, vice president; William E. Bisel, treasurer, and Walter Bixler, secretary.

CHILLY SAUCE

By CHILLY DOYLE

I cannot state, but the Hoosier was working along "inside" lines.

THROUGHOUT the game at Forbes Field, Vic had stopped the Giant captain by pitching on the inside corner. Aldridge figured that Hornsby could hit an outside corner pitch into the shorter right-field stands, so he governed himself accordingly.

"WHEN Rogers came up in the ninth," said Vic, "I made up my mind that if he were to hit a homer he would have to drive it over the longer side of the field. It isn't much of a trick for him to slam one into the right-field stands if the pitcher is not careful. So I decided it would be by way of the leftfield fence or none at all. And he was just good enough to clear that part of the field."

HORNSBY, perhaps, had it all figured out that Aldridge would be working on the inside corner and he was ready to give this sort of a pitch both barrels. When that ball stopped rolling out in Schenley Park, three runs had crossed the plate and the Buccos were beaten.

MINERS' RELIEF FUND BENEFITS FROM SHOW

The North Side Athletic Club staged its second amateur boxing show of the season last night at the German Masonic Club, and in addition to furnishing a good crowd with plenty of excitement, collected a purse of $16 for donation to the miners' relief fund.

In the feature bout of the evening, Dan Porfio of the Pittsburgh Lyceum defeated Bill Ortlieb in a hectic three round battle. Porfio gave Ortlieb a terrific body beating, while Ortlieb played to his opponent's head.

Sure Way to Get Rid of Dandruff

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. Then you destroy it entirely.

To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail.

THE International League's official pitching averages given out today place to the credit of Al Mamaux, former resident of Dormont and one-time star pitcher of the Pirates, a rare achievement.

Al Mamaux.

For the second year in succession Mamaux, now a member of the Newark (N. J.) club's staff, was the leading pitcher of the league in effectiveness, with an average of only 2.61 earned runs allowed per nine innings.

LEO MANGUM, also a former Buccaneer, who pitched for Buffalo and is now on the Giants' roster, led in percentage of games won, with 21 victories and only seven defeats, a mark of .750, but Mamaux, pitching in seven games more than Mangum, was a close second with 25 games won and only 10 lost, a percentage of .714.

Mamaux also pitched more complete games than any other hurler in the league, totaling 30, hurled the greatest number of innings, 318, scored the most victories, 25, and faced the largest number of batters, 1,308.

Al also led the International in 1926, not only in smallest average number of runs allowed per nine innings, 2.22, but also in percentage of games won, with 19 victories against seven defeats for a mark of .731. In two successive seasons Mamaux has pitched a total of 54 games, which is just about a record for any minor league company.

WHEN the country's 16 leading pocket billiard stars line up in the national tournament in Chicago on March 5, Harry Oswald, local star, who finished third in the last national event, is almost certain to be one of the field.

Stash Wrobleski.

While the entry blanks have not been mailed, it is a foregone conclusion that Oswald will be given the opportunity to enter, as his work during the last tourney was highly satisfactory to

BOLD MIKE MUST BEAT LOMSKI OR QUIT

By ROBERT A. HEREFORD,
Universal Service Staff Correspondent.

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—The old battle between youth and old age is on again in the Madison Square Garden ring tonight.

Mike McTigue, the Methusaleh of boxing, is cast in the role of age. If Old Michael were just half the age that his manager, James Joy Johnson, claims for him, he would need no artificial wrinkles. Mike is 35, which is elderly for a fighter, but his battle-scarred countenance and his infrequent hair add at least 10 years to his appearance.

Enter youth. He is Leo Lomski, the stout-hearted, rock-fisted young Polish-American apple knocker from Washington, who has come forward in the light-heavyweight division with the rush of a Rocky Mountain cataract. Leo is 24. He has fought 63 ring battles with only four decisions going against him. Thirty-three of his engagements he won by a knockout.

For Mike McTigue, the 10-round fight tonight is of no little moment. If the veteran's experience fails to protect him from Lomski's eager right it is the pipe, slippers and fireside for the aging Irishman.

NOTES of the BOXERS

TUG PHILLIPS and Joe Trippe battle at Erie tonight, with Young Rudy and Willie Fitzgerald boxing in another event on the same card.

Joey Katkish meets Sidney Lempe at Baltimore tonight. Phil McGraw and Stanislaus Loayza battle a third time at Detroit, their two previous meetings having resulted in draws. Johnny Vilucci meets Jackie Nichols and Davy Abad and Jackie Johnston also mix at Detroit. Sergt. Sammy Baker battles Gilbert Attel, a relative of Abe, Monte and Caesar Attel, at Hollywood, Cal. Phil (K. O.) Kaplan and Maxie Rosenbloom meet in the semi-final to the Mike McTigue-Leo Lomski bout in Madison Square Garden, New York.

The Pittsburgh Lyceum will hold its monthly smoker at the Lyceum Sunday and the first of a series of regular amateur boxing shows February 17

The Motor Square Club reports unusual interest in its Sandy Seifert-Battling Levinsky show Monday night. The fans are anxious to see the veteran Levinsky in action. Garfield Johnson and Kid Crutchfield will meet in the eight-round semi-final despite Johnson's loss on a foul to Frankie Monahan at McKeesport last night. Nick Susnell and Jack Katkish are down for the second bout and Jimmy Belmont and Johnny Powers for the opener

George Courtney, leading contender for the middleweight title, and Rene DeVos of Belgium will meet at the Arena in Philadelphia next Wednesday night.

Jimmy Goodrich and Bobby Tracey box at Buffalo in a return bout tonight. Charley Pinto and Art Wander will be the semi-finalists. Pat McCarthy of Boston and Benny Ross of Buffalo meet in a heavyweight battle in the same city Monday night.

Joe O'Malley, Columbus welterweight, boxes Cowboy Padgett in Columbus tonight.

Mickey Cochrane, catcher of the Philadelphia Athletics, is the new manager of Jimmy Fruzetti, the Bridgeport, Conn., lightweight.

The University of Illinois wrestling team, which meets West Virginia University at Morgantown tomorrow, will work out in the Downtown Y. M. C. A. this afternoon. Paul Prehn, chairman of the Illinois Athletic Commission, is coach of the Illini grapplers and is here with them.

DUKES OUT OF RACE; PITT, TECH TRAVEL

By JESS CARVER.

DUQUESNE UNIVERSITY'S basketball team, and a pretty good one at that, is just about out of the Tristate Conference championship race, and will have all it can do to hold on to second place.

Following the defeat at the hands of Westminster here Tuesday night, when the U. P.'s handed the Daviesmen a terrific lacing, Duke stock took a flop. But now that the locals have been beaten by Geneva, which they were last night by a 29 to 28 score, their chances of regaining the ground they've lost this week is practically nil.

Waynesburg remains to be played at Waynesburg and Westminster must be met at New Wilmington. The Dukes can hardly hope to win either of those contests. Westminster, with little prospect of defeat ahead of 'em, can almost be counted as "in" as far as the Conference title is concerned.

Last night's contest at Beaver Falls was disappointing to Coach Davies, who fondly believed that his team would be able to stage the Covenanters. The Dukes lost, a successful comeback and whip

N'Orleans Handicap Draws Big Throng

FAIR GROUNDS, NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 3.—(INS.)—With clear weather prevailing, racing enthusiasts early today began swarming into the picturesque fair grounds racing emporium for the year's biggest local winter race—the fourth running of the $50,000 New Orleans Handicap over the mile-and-a-sixteenth route.

The city has taken on a carnival atmosphere, and there are thousands of visitors here for the great race. No event, other than perhaps the time-honored Mardi Gras, has thrilled the inhabitants of the Southern city more than the running of the New Orleans Handicap, which in winter racing importance stands second only to the Coffroth Handicap, a yearly feature at the Mexican track in Tia Juana.

Twenty-four thoroughbreds have been nominated to start in this event. Included in this gathering of horse flesh is Justice F., a 4-year-old, owned by W. Daniel, along with 23 other racers comprising one of the finest field of horses ever assembled. Justice F. is at the peak of his form and has been placed in the favorite's position by the huge crowd. He will carry 123 pounds and be ridden by Jockey A. Pascuma.

E. B. McLean's entry of War Eagle, a son of Man o'War, with Jockey N. Huff up, and Jock, with Jockey E. Ambrose in the saddle, will be Justice F.'s chief competitors.

EMULATES BROTHER

Andy Benedict, star forward of the Duquesne Lafayettes, Allegheny County League champions, who is emulating his brother, Ganzy, now a regular with the Duquesne University varsity quintet. Andy formerly played center for the Lafayettes, but switched to forward when the management signed George Ramsay and Dober, a pair of experienced pivot stars.

ONE OF THE BEST

Joe Gubby, who has held down a position at guard for the Lafayettes since their organization, is rated by close followers of the professional sport as one of the headiest performers in the game hereabouts. An excellent floorman who knows what to do when he gets possession of the ball, Gubby is a tower of strength to the Lafayettes.

AN ACE IN THE HOLE

While Wesley Pfeiffer does not start all games for the Duquesne Lafayettes, he is a player of much ability. A former star at Homestead High School, he has contributed largely to the success of the Lafayettes in the County League. He usually comes through when necessary.

CHILLY SAUCE

BY CHILLY DOYLE

FREDDIE LINDSTROM, it seems, could not get along with Rogers Hornsby. Perhaps there are two sides to the story; also the report that Lindstrom, Burleigh Grimes, Eddie Roush and one or two others signed a petition to get Hornsby off the club may be exaggerated. In the first place, Hornsby was captain of the club and in this capacity he was within his premises in "calling down" teammates, but apparently he incurred the enmity of several of McGraw's stars.

HORNSBY, in an interview with Paul Shannon of Boston, declared he did not work well with Secretary James Tierney of the Giants. In all events, The Rajah appeared to be the central figure in a lot of agitation. The fact that he was able to finish second in batting with all his troubles speaks highly of his batting prowess, yet, on the other hand, the stormy Texan appears to do better at the plate when he is under stress.

A YOUNG ball-player who sat on the Cardinal bench at Forbes Field one afternoon relates an incident that shows Hornsby's determination. Rogers went up twice in succession and hit balls that were caught by outfielders who had their backs against the ramparts. Instead of complaining, Hornsby, as he started for the plate the third time, remarked, "Well, here's one they won't get," and he proceeded to drive the ball over the fence.

HUNDREDS of witnesses to a Hornsby homer of last season will recall some of the facts surrounding this wallop that took a victory right out of the grasp of the Pirates in the ninth inning. Victor Aldridge, who is generally a bearcat against the Giants, was one of the immediate victims.

PREVIOUS to his misfortune in the Oakland Orchard, Aldridge had measured the Giants for two defeats in one series at the Polo Grounds. Remy Kremer had just been injured and Firpo started and finished a four-game set with victories. Vic continued to exercise his mastery over the New Yorkers up to the ninth inning in the contest in discussion at Forbes Field.

TO ADD comfort to the Pirate cause, Hornsby has given a somewhat loose display of fielding around second. When the ninth inning arrived the Pirates had a three-run lead. Manager McGraw saw fit to use a pinch-hitter and North Side Johnny Cummings was thrown into the breach. Johnny didn't do a thing but crack the rocket over the left-field wall. There was nobody on base and the homer still showed the Giants to be trailing by two tallies, but the wallop shocked the Pirate supporters and the players.

ALDRIDGE fiddled around until he had two men on and Hornsby up. To digress for a minute or two, Vic had been having exceptional success against the kingpin hitter, especially in the short Polo Grounds. Whether he outsmarted our outlucked Rogers,

GERMAN'S TIME IN "1000" SLOW

By DAN PARKER,
Universal Service Staff Correspondent.

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—Dr. Otto Peltzer had his fling on an indoor track in America for the first time last night at the annual games of the Millrose A. A., in the Garden. The German physician proved easily the best of a field of 11 starters, but his time was unimpressive. He did the 1,000 yards in 2 minutes, 18 3-5 seconds, 5 1-5 seconds behind the record.

It was Peltzer's first start on a board track in America. He was given the inside position, but fell into seventh place on the first lap. On the second he moved into fifth place.

Without any apparent effort the doctor took the lead in the third lap, but Ray Dodge of the Illinois A. C. stole it back from him the next time around, only to lose it to the German on the sixth lap.

It was here that Peltzer showed the stuff that has earned him world title in three events, gliding along like a specter with an arm motion which showed a conservation of energy, he sped through the last 100 yards of the race, head up and heels flying in perfect rhythm with his arm. Dodge was bravely cheered on, but after a short struggle fell four yards to the rear, where he wound up at the finish.

The famous Millrose "600" won for the past five years in succession by Alan B. Helffrich, unable to compete this year because of illness, was won by George Leness of the New York A. C. after a spirited duel with Oliver Proudlock of the Newark A. C.

Lloyd Hahn of the Boston A. A. romped off with the Rodman Wanamaker "mile" and incidentally pulled down his seventh consecutive victory of the present season.

Jennings Is Laid To Rest

SCRANTON, Pa., Feb. 3.—(AP.)—Hughey Jennings, known to the baseball world for many years as a great leader and famed for his "ee-yah" yell and grass-chewing antics along the coaching line, was laid to rest today in St. Catherine's Cemetery at Moscow, a quaint rural village at the foot of the Pocono Mountains where the man who had lead Detroit to three pennants in a row had spent most of the last two years trying to regain his health that crumbled in 1925 while he was assistant manager of the New York Giants.

Hundreds of persons from all walks of life were among the throngs of mourners at the funeral, which moved from the Jennings home here at 9:30 o'clock this morning to St. Peter's Cathedral, where a solemn high mass of requiem was celebrated.

County and city officials, bankers, judges, lawyers, white-haired men who had seen Mr. Jennings begin his career more than 35 years ago on the sandlots here, joined with notables of the baseball world of today in paying final tribute to one who did so much to elevate the great national pastime and keep it clean and wholesome at all times.

Rev. C. A. McHugh, pastor of St. Mary's Church at Mount Pocono, where Mr. Jennings had spent practically all of his time since his breakdown in health, came down from the mountain region to celebrate the solemn high mass in the cathedral here. The Rev. J. J. Goff was deacon and the Rev. Martin King was sub-deacon.

The honorary pallbearers representing the banking fraternity, Knights of Columbus, Elks, Kiwanis Club, Equity Club, Irish-American Society, press and other organisations, were: John P. Kelly, Attorney F. J. Helregel, Dudley R. Atherton, John J. Jermyn, Ralph A. Amerman, Bart Lynch, T. Linus Huban, Kenneth Burnett, David Reedy, Michael McNalley, Matt Brown, M. J. Costello, P. F. Calpin, Frank McDonnell, M. F. Fadden, James T. Sweeney, John D. Hinton and William Grogan and H. G. Salsinger, the latter two of Detroit, Mich.

Active pallbearers were John J. Loftus, Frank McCann, Frank Foy, Dr. Martin T. O'Malley, W. J. Fitzgerald, T. A. Donahue, all of Scranton; Frank Mullin, of Philadelphia, and A. T. Walsh, of Pittston.

AMATEUR SHOW CARDED AT ELKS TONIGHT

Amateur boxers will toss a lot of gloves at each other tonight in the Elks' hall, Seventh street and Duquesne way. The occasion will be a smoker by Pittsburgh Council 491, Knights of Columbus. It is a part of the council's twenty-eighth anniversary celebration.

The Right Spirit Brings About Right Statistics

By B. C. FORBES

OAKLAND, CAL., Feb. 2.—I want to pass a word along to Owen D. Young, head of General Electric; A. P. Sloan, head of General Motors; James A. Farrell, head of U. S. Steel; Henry Ford, Julius Rosenwald, head of Sears-Roebuck; S. Z. Mitchell, head of Electric Bond and Share; Silas H. Strawn, head of Montgomery-Ward; C. M. Schwab, head of Bethlehem Steel, and other heads of gigantic companies that have branches, plants or other establishments in numbers of cities outside their headquarters.

One hears complaints while touring round the country and meeting commercial and civic bodies that in too many instances the heads of the local plants of huge national concerns do not take adequate interest in the well being and progress of the communities they are located in.

A wrong attitude, an indifferent attitude, breeds far-reaching consequences.

JUST as you and I base an opinion of a store or other organization on the treatment accorded us by some clerk or other minor employe, so a community bases its opinion of a nationwide enterprise on the conduct of its local representative or representatives.

More, The attitude of almost a whole community towards big business as a whole may be determined by the conduct of one or two local representatives of big business.

Will these and other heads of our tremendously large enterprises please impress upon each and every one of their representatives in distant cities the vital importance of becoming a real part of their community, interested in its well being, cordial towards its legitimate efforts to grow, active whenever feasible in the work of its commercial or public bodies striving towards worthy aims?

Such an attitude is not only very helpful in itself, since such men usually have genuine ability, but their example has an influence upon many of those connected with their company.

It's not quite fair for such men to be interested solely in what they can make out of their communities; they should be reasonably interested in helping to make their communities.

So, Mr. President in New York, in Chicago, will you please do the needful? It will pay you in the end.

OAKLAND and this bay section are growing at an almost unbelievable rate. Why? Because it has not only all the necessary material potentialities and possessions, but also—which is essential—that spirit of enterprise, of ambition, of determination which no obstacle can daunt. The people have pride in their community. They are supremely, keenly interested in its betterment and growth. They are willing to shoulder taxes to create, to achieve big things.

Why, the largest hotel in this city—and it is a large one—filled both its dining rooms and had to turn away more than 150 on the occasion of a luncheon given to welcome the launching of an East Bay morning newspaper, the Oakland Times, at which function I was privileged to speak.

Will eastern cities, especially those that have been experiencing rather poor times, take note of this city's go-getting spirit, stop idly complaining and get into grips with realities, determined to overcome stagnation and to bring about healthy, prosperous conditions?

A FEW facts and figures of what has been accomplished here will illustrate what can be accomplished.

Last year 135 new industries, a record number, were attracted, thanks partly to national advertising in industrial channels. And look at these gains since 1920:

	1920.	1927.	Pct. Inc.

CHICAGO BOARD

CHICAGO, Feb. 3.—Corn scored a fresh advance in price early today despite initial downturns and notwithstanding weakness of wheat. Country offerings and consignments of corn were again small and further corn export business was reported, whereas Argentine and Australian wheat shipments were heavy. Starting unchanged to ⅛c lower, corn soon rose all around to above yesterday's finish. Wheat opened ⅛ to ⅜c off and held near to the initial range. Oats were firmer. Provisions declined.

At noon corn was unchanged to ¼c higher and wheat ¼@½c down.

Corn market leaders pointed out today that although this is the time for the peak of the winter movement of United States corn, Europe this season is short of corn until the new Argentine crop arrives. It was also asserted that the official report of domestic production of corn is a decided over-estimate and that commercial demand is the best since the war, with the movement from farmers hands now decreasing rapidly in Illinois, the state which has provided a large share of recent arrivals here.

A forecast of unsettled weather in the plains states, as well as big shipments of wheat from the southern hemisphere, counted as a weight today on wheat prices. However, many traders showed a disposition to purchase on declines, being influenced by unsatisfactory reports of the domestic crop outlook. According to some advices, an unusual amount of early sown winter wheat in Illinois has been killed.

FINANCIAL NEWS AND VIEWS

Brokers' Loans Increase.

Loans to brokers by New York Federal Reserve member banks totaled $3,815,520,000 on February 1, as against $3,788,385,000 on January 26, an increase of $27,135,000, the Federal Reserve Board announced.

Seminole Output Lower.

The Seminole area for the 24 hours ended at 7 a. m. Thursday, produced 221,175 barrels of oil from 1,056 wells against the revised figure of 223,429 barrels on Wednesday.

Glass Situation Improves.

The American Glass Review tomorrow will say: "A decided improvement in the demand for plate glass has developed within the last 10 days. Automobile manufacturers are now buying in larger volume and orders from mirror makers are likewise being received in goodly numbers for this season of the year. In the window glass field the situation is not so encouraging, although there were evidences of a revival of business during the week. The volume of inquiries continues large and specifications are being received in increasing numbers."

P. R. R. Traffic Steady.

Freight loadings of the Pennsylvania Railroad System in the week ending January 28, totaled 137,411 cars against 137,645 the previous week.

American Hide and Leather.

In contrast to net loss of $110,754 in 1926, American Hide and Leather reports net profit of $143,264 for 1927, equal to $1.43 a share on the 7 per cent preferred stock. Net loss of $61,159 was shown for the final quarter of the year, against net profit of $116,006, or $1.16 a share on the preferred in the third quarter. The outlook for the first quarter this year, a statement said, was not promising and it was not expected the company would show any profit.

Independent Oil and Gas.

Independent Oil and Gas Company, including owned companies, has issued a detailed preliminary report for year ended December 31, 1927, showing net income of $2,313,431 after depreciation, depletion, federal taxes, etc., equivalent to $4.62 a share earned on 500,000 shares of no par stock. This compares with $2,975,614 or $5.95 a share in 1926.

Cold Finished Bars Advanced.

The Union Drawn Steel Company has advanced cold-finished steel bars $2 a ton, bringing the price to 2.10 cents base Pittsburgh or Chicago, and 2.15c base Cleveland. Other makers are following the advance.

The price of wire rods has been advanced $2 a ton, to $44, according to reports in the trade this morning.

January Failures.

R. G. Dun & Co. reports 2,643 commercial failures in the United States in January involving $47,634,411 of liabilities, comparing with 2,465 and $51,290,732, respectively, in January, 1927. Bradstreet's reports 2,114 failures in January with liabilities of $54,052,589, compared with 2,227 defaults in January, 1927, involving $74,270,124.

Coast Refiners Cut Sugar.

Refined granulated sugar was reduced 10 cents per 100 pounds by San Francisco refiners today, placing the cane base at $5.70. The new price is the lowest reached since September 13, 1926. Beet sugar is quoted at $5.40 per hundredweight. Eastern refiners reduced to 5.70 cents a pound earlier in the week.

Dome Output Above 1927.

January output of Dome Mines was valued at $350,665 against $400,127 in December and $327,459 in January 1, 1927.

Atlantic's Dividends.

Atlantic Refining strengthened up moderately this morning in response to statements of President Van Dyke that he knows of no reason why he usual $1 dividend should not be ordered when the directors meet next Tuesday. The stock opened at 98½ today, but moved up quickly to 100 on the strength of Mr. Van Dyke's remarks. The oils as a group, however, were weak with some of the Standard issues showing new low prices for the movement. Atlantic reported a net loss of $144,419 for nine months ended September 30, 1927, against net profit of $5,644,736, or $10.82 a share on 500,000 common shares, in the 1926 corresponding period. In the third quarter of 1927, however, company reported profit of $1,300,000, or $1.36 a common share, which materially cut down the loss of $1,477,419 shown for the first six months of last year.

Oil Outlook Uncertain.

While oil men have been hoping for some improvement in the trade situation, the latest statistics suggest that turn for the better is still some months away. Crude and refined oil stocks at the end of 1927 totaled 584,000,000 barrels, a new high record, and a gain of 44,000,000 over the aggregate at the close of 1926. However, some encouragement is furnished by consumption statistics. In December the country used 23,700,000 barrels of gasoline, against 21,400,000 in December, 1926. Production schedules of the leading automobile manufacturers suggest that rapid expansion of consumption will take place with the arrival of good motor weather. But the production outlook continues uncertain. Hence, interests sponsoring representative oil shares are contenting themselves with supporting their favorites on a scale down.

Pittsburgh Coal Production.

Pittsburgh Coal Company reports January production in 18 former union mines in this district which are now on an open shop basis of 709,548 tons compared with 607,948 tons in December. High record for open shop production was 724,036 tons in October. Demand for coal was greater in January than in December, but some mines still are on a part-time basis.

How the Good Ones Grow.

An investor in one share of each Standard Oil stock on January 2, 1912, for a total of $10,400, would have securities worth $82,550 on January 3, 1928, and his average annual income would be 17.61 per cent on his original investment, if he held all new stock given to him and made all subscriptions, retaining everything. This is shown in compilation by Jenks, Gwynne & Co., New York, who point out that such an investor would have received $4,314.75 in dividends in 1927, or 41.72 per cent on his original investment.

Lehigh Coal and Navigation.

The Lehigh Coal and Navigation Company reports net income of $2,922,099 after all charges for the year ended December 31. This is equal to $5.01 a share on 544,449 shares issued against $4,177,464 or $7.14 a share in 1926. Earnings for 1927 about equaled the amount of regular and extra dividends declared by the board of managers, President Warringer said.

Westinghouse Electric.

Only regular dividends will be declared by Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company at the next meeting, around February 29, the Street heard today. Reports have been current that directors were considering payment of an extra or increasing the common and preferred disbursements, both of which share equally after 7 per cent is paid on each. Dividends of $4, or 8 per cent, are paid on the two classes at present. The outlook for the electrical industry is declared to be good and manufacturers do not anticipate another cool summer such as in 1927 and which retarded the fan business, one of the principal lines.

Artloom Corporation.

Artloom Corporation's net income of $302,530 after depreciation and federal taxes for the year ended December 31 is equal, after preferred dividends, to $2.81 a share on 100,000 common shares against $1,257,526, or $5.57 a share in 1926. Surplus after preferred and common dividends totaled $162,530 against $54,669 last year.

Webster Hall Listed Here.

The securities committee of the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange has admitted to the list 7,500 shares of 7 per cent preferred stock (par $100) of the Webster Hall Corporation of American; 100,000 shares of class A stock of $10 par value, and 100,000 shares of no-par common stock. The company owns and operates Webster Hall here and controls the Webster Hall in Detroit. A new hotel, the Mayflower, will be erected here this spring.

New Member Admitted.

William P. McJunkin, a member of the newly organized brokerage firm of McJunkin, Patton & Co., has been elected to membership of the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange.

South West Penn Pipe.

Report of South West Pennsylvania Pipe Lines for year ended December 31, 1927, shows profit of $367,254 after depreciation, etc., equivalent to $10.35 a share earned on 35,000 shares of stock. This compares with $249,262, or $7.12 a share, in 1926.

Construction Contracts Up.

Heavy construction contracts let in the United States in January were valued at $137,314,000 compared with $131,749,000 in January, 1927, Engineering News-Record reports. New England contracts were $17,340,000; Middle Atlantic, $72,504,000; South, $19,677,000; Middle West, $46,260,000; West of Mississippi, $21,521,000, and Far West, $16,432,000. Construction costs advanced 0.4 per cent in the month on a slight increase in structural shapes here.

Lumber Industry Improves.

A gradual speeding up in the lumber industry is indicated in telegraphic reports from 464 mills to the National Lumber Manufacturers Association. As a whole, the industry is far ahead of last year in all departments. The reported production and new business last week was only slightly less, but shipments showed an increase of 17,000,000 feet. Unfilled orders for 217 Southern pine and West Coast mills amounted to 497,251,242 feet, against 497,154,914 feet the previous week.

Lorillard Earned $1.25 on Common.

P. Lorillard Company reports net income of $2,439,156 after depreciation, bond interest and federal tax for the year ended December 31, equal, after preferred dividends, to $1.25 a share on 1,559,742 common shares issued, against $4,117,194 in 1926.

Caterpillar Tractors Reduced.

The Caterpillar Tractor Company announces price reductions of from 5 to 11 per cent on machines made at the San Leandro and Peoria plants. The cuts range from $400 on the largest tractors to $175 on the 2-ton machines.

American Sugar.

American Sugar directors meet next Wednesday and are expected to declare the regular common and preferred dividends. Earnings in 1927 were disappointing, but sugar men anticipate favorable results from the recently-formed sugar institute.

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—(AP.)—Easing tendencies appeared in the Bond Market today as a result of the unexpected increases yesterday in the federal reserve rediscount rate. There was no general rush to sell, however, and prompt oversubscription of the $20,000,000 Argentine 5s indicated confidence in the fundamental soundness of the market.

United States Government issues began to sag early in the session. Treasury 3⅜s, offered in rather large volume, fell back more than a quarter-point. Popular issues, such as General Motors acceptance 6s, Rock Island 4½s, Erie 5s and Frisco 6s declined fractionally, and Seaboard 4s dropped about a point.

Public utility liens, which have been advancing steadily for a few days, showed considerable resistance to selling pressure, and in a few instances recorded slight gains. Convertible issues generally inclined to heaviness.

Trading in the foreign group was in moderate volume, and the general trend was fractionally higher. French issues again were among the leaders.

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—(AP.)—Transactions in the most active bonds on the New York Stock Exchange today were as follows, (000 omitted in sales column (United States bonds in dollars and thirty-seconds of dollars):

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—The cotton market opened firm today at an advance of 23 to 30 points on active covering, foreign buying, believed to be for trade account, and some commission house demand, which evidently was inspired by unexpectedly firm Liverpool cables. Prices sold up to 17.45c for May and 17.29c for October, or about 25 to 35 points above yesterday's close during the first few minutes but the rally attracted realizing and there were reactions of 10 or 15 points.

Private cables attributed the advance in Liverpool to trade calling, covering and rebuying and said there was an absence of selling pressure.

The reaction from the opening advance carried the market off from 17.26c for May and 17.13c for October, or about 12 to 18 points from the best. The volume of business tapered off on the decline, however, and the market held fairly steady on continued covering, while buying was also reported for continental account. Reports that spot cotton was offered less freely in some parts of the South contribute to the steadiness of the market. Prices at midday were about 18 to 24 points net higher.

SUGAR MARKET.

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—(AP.)—The raw sugar market was unchanged early today at 4.24c with no sales reported.

Raw sugar futures again were unsettled under continued tired long liquidation and selling by houses with Cuban connections, prices at midday showing net losses of 1 to 2 points. Cables from Europe were rather disappointing, and conditions in the refined sugar market were none too reassuring, although there appeared to be enough covering and new outside buying to absorb the early selling, and to give the market a steadier tone. Private cables from Havana said European buyers were again showing interest in Cuban sugars at 2.38 to 2.40c f.o.b. Cuba, or slightly above prices prevailing here. A prominent European authority reduced his beet sugar crop estimate to 8,034,000 tons, against his previous estimate of 8,103,000 tons and the world's crops at 26,221,000 against his previous estimate of 26,261,000 and the last year's outturn of 24,712,000 tons.

There was not much activity in the refined sugar market and prices were unchanged at 5.70c for fine granulated. Beet sugars were being offered in increasing volume in outside districts in competition with cane sugars.

LOCAL MARKET IRREGULAR

Stocks followed an irregular course on the Pittsburgh exchange today, reflecting to some extent the early uncertainty in New York, which resulted from the raise in the Federal Reserve discount rate. In the latter market first prices were lower followed by a strong recovery.

Moderate pressure on Carnegie Metals in the local market forced that issue down to the lowest price on the movement, the decline following a reaction yesterday in which the price broke back from 24½ to 23½. No news accompanied the selling, but traders were inclined to attribute the weakness to absence of demand rather than any new developments bearing on the company's properties.

On the other hand, Lone Star Gas displayed a distinctly strong tone, especially in view of the lowering tendency exhibited in the oil and gas group in the New York market. Lone Star has been unusually quiet for several weeks and the price range has held approximately to 1 point or so, but it is said some of the shrewd traders have been picking up the stock during the lull.

Miscellaneous issues were quiet and narrow. A few of them slipped down fractionally as a result of the selling in New York, but there was no conspicuous selling here and the general tone was firm during the afternoon session.

PRODUCE MARKET

Trading at the local wholesale produce market for all lines of fruit and vegetables was fairly active today. No change was made in the prices of vegetables. The fruit market was fairly active. Apples and pineapples were higher, while cranberries were lower.

The movement on poultry was slow and the market was easy. In the face of supplies poultry was liberal. No change was made in the quotations.

The butter, egg and cheese markets were firm. No change was made in the quotations.

Carlot supplies were moderate, a total of 457 cars being on track. Arrivals included 4 cars of apples, 3 cabbage, 2 carrots, 5 cauliflower, 6 celery, 3 grapefruit, 18 lettuce, 1 onions, 11 oranges, 1 pears, 3 spinach, 1 peas, 2 turnips, 6 potatoes, 2 sweet potatoes and 2 tomatoes.

GAINS REPLACE LOSSES IN STOCKS

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—(AP.)—Stock prices broke sharply at the opening of today's stock market on selling inspired by the unexpected increase in the New York Federal Reserve Bank rediscount rate, and then rallied in sensational fashion. Early losses of 1 to 6 points were materially reduced, or wiped out, and in many cases supplemented by gains, some of which ran to nearly 9 points. Trading was unusually heavy at the opening, but turned bull on the rally.

Early selling was based on the belief that the Federal Reserve Bank's action was intended as an official warning against the further expansion of speculative credit. The reaction was an orderly one, and there were no wide open breaks. Lowering of the renewal rate on call money from 4½ to 4¼ per cent, which served to dispel fears of an immediate credit stringency, started the covering movement.

Speculators for the decline hammered stocks at the opening in expectation of forcing a major reaction such as swept through the market in March, 1926. Operators for the rise contend, however, that a major bear market is only warranted when there is a general necessity to convert securities into cash, which they assert does not now exist. They therefore bought stocks freely after the initial break.

Burroughs Adding Machine, which broke 6 points to 156 at the opening, rallied to a new high record at 164½. Detroit Edison and Burroughs Adding Machine each soared nearly 9 points above yesterday's closing quotations to new peak prices. New Haven common and preferred, "Katy" preferred, Vanadium Steel, Consolidated Gas, Continental Can and Cudahy Packing sold at their best prices in five years or longer. General Motors recovered an early loss of 2 points, but United States Steel common had only recovered part of its initial decline of 1⅝ points by early afternoon. Public utilities were again heavily bought.

NEW YORK CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—(AP.)—After suffering losses extending from 1 to 10 points in the initial trading on the curb market today, many stocks became strong and moved up again to new high records. The early selling came through wire houses and professional traders who based their operations on the increase in the Federal Reserve Bank rate announced after the close Thursday. Actual holdings, however, were not disturbed to any extent and those whose have been concerned in absorption of stocks over a long period took advantage of the early pressure to add to their long lines.

American Light and Traction indicated the general market course, first dropping 10 points to 181 and then rallying to 190. Electric Bond and Share, which moves in line with American Light and Traction, dropped 3 points and quickly recovered most of its loss, and American Rolling Mills, after falling 3 points, had a sharp advance. Commonwealth Edison was strong after the opening, advancing about 3 points. Deere & Co., which dropped over 4 points at the start, recovered its loss and an early loss in Johns-Manville was later turned into a gain. Lehigh Coal and Navigation was one of the few weak features, selling ex-rights quoted at 6 per cent down to 112½, a loss of over a point.

Celanese rallied after a weak opening and Melville Shoe, which rose over 11 points yesterday, after declining 4 points, recovered all its decline. Shawinigan was a strong feature at the opening, advancing 10 points, but had this gain cut in half before midday. Ford Motor of Canada was quiet with trading at 525. The chain store group moved within a narrow range and showed little net change for the day.

Oil stocks were irregular. Vacuum started with a loss of nearly 2 points, which was more than regained before midday. Standard Oil of Indiana dropped a half and then moved back again.

Newmount Mining also rallied after dropping 3 points in the early trading.

CARGO RATES IN HANDS OF I. C. C.

By International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—The lake cargo coal case again is in the hands of the Interstate Commerce Commission for decision.

The commission today started an intensive study of a mass of testimony involving the proposal of railroads serving southern mines shipping coal to Lake Erie ports for trans-shipment to the Northwest to reduce the freight rate 20 cents per ton. Final arguments were heard yesterday. A decision is not expected for weeks.

Representatives of railroads serving Pennsylvania and Ohio fields, in addition to opposing the proposed southern reduction have asked the commission to restore the situation as it was prior to August 10, 1927, by increasing rates from Pennsylvania and Ohio fields, which were reduced by the commission on that date by 20 cents per ton, as the southern reduction represents an effort of the southern roads to meet the reduction ordered by the commission.

The plight of Ohio miners was brought to the commission's attention when A. M. Calland, counsel for the Ohio Public Utilities Commission, said that the Ohio coal industry "is flat on its back." He asked of the commission "all the relief which it can give to the Ohio miners, who are now on a public charity basis, and also to the citizens of Ohio, who have lost $30,000,000 of miners' wages."

IN MEMORIAM

IN loving memory of my dear husband, Wm. F. Crawford, who died one year ago today, February 3, 1927.

More and more each day we miss him.
Friends may think the wound is healed;
But they little know the sorrow lies
Within our heart concealed.

Sadly missed by his wife, daughter and those who loved him.

Also, for the purpose of voting in favor of or against the adoption and approval of a plan for the exchange of shares of said Common Stock and Participating Preferred Stock, 8% Cumulative, Series A, each having a nominal or par value of One Hundred Dollars ($100.00) a share, being Two Hundred Fifty Thousand (250,000) shares of Common Stock of an aggregate par value of Twenty-five Million Dollars ($25,000,000), and Two Hundred Fifty Thousand (250,000) shares of Participating Preferred Stock, 8% Cumulative, Series A, of an aggregate par value of Twenty-five Million Dollars ($25,000,000), for Two Million (2,000,000) shares of Common Stock without nominal or par value; that is to say, for each share of Common Stock of a par value of One Hundred Dollars ($100) and for each share of Participating Preferred Stock, 8% Cumulative, Series A, having a par value of One Hundred Dollars ($100), there shall be issued four shares of Common Stock without nominal or par value; and upon the surrender by the holders thereof of the certificates for the Common Stock and Participating Preferred Stock with nominal or par value, there shall be issued for each share a certificate or certificates for four shares of the said Common Stock without nominal or par value;
Also, for the purpose of voting for or against an increase in the authorized common capital stock of the Company from Two Million (2,000,000) shares without nominal or par value to Four Million (4,000,000) shares without nominal or par value;
Also, for the purpose of voting for or against the creation, out of the One Hundred and Fifty Million Dollars ($150,000,000) par value First Preferred Stock authorized at the meeting of stockholders of Duquesne Light Company held June 4, 1923, of Fifty Million Dollars ($50,000,000) par value of 5% Cumulative First Preferred Stock having the following general characteristics: It shall have a par value of One Hundred Dollars ($100) per share; it shall be entitled to cumulative dividends at the rate of five per cent (5%) per annum and no more and shall be preferred as to dividends over every class of stock other than First Preferred Stock; dividends shall be payable as and if declared, quarterly, on the fifteenth days of January, April, July and October in each year for the three months' period ending on the last day of the preceding month to holders of record at dates to be fixed at the time of each declaration by the Board of Directors; it shall be redeemable as a whole or in part at any time upon thirty (30) days' notice at One Hundred and Ten Dollars ($110) per share and accrued dividends; in the event of any voluntary distribution by the Company of capital assets among stockholders (except in dissolution or liquidation) it shall be entitled to receive One Hundred and Two Dollars ($102) per share and accrued dividends and no more for which it shall have preference over all other classes of stock, except First Preferred Stock; in case of involuntary distribution by the Company of capital assets among stockholders and in dissolution or liquidation it shall be entitled to One Hundred Dollars ($100) per share and accrued dividends and no more for which it shall have preference over all other classes of stock, except First Preferred Stock; while any of the 5% Cumulative First Preferred Stock shall be outstanding, no stock shall be created superior to it, and no stock shall be created ranking equally with it except First Preferred Stock, which may be issued in series of varying characteristics, including dividend rate, redemption price and preference as to assets, ranking equally with the 5% Cumulative First Preferred Stock; no First Preferred Stock whether 5% Cumulative First Preferred Stock or First Preferred Stock of any other series may be issued unless net income, (as defined in the resolutions to be submitted for adoption at the aforesaid meeting), for twelve (12) consecutive months ended not more than ninety (90) days prior to the date on which it is proposed to issue the additional stock, has been equal to at least three (3) times the annual requirement for the payment of dividends on all First Preferred Stock then outstanding, including the amount to be issued; except as required by the laws of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, 5% Cumulative First Preferred Stock shall have no voting power on any question unless and only so long as dividends aggregating five per cent. (5%) shall have accrued and be unpaid upon it, in which case the holder of each share thereof shall be entitled to one vote; the holders of said stock shall not be entitled to subscribe for capital stock or for securities convertible into capital stock of Duquesne Light Company;
Also, for the purpose of voting for or against the removal of all provisions and restrictions relating to First Preferred Stock, 7% Cumulative, Series A, upon the redemption on March 15, 1928, of the Thirty Million Dollars ($30,000,000) par value thereof now outstanding;
Also, for the purpose of voting upon the fixing of the "stated capital" of Duquesne Light Company upon the redemption of Thirty Million Dollars ($30,000,000) par value, First Preferred Stock, 7% Cumulative, Series A, the issuance of Twenty Million Dollars ($20,000,000) par value, 5% Cumulative First Preferred Stock and the change or conversion of Two Hundred and Fifty Thousand (250,000) shares of the par value of One Hundred Dollars ($100) each, of Participating Preferred Stock, 8% Cumulative, Series A, and Two Hundred and Fifty Thousand (250,000) shares of Common Stock of the par value of One Hundred Dollars ($100) each, into Two Million (2,000,000) shares of Common Stock without nominal or par value, all of which shall be accomplished on or after March 15, 1928;
Also, for the purpose of voting on any question or questions which may be brought before said meeting germane to the foregoing.
Stockholders of record at the close of business January 9, 1928, will be entitled to vote at the meeting.

THIS WAGGISH WORLD

by Roy K. Moulton

MR. DILL PRESENTS A NEW PICKLE.

SENATOR C. C. DILL of Spokane, Wash., out in the great open spaces where men are men and the Anglo-Saxophone race has a chance, has come forward with a resolution which will win him the congratulations of a grateful Republic, in spite of the old adage that Republics are ever unappreciative.

THE Senator, who is a Democrat and has never tried to deny it, is the proud parent of a new bill providing that all proceedings of the United States Senate be broadcast by radio and microphone and sending apparatus installed on every senator's desk in the capitol.

It must be taken for granted that the senators will use their own loud speakers.

The new mess of pickles stirred up by Senator Dill will require a bit of analysis by government experts for benzoate of soda and other preservatives but, as a whole, it looks like a pretty good thing. There is one sure thing about it. The proceedings of the United States Senate will not spoil very many radio programmes as now promulgated. Nothing could do that.

More regulation of the air will be needed, to say nothing of the torrid ozone waves and natural gas. There will be numerous new problems in broadcasting. If anybody, Republican or Democrat, attempts to grab Senator Heflin's wave length, there will be trouble.

THE radio station V.OOF which will doubtless broadcast the senatorial programme every day from 11 a. m. to 5 p. m. continuously will probably announce the following features.

Artistic broncho busting by Wild Will Borah of Boise, Idaho. Boise will be Boise.

An address on hog culture in the Chuck Wallow Valley by Senator Bulger.

"Why a New Postoffice at Pottsville is the Nation's Greatest Need," by Senator Heffelfinger.

THE Senate radio programme will in time become the country's greatest rest cure and a grand treatment for all nervous disorders. Socialists who want their patients to forget everything in the world and let their minds wander in Elysian fields will have them listen in every day to the Senate proceedings. It will be a programme on which nothing startling will ever happen.

Men who have wrecked themselves leading busy lives and need a litle wool-gathering and day-dreaming will wallow in a Senate programme. Not a cough in a carload. It will be a great retreat for those who wish to have their time occupied yet not to be forced to think of anything. The Senate programme will probably be advertised as a complete rest for the brain and the reasoning faculties.

Even at a musical show a tired business man finds something to occupy his mind. The Senate programme offers perfect peace.

THERE is another side to it. It might make money for the government with its all-star cast. Some private concern like a soap company or a toothpaste or automobile tire company might back it and promote it provided, of course, there could be a jazz orchestra concealed behind a group of palms to furnish incidental music.

"Stand for just one moment," says the announcer. "Senator Hokum will now make his annual address on 'Campaign Issues of Our Day, Including a New Coast Guard Station at Tucson, Ariz.'

"Incidental music by Prof. Alex Hambone's Axle Grease Orchestra: 'Please Go 'Way and Let Me Sleep.' "

ON "KEEPING ILLUSIONS"

FACTS are uninteresting things
As a RULE, especially if They are PERSONAL, That's why
Many people have ILLUSIONS,
Illusions are funny IDEAS
That NICE people have about
Each other, and also about THEMSELVES. The first may FADE with Time, but the Last are PERENNIAL,
All WOMEN, of course, have Illusions about MEN and, even
In these days, SOME try to HANG onto them,
NICE MEN also have illusions
About WOMEN, and they do their BEST to keep them, but Actually, a man who has LOST
Some of them makes a More TOLERABLE husband (or Is it tolerant?) than one who Has KEPT all his ILLUSIONS
Intact and insists that his WIFE live up to them,
Of course, the IDEA that
Any woman could be a man's
IDEAL for twenty-four hours
A day is the biggest DELUSION
Of All. Every woman must Have her OFF moments,
But some seem to take a
DAY off at a time,

BUGS BAER Says

NEW YORK stage steps forward with a play that lasts six hours. It starts when the sun goes down and mumbles along until the owls blink sideways in the dawn.

There are nine acts in this repertoire of endurance.

It is called the "Strange Interlude." When we saw the audience dashing out between the fourth and fifth acts for something to eat we realized that the strange interlude was for dinner.

ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER.

It looks as if the author intended to keep the actors on the stage until the juvenile grew a beard.

Many years ago we saw "Ten Nights in a Barroom" and realize now that the management cheated us.

We should have got a rain check for the other nine nights.

The "Strange Interlude" has only to go three performances before it breaks the record of Abie's Irish Rose on Broadway.

O'Neill should have changed the name of his show to "Breakfast, Dinner and Supper."

The Tuesday night performance and the Wednesday matinee are all one show.

This is probably the only theater in the world which has a check room for winter overcoats and summer underwear.

You wear one in, and the other out.

The greatest line in the show is in the eighth act. The villain says to the heroine, "Have a chair."

The audience cheers.

So does the heroine.

This is the first dramatic criticism ever written by the Bug. The only improvement on the "Strange Interlude" that we can suggest is that O'Neill put his company in Madison Square Garden.

And give 'em bicycles.

Governor Fisher Seeks Remedy for Mine Strike

It is comforting to be told, as Gov. Fisher said to a Sun-Telegraph reporter in Harrisburg, that the State Executive is anxious to find a solution for the soft coal strike situation. This is the first really public intimation that there was any concern about this grave matter in Harrisburg.

It is not so reassuring to hear the charge made by Gifford Pinchot, predecessor of Gov. Fisher in office, that he had been informed the latter had sanctioned the employment of "gunmen and other bad characters" as members of the coal and iron police in the mines.

Gov. Fisher asked the Sun-Telegraph representative if he had any "concrete suggestion" to make regarding the matter. Former Gov. Pinchot says that a government probe should be started in order to get at the facts of the case. Furthermore, he stated that, if the power of the state government is being used against the miners, a process not within the proper functions of government is being resorted to.

Anyway, citizens will be glad to learn that Gov. Fisher has been constantly in touch with the situation in the coal fields and that the official records show that less than 30 coal and iron police sum up the increase over the number normally employed in peace time.

It is cheering to find out that the state health officers have been watching over the health of those living in the shack colonies.

And it is really gratifying to be apprised that the Governor would like to have some constructive suggestion.

Here are two:

He might seek consent of operators and miners to an "armistice," as Fannie Hurst suggested.

He might join in the request for a Federal probe.

Coolidge-Mellon Financing Enables Us to Be Safe

The national budget is a singular tribute to the management of the nation's finances by President Coolidge and Secretary Mellon.

The President recommends a tax reduction of $225,000,000. At the same time he is able to include in the budget a provision for the expenditure of $700,000,000 for naval construction and $350,000,000 for public buildings, including $100,000,000 for Army housing, all to be completed over a short period of years.

That is, this administration has so cut down expenditures on non-essentials that we have money to spend for essentials.

The Navy needs are no longer to be met by paper projects but by actual ships, planes and plane carriers. Congress will note that the President says his plan "contemplates the building of the ships as fast as possible." That ought to mean "as fast as they can be turned out in American shipyards."

The purpose of a Navy is to keep the nation out of war.

We should not have been forced into either of our European wars if we had had a Navy respected abroad. Our puny sea forces in 1812 encouraged Great Britain to draft our seamen into the British naval service, which put us into war with England. It was Germany's lack of respect for our Navy and Army in 1917 that made possible the unrestricted submarine warfare that drew us into the World War.

Let's have an end of this talk of not building up our Navy for fear it may be construed as a threat against Great Britain. Those two countries are not going to fight.

We maintain sea forces for the same reason England does—to protect our possessions and our foreign trade. Our possessions, here and overseas, are worth more than the whole British Empire. Our foreign trade is almost exactly the same—10,000 million dollars each. It is a poor American who does not think his own land and its interests deserve as good protection as England's.

Equally powerful American and British navies can, and will, rule the seas in the interest of peace.

Why not also complete our aviation program "as fast as possible"—as fast as the airplane plants can complete it—instead of following the slow "five-year program" now in force? Why must we wait until 1932 or 1933 to have the 1,800 Army planes and the 1,000 Navy planes of that program? Why not in 1930?

Finally, national defense plans will not be complete until all branches are united in one department under a single secretary of defense with under-secretaries for Army, Navy and Air.

Peaceable nations like Switzerland and the United States use their armed forces to keep OUT of war. The last one cost us 36,000 million dollars.

The World Is Not Round

Ask Voliva, of Zion City. He Knows.

Mr. Voliva, head of Zion City, intelligent enough to know that it is impossible to exaggerate the number of fools in the world, and therefore prosperous, is off to prove that this earth is not round.

He asks: "If it WERE round, how could ships stay on?" He may find the "brim" of the earth and come back to tell about it.

Kruger, last President of the Boer Republic, also denied that the earth is round. "If you say that, you contradict the Bible," said he.

Voliva also warns Commander Byrd that there is no South Pole for him to find. That South Pole, he says, "is the edge of the world, a circle 60,000 miles in circumference, surrounded by a wall of ice 15,000 feet high." Even that would be worth seeing, on a planet having a circumference of 25,000 miles on the Equator.

The Hearst Papers Advocate:

1. An agreement of English-speaking peoples to preserve peace among themselves and to promote the peace of the world.
2. Proportional representation in the United States Senate, no state to have less than two Senators. Legislation to enforce prompt constitutional reapportionment in the House of Representatives.
3. A separate Department of the Army, of the Navy and of the Air Forces, all united under a Secretary of National Defense.
4. Federal action to the limit of Federal powers to abolish illiteracy in the United States under a Secretary of Education.
5. Election of Congress in November. Installation on the 1st of January following. Inauguration of the President 1st of January next after November election.

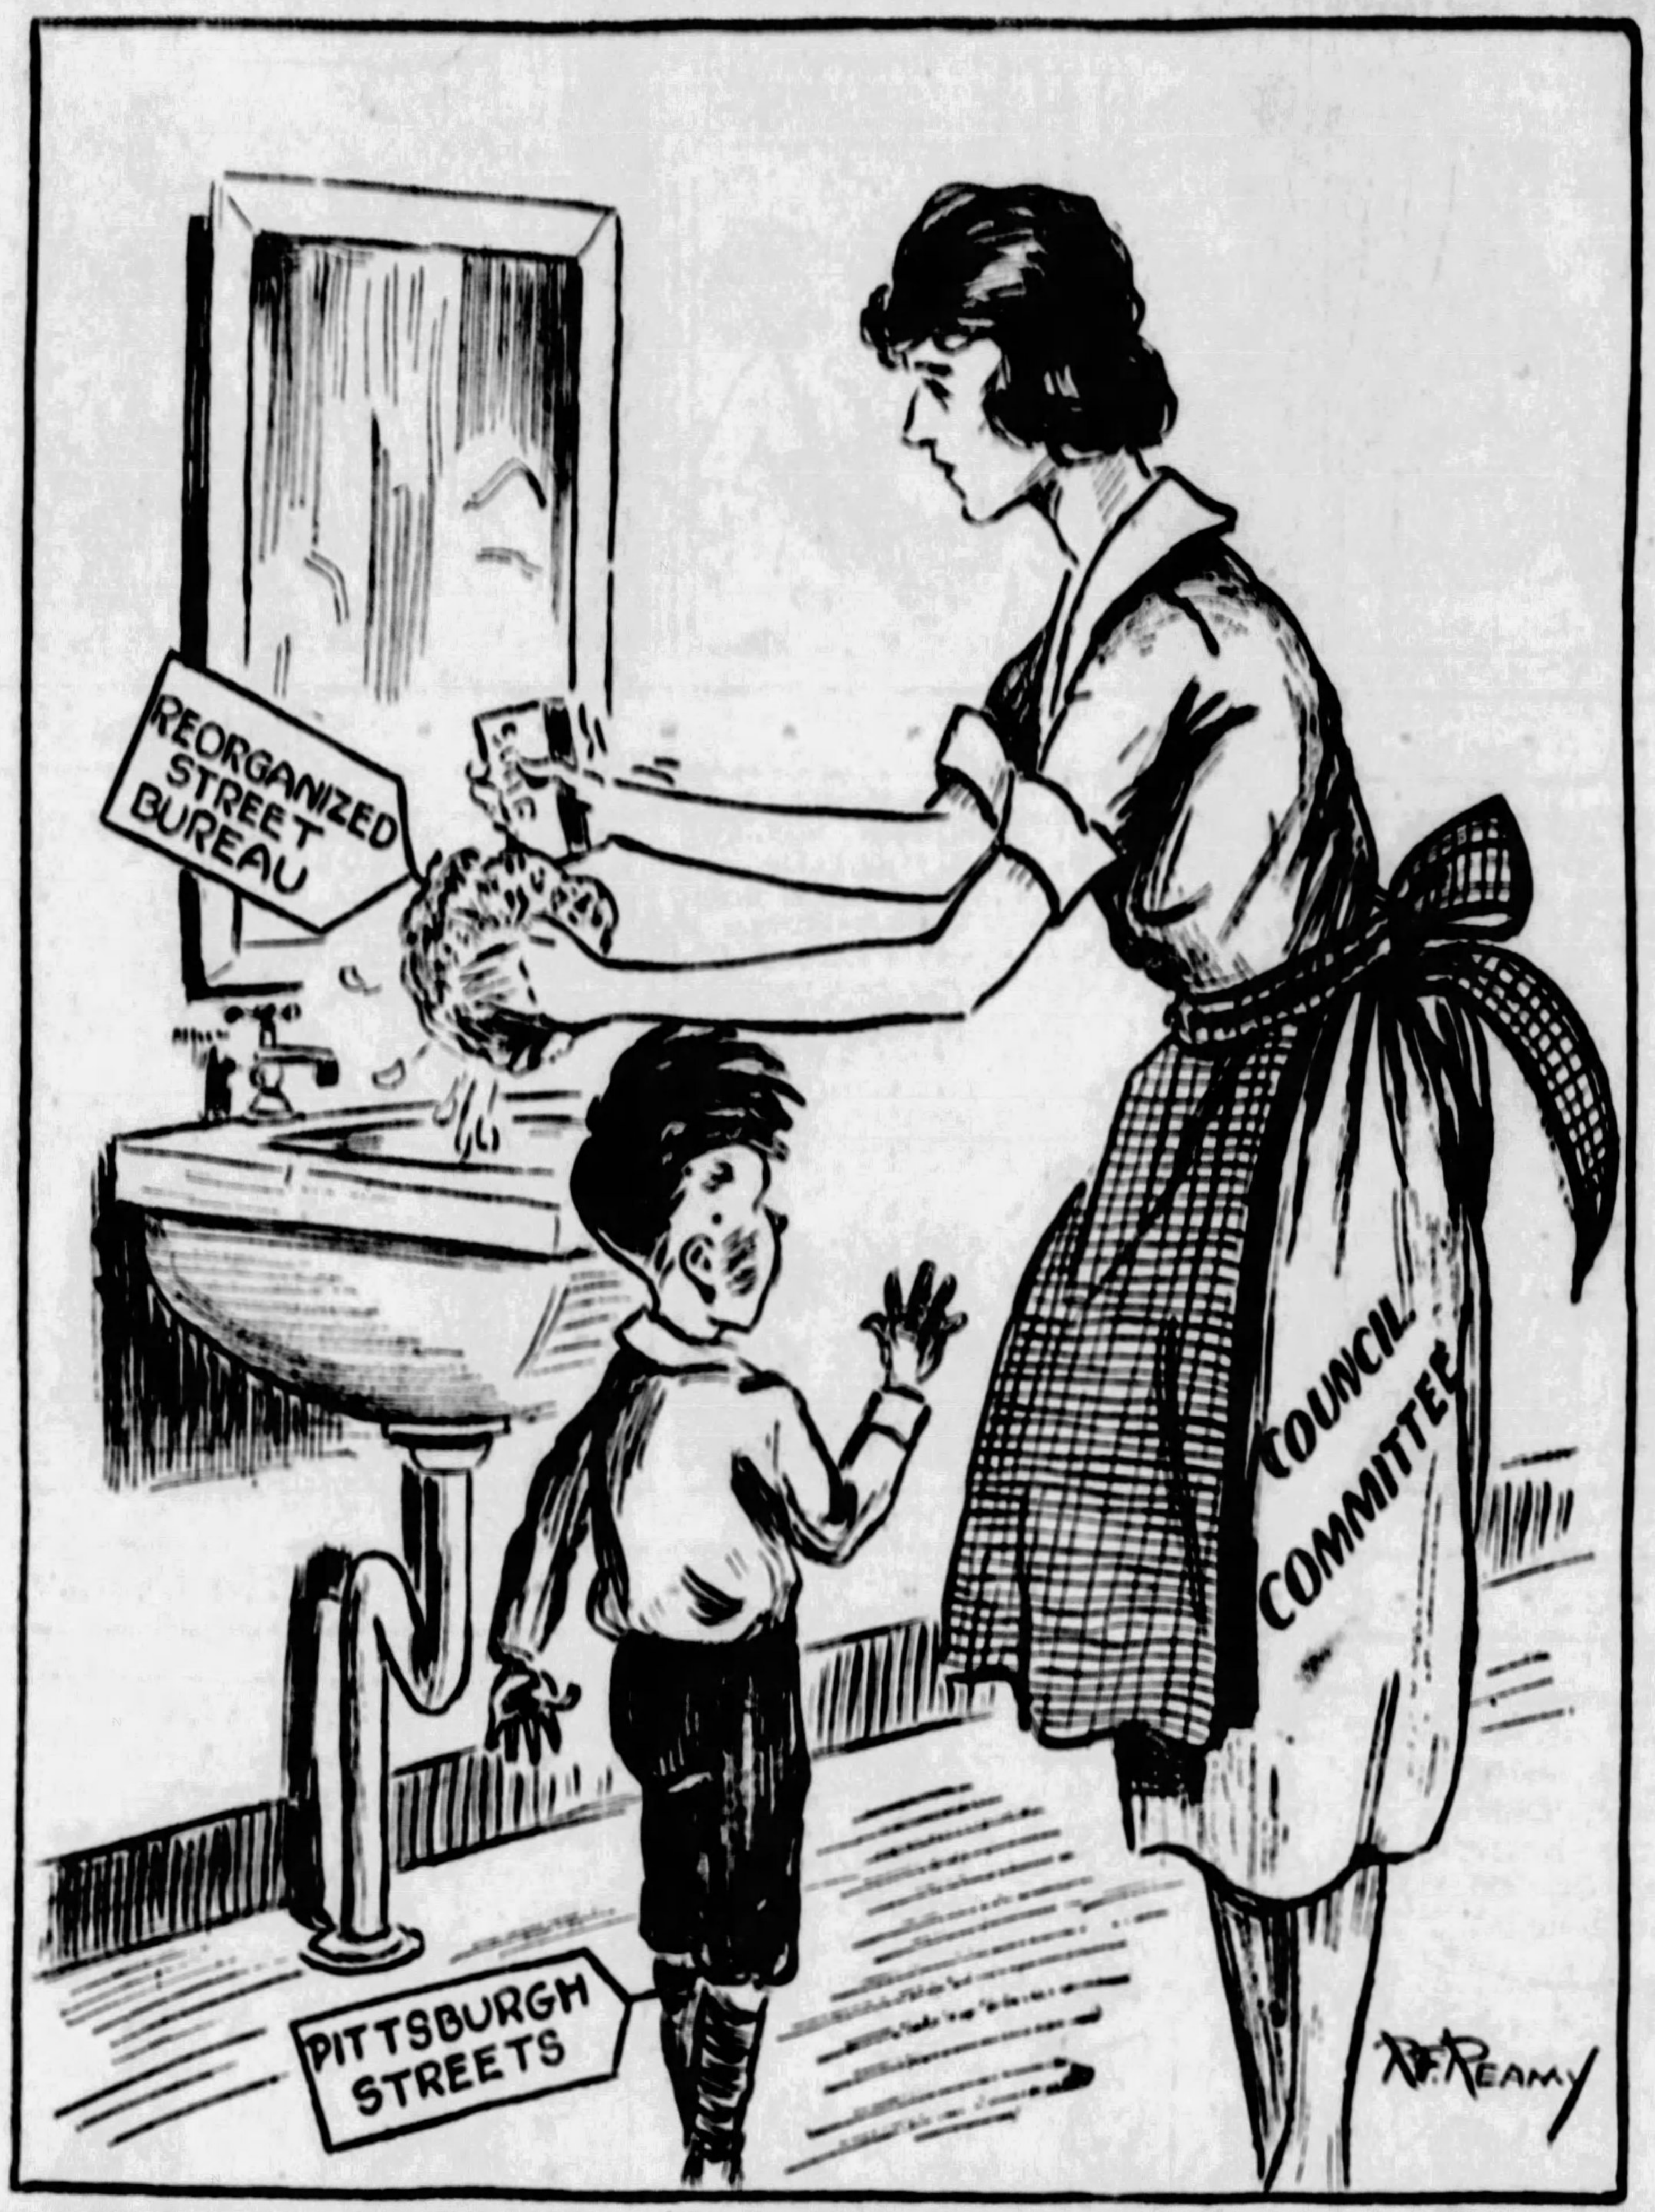
ONLY ONE WAY TO CLEAN UP



Garrett P. Serviss Says:

Unveiling Other Worlds

THE wonderful new art of "television" is challenged to show us what is happening on the other planets, whose brotherly presence in the solar system makes the earth seem less lonely while circling around its camp-fire, the sun. That challenge may be successfully accepted provided that two or three preliminary conditions can be arranged. The most important, perhaps, is that there shall be sending apparatus in operation on the other planets to transmit to us electric waves charged with undeveloped pictures of people and things there, which we can transmute into visible form upon their arrival. This is a difficulty of the same kind as that which would confront an effort of any sort to communicate with another planet—there must be some one there ready to receive and understand the signals; and send replies back.

But now look at it this way: If we could get our congressional speeches and our concert music through to Mars, the Martians might dance very merrily to the music falling from the sky, though they could make nothing out of the speeches. The tough problem at the transmitting end on the earth would be to cause the electric waves to change into sound waves on their arrival at Mars, by some natural means without requiring anything of the Martians except to listen.

This could be hoped for if ever our resourceful inventors should be able to dispense with receiving apparatus here on the earth, so that the music or the speech once launched electrically upon the ether would translate itself into sound simply on coming into contact with certain natural substances, like crystals say, or merely with the "organ of Corti," in the ear. Then, with transmission across outer space once assured, the Martians might, when we opened our concert of interplanetary good-will, be thrilled with divine harmonies mysteriously arising all around them, until they cried out, like Ferdinand in "The Tempest": "Where should this music be? I' th' air or th' earth?"

Now, to pursue our dream a little further, it might be easier to make electric waves sent from the earth reform themselves into pictures on Mars than to cause similar waves to turn into sound there. Thus, suppose that an electric-wave portrait of President Coolidge could be so sent through the ether that on passing into the Martian atmosphere it became spontaneously a visible picture drawn in the vapors of the air high over the Martians' heads, and smiling down to them a greeting of fellowship from that big planet that they so often see outshining the brightest stars in their evening and morning skies. That would be better than any words or sounds for an introduction.

A few years ago a high authority in radio matters expressed doubt as to whether certain inexplicable sounds heard in receivers might not be signals from Mars or Venus. But if there are people on either of those planets who can transmit ordinary radio signals as far away as the earth, they ought to match our discovery that pictures can be sent the same way. That would complete the circuit of interchange of intelligence between the earth and its brother and sister planets. Then we could show them ourselves, our doings, and our surroundings, and they could reciprocate with similar knowledge about themselves. Then greater than the movie theaters would become the public spectrodomes, where the inhabitants of each planet would view the daily life on all the other planets that space-conquering radio had linked up with it. The worlds would be schools to one another. All would be combined into the University of the Solar System, with a special research college on each planet. One may think about these astonishing things without being drawn as far away from common sense as some of the speculations thrown upon Einstein's shoulders would lead.

Keep Your Ideals

AT times do you doubt your power to live up to the ideals you have set for yourself?

You wonder if it is possible for you to continue to follow the honorable pathway you have been pursuing.

You know that to deviate from the course you have adopted would rob you of the respect and friendship of many of your acquaintances.

You have been tempted often and at times almost gave way.

Possibly you argued that so far you had missed something by not allowing yourself more privileges.

You see others indulging, you are tired of your own rigid discipline.

So far they seem to stand as well in the community as you do.

Have you ever thought that perhaps more is expected of you than of them?

How would your peace of mind fare if you gave in?

Don't lower your standards for fleeting pleasures.

None falls without carrying others along.

The Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELIS

Winter Doubts

SOMETIMES a doubt creeps in and stings
With cruel thrust:
"See, where June's smile lured bloom and wings
Now all is dust.

"Joy passes as the summer dies
And in its stead
Leaves only barren memories
Of bright hours fled."

Sometimes a doubt creeps in to bring
A dismal train;
But leafless branches whisper: "Spring
Comes soon again.

"With patience, shivering, we wait,
Through chill and gloom,
To hear brave robin greet his mate
With April's bloom."

Ye Towne Gossip

by K. C. B.

DEAR K. B. C.: Some time ago I read: "Doctor Durant, student of philosophy, says a man past 30 is incapable of love." Also Arthur Brisbane somewhat supported the doctor's diagnosis by a choice "hot shot" at the men—tell me, whatever did the men do to Arthur, anyway? Now K. C. B. my missus begins to look at me with doubt and apprehension and I'm worried. She always praises your conclusions, so won't you please tell her that the doctor and Arthur must not be taken seriously. R.B.C.

MY DEAR R. B. C.

YOU TELL your wife.

IF SHE'S satisfied.

WITH THE man she has.

WHAT DOES she care.

WHAT WILL DURANT says.

OR ARTHUR BRISBANE.

AND WHAT DOES it matter.

IF WHATEVER it is.

SHE THOUGHT was love.

IS JUST A desire.

TO HAVE her near.

AND MAKE her happy.

AND PROVIDE FOR her.

SO THAT HER husband.

MAY HIMSELF be happy.

AND I think, Bob.

THAT IF Will Durant.

OR ARTHUR Brisbane.

REALLY DID say.

WHAT YOU say they did.

THAT WHAT they meant.

WAS THAT after thirty.

THAT UNREASONING thing.

THAT YOUTH calls love.

AND THAT asks no questions.

AND ASKS no answers.

AND COUNTS no costs.

AND DOESN'T care.

WHAT THE future brings.

SO LONG as the fire.

HOLDS OUT to burn.

THAT AFTER thirty.

AS I said before.

THIS THING called Love.

IF IT ever was love.

AND NOT just fancy.

IS SOMETHING that looks.

WITH SEEING eyes.

AND COUNTS the days.

AND THE years to come.

AND ASKS itself.

IF FOR itself.

AND THE one it seeks.

IT CAN provide.

THE THINGS essential.

TO A HAPPY life.

OF COMPANIONSHIP.

AND ANYWAY, Bob.

IF THEY didn't mean that.

THEN I don't know.

WHAT THEY'RE talking about.

AND IF I were your wife.

I WOULDN'T worry.

ABOUT THE things.

THESE PHILOSOPHERS write.

I'D JUST concentrate.

ON YOU and myself.

AND OUR happiness.

I THANK you.

Radio Board Needed

THE Federal Radio Commission will cease to function on March 15 unless the Congress meanwhile extends its life. The opinion among radio fans seems favorable to giving it a longer trial.

No doubt the Department of Commerce could do its work. But during the experimental period of regulating this new facility there is some advantage in having a separate commission in charge. It better commands the public eye.

As so often happens, the public did not lock the stable door of broadcasting until many wild steeds had escaped. Could the regulatory power start from scratch, it would undoubtedly drastically limit the number of stations on the air.

New York Day by Day

by O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—Thoughts while strolling: A police station—smelling of the usual lysol. Leon Friedman's pink shirt. Sightseeing buses to Holland Tunnel. Vapid young mustache strokers. The gaudy new Hammerstein theater—a monument to the great Oscar.

Billy de Beck in town from Florida. A cut rate beauty parlor. An auction room selling real estate—like a boom town in Nevada. Sigmund Romberg, the composer. Wonder who'll be the next mayor? A clairvoyant featured in a movie lobby. Whatever became of the dollar banquet? Charlie Winninger.

Those heavy crystal beads. Fred and Adele Astaire leaving a theatrical photograph shop. Lunch stand hospitality: "Cream your own coffee." The famous pint-sized Two Gun Murphy of the Narcotic Squad. Northern Spy apples. Side-of-the-mouth talkers—a prison habit.

The Tenth avenue second-hand clothes market. Workhouse brogans—25 cents. Battered derbies for a dime. Cotton sox on strings. Greasy lumber camp shirts. Defeated men who whittle with big Barlow knives. The outcasts who sit along the curbs.

Lodging houses with a charnel smell and baths 10 cents extra. Dice game runners. Offices of cockroach and bedbug experts. Blood remedies—and "Sunken Noses Lifted." The blobs of gas light in dingy pool halls. Corner rowdies.

Women in wrappers screaming at children. Flaming grocery price banners. Pork and sausage shops. Hand laundries. Weekly payment dentists. Two dollar hat shops. An old darkey chants a hallelujah song. Automobile pawn shops and tipsy sailors swinging by in pairs.

Walk-up-one-flight tailors with dazzling signs. Goulash and spaetzel. Vincent Lopez standing in front of his night club. Horse blanket overcoats and gray derbies. Those straight-lipped girls who walk to Columbus Circle and back again—hoping.

New York chauffeurs have one inflexible custom. That is to beat the other fellow to the punch. No matter who is responsible in a collision, the trick is to rush screaming from the driver's seat and blame the other fellow. The one yelling the loudest seems to win the argument. One this morning offered his playmate who "brushed" him the quaint suggestion: "Count yourself, big boy, you are only one."

Despite its antiquity, there are many photographers who make a good living calling up newly arrived visitors to New York to take their photographs. The racket is that the photographs are wanted "for the newspapers and magazines" and no obligations are involved. The psychology is profitable, for very few who see proofs brought around to them fail to order a dozen or so, and if they do not, the expense is trifling. If newspapers or magazines want pictures they ask directly or send their own photographers.

One of the brightest and newest theaters was completely finished and thrown open for the premiere. It was a lovely structure but at the last moment it was discovered there were no wash stands in the star dressing room. I should loved to have been there when the star discovered it.

No place has the haunting melancholy of a deserted stage at night. Several years ago the owner of a theater took a nap in his little rest room back stage, and awakened to find himself locked in. He could not get to a telephone or arouse anyone, and in the morning he was found semi-conscious from fright.

* * *

The Bowery had its share of jobless men this winter—more so, it is reported, than last. It is an ancient trick there for men suffering from excessive hunger to chew old cigar stubs until the nausea makes food repulsive.

* * *

Reporters are supposed to have a glamorous job. Yet today I commiserated with one who had spent six days pulling door bells to inquire the whereabouts of a man of no particular importance. There are many days when newspapermen feel an urge to jump into the cloak and suit business and see life.

Another Preacher of Work

By DR. FRANK CRANE

GEORGES CLEMENCEAU, known as the "Tiger" of France, now 85 years old, steps forward as another preacher of the gospel of work.

It has always been our belief that work is about the best cure for most ills that human flesh is heir to. It regulates not only the physical system, as most diseases are cured by forgetting them and thinking of something else, but it is a wonderful balance wheel to the moral character, as the most moral element of any community is that which is at work steadily. And the most moral as well as the healthiest physically is that which gets up when the alarm clock goes off and not that which lies abed until some time in the afternoon.

Getting up and going to work is a marvelous health preserver.

Clemenceau says: "The chief factor in the acquisition and retention of health and happiness is work, I am sure.

"Most of us judge other men and ourselves only according to abstract formulas which each school of thought mechanically sorts out for children. Words! Words! Words! Where you find the most words you find the least action, just as where there's more beauty there's the least brains.

"The question at the Gates of Heaven will obviously be: 'What have you done?' and not, 'What did you promise?' Health and contentment come hand in hand like twin sisters.

"My work has always been likewise a diversion, and so varied that if I grew tired I could refresh myself by working at another branch of it."

This is an echo of the old gospel of work as preached by Carlyle.

There is nothing like doing something which the world is willing to pay for to put us into sound condition.

When God created the garden of Eden it is said that he put man in it to train it and tend it.

The world was not given to us complete, so that none of us could make a living by doing nothing.

It is, as you may say, full of raw material, and it is our business to bring it to complete shape. In so doing we find our greatest help.

Right Angles

By ALEXANDER CAIRNS

Bride and Brood

THERE'S a gray-haired youngster living down the street who still speaks of his "bride and brood" although the stork dropped him on this planet in the year of the Chicago fire; and his nuptials were celebrated before the cry "Remember the Maine" stirred the nation to war paint and tomahawk; and the youngest of his posterity is now a studious recluse at Old Nassau.

And that "bride and brood" comprehend the man's universe. All the beckoning sirens of modern multiform life cannot entice him from the moorings of his home. And yet his interests are many and varied and far extended. It is only that everything turns into the Appian Way of his mind and heart whose terminus is his family.

Perhaps Bobby Burns sent this man into the world to demonstrate his nugget of domestic philosophy:

"To make a happy fireside clime
To weans and wife,
That's the whole pathos and sublime
Of human life."

About a dozen years ago a political pirate came out of the West who was Machiavellian to the last ballot and the last boodle. Seldom since Patrick Henry thundered and Jefferson wrote has this nation been more shamelessly traduced in high places, nor her honor bartered in more shameful shambles.

And yet I have always almost unconsciously retained a furtive respect for one corner of the life of that political Judas Iscariot. He was a dream ideal in his relationship to his "weans and wife." Just as Lincoln, when he was elected President, hurried away to tell his "Mary," so this man hastened with the telegram in his hand to tell his bride and brood that he had been chosen to represent a great state in the United States Senate. A friend of mine saw that home-run and told me.

Charity then would suggest that the heart of the man's mind skipped a beat. For the stolen honor could only bring head-hanging shame to his "weans and wife."

And isn't it eternally marvelous that God could play such a pure note through such an unclean flute? For Burns was a regular dues-paying member of the Lothario Club whose roster bore other illustrious names like Goldsmith and Byron.

But there's the melody and any human ear can catch its infinite pathos and billowing modulation and innate inspiration.

When Reason and Emotion sit together under the evening lamp and muse audibly on the open sesame of abiding tranquillity and deep-rooted joy, they must arrive inevitably at that simple "weans and wife" text from the simple Ayshire bard.

Beauty's Worth

EXPERTS are again stirring to "save the beauty of Niagara Falls." Nothing about that great cataract could be more truly beautiful than the spread of cheap power for human benefit.
